1 (Trial resumed; jury not present)

2 THE COURT: Anything to raise before we bring the jury 3 in?

4 MS. SASSOON: Just quickly, I sent Mr. Fishman my 5 negative PCR. Perhaps for the jurors, before I begin my 6 summation, if the Court could let them know I followed protocol
7 and had a negative test.

8 THE COURT: I will let them know that. Ms. Sassoon, 9 how long do you expect your rebuttal summation to be?

10 MS. SASSOON: Roughly 30 minutes, but I haven't heard 11 the rest of the defense summation.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Let's bring the jury in.

13 (Jury present)

14 THE COURT: Be seated.

15 Good morning, members of the jury. We'll now continue 16 with the summation by the defense.

17 Ms. Lenox.

18 MS. LENOX: Yesterday we ended off talking about the 19 people who the government considers conspirators in this case.
20 We're going to shift gears this morning and talk to you about 21 some of the people that the government claims are victims.

22 The witnesses in this case, they weren't vulnerable
23 individuals. They were well-educated adults, with supportive 24 parents, who graduated from elite, private high schools, before 25 moving away to begin college.

M451RAY1

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Claudia testified she grew up in Pasadena, California.
2 She owned a horse. She attended private high school.

3 Santos Rosario attended Horace Mann, a prestigious 4 private school in New York City.

5 And Felicia Rosario graduated from Harvard University
6 and Columbia Medical School.

7 When they met Larry, with the exception of Felicia, 8 who was 29 years old and a medical resident at the time, they 9 were attending prestigious universities; they were 10 well-resourced people, with agency. Claudia, Yalitza, Santos, 11 Isabella, Dan, they were creative individuals who expressed 12 interest in conversation about life's big questions. They 13 weren't children. They were high-achieving, educated, 14 intelligent adults.

15 The government wants you to view its case through the 16 lens of Dawn Hughes. They paid Dr. Hughes close to $10,000 to 17 feed you their theory of the case. But her testimony was a bit 18 too weak. Dawn Hughes talked about isolation. She said 19 isolation is very important. It's a way of creating two 20 things—dependence and eliminating outside forces. Larry didn't 21 isolate people. He didn't force anyone to come to his 22 apartment, and he didn't force anyone to stay. People came and 23 left fluidly over the course of years. Larry's apartment 24 became a crash pad for college students attending school 25 nearby.

M451RAY1

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Let's talk about Claudia Drury. During the summer of 2 2011, Claudia's parents lived in New York City. They lived
3 seven blocks away from Larry. She could have lived with them.
4 She chose not to. And after that summer, Claudia traveled 5 abroad. She studied abroad at Oxford for her entire junior 6 year. Larry encouraged Claudia to go. And when Claudia told 7 him that she wanted to spend her six weeks' spring break at 8 Oxford, he encouraged that too. He never went to visit her.
9 He never suggest that she return to New York to see him. She 10 was living on her own. She was in another country, in a dorm, 11 making friends, rowing on the crew team.

12 And when Claudia returned from her study abroad, when 13 she was hospitalized in the fall of 2012, Larry encouraged her 14 to move home to live with her dad. And at the hospital, 15 Claudia was provided resources—resources for support 16 independent of Larry.

17 In the summer of 2013, after Claudia spent some time
18 in Pinehurst, she left Pinehurst and spent the rest of her 19 summer in New York, with her parents. Larry wasn't there. And 20 after her hospitalization in 2014, Claudia moved in with her 21 mother. She was attending courses at Columbia University where 22 she had an entire network of support—new faculty, new students, 23 friends, resources. Larry didn't discourage any of that.

24 When Claudia's mother moved out of state, Claudia 25 could have gone with her. She didn't. She chose to remain in

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 New York, even though she couldn't afford rent. But she didn't 2 live with Larry; she lived on her own.

3 Dan Levin also wasn't isolated. Now we heard very 4 little testimony about Dan throughout trial, but here's what we 5 know: Dan spent time in Larry's apartment in the summer of 6 2011; Dan spent his junior year studying abroad in England, 7 like Claudia; and there is no evidence that Dan was involved in 8 Larry's life or the lives of any of the others after 2012.
9 Safe to assume that around that time Dan lost contact with 10 Larry and the others. But despite having drifted away from 11 Larry more than a decade ago, you heard evidence that Dan Levin 12 published a book about his time with Larry, ten years later, 13 right in time for Larry's trial.

14 The Rosario siblings, they also weren't isolated.
15 While Santos was dating Talia, Larry spent time at the 16 Rosarios' home. He shared meals with their parents. And Larry 17 did the same when he started dating Felicia and she moved back 18 to New York in 2012. After her mother picked her up from the 19 airport and she moved in with her family, Larry would go there 20 and spend time with them. And when Felicia moved into Larry's 21 apartment, they welcomed Maritza, her mother, into their home.

22 Santos told you that during the time that he knew 23 Larry, he never actually lived with Larry. He would spend time 24 at Larry's apartment, he would sleep there some nights, but 25 primarily Santos lived with his parents, or at Sarah Lawrence

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 College.

2 And in 2012, Santos traveled abroad. He went to the 3 Dominican Republic to visit his family with his father. Larry 4 didn't intervene. And when Santos finally decided to spend 5 time away from Larry, Larry didn't go after him. He didn't 6 chase him down and insist that Santos return. Santos spent 7 four entire years not speaking to Larry. He secured a job; he 8 lived on his own in his own apartment; he formed a new group of 9 friends.

10 Yalitza Rosario similarly drifted into Larry's life
11 during the period that she knew him. After Santos introduced 12 Yalitza to Larry, Yalitza spent time in Larry's apartment with 13 her brother and his friends. And she told you she enjoyed her 14 time there.

15 In the fall of 2013, when Felicia and Larry were in 16 Pinehurst, Felicia was unwell. She told you that herself. And 17 you've seen evidence and videos that she was unwell. And Larry 18 was concerned. So he reached out to Yalitza, her sister, and 19 told her that Felicia could benefit from her support. This 20 wasn't the work of a man trying to break up a family. It's the 21 effort of an individual trying to provide support for a person
22 that he loved. And Yalitza went to Pinehurst to support her 23 sister. Now the government argues that going to support 24 Felicia was a manipulative act on Larry's part, that when he 25 asked Felicia's sister to come and spend time with her, he was

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 manipulating her and he was preventing her from beginning a job
2 she had not yet started at a bakery. But they also argue that 3 Larry was the cause of sibling rivalry, that Larry forced the 4 Rosario siblings against each other. Anything Larry does, the 5 government interprets as manipulative.

6 Yalitza said she couldn't leave Pinehurst, but her 7 actions belie her words. Yalitza did leave Pinehurst. She 8 traveled back to New York on her own. And she planned it ahead 9 of time. She called her mom, she asked her mom for money, she 10 bought a train ticket, and she took the train to New York. Her 11 mom picked her up there. And the following year, when Yalitza 12 was hospitalized, her mother was at her bedside every day.

13 For the years that both Yalitza and Santos were not in 14 contact with Larry, they also were not in contact with their 15 parents. Santos and Yalitza could have connected with their 16 parents. They chose not to.

17 Larry didn't psychologically isolate the Rosario 18 siblings either. He didn't plant the notion that Maritza and 19 Santos Sr. were bad people. That came from the Rosario 20 siblings themselves. When they first met Larry, each of the 21 Rosario siblings told him about the anger that they held toward 22 their parents. Santos Sr. had affairs. He had children with 23 women who were not his wife. Santos Jr. didn't know about his 24 half-siblings until they moved into his home when he was in 25 high school. Santos didn't interact much with his children

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 when they were growing up. Their parents were largely absent
2 from their childhoods. Yalitza testified that when she was 3 younger, her father drove drunk while she was in the car. And 4 at one time Santos believed that his mother only paid attention
5 to him when he was sick. He felt angry and unsupported.

6 And when Santos was in high school, before he met 7 Larry, the family turmoil led him to try to take his life.

8 Shortly after that, in 2008, Felicia was also 9 hospitalized for suicidal thoughts, also in connection with her 10 family. And in 2008, she wrote about this in her journal. She 11 said, "I'm really tired of it all. I'm angry at my parents for 12 not taking more emotional responsibility. I have enough to 13 deal with. I'm liking a fucking single parent. But I am so 14 used to that that I can't extricate myself from the situation 15 easily."

16 She also wrote, "I still feel bad for my family. But 17 there is only so much I can do when I feel totally drained and 18 lifeless after being with them. They make me so sad."

19 This was in 2008, before any of the Rosario siblings
20 had met Larry.

21 And Yalitza testified that around the time that she 22 met Larry, her relationship with her parents was strained. She 23 said they were having trouble communicating. And in 2010, 24 before she met Larry, Yalitza took medical leave from college 25 to process her mental health struggles. In 2010, she

M451RAY1

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 journaled, before she met Larry.

2 The siblings' mental health histories make clear that 3 Larry was not the cause of their mental health struggles. The 4 Rosario siblings shared with Larry their thoughts and feelings
5 about their parents. Larry listened to them, reassured them, 6 and provided them a space to emote. Larry echoed the siblings'
7 thoughts about their parents. He didn't create them.

8 Throughout the years multiple people drifted away from 9 Larry—Daniel Levin, Santos Rosario, Yalitza Rosario, Claudia
10 Drury. Larry didn't go after any of them.

11 In 2015, when Santos drifted away from Larry, by that 12 point Santos had sent Larry photographs of his journal entries, 13 photographs of confessions he had written, and he had given 14 Larry some of his journals. Larry didn't post any of this 15 damaging information anywhere, as the government claims he 16 threatened to do.

17 The same is true of Yalitza, who stopped speaking with 18 Larry in 2016.

19 And when Santos reconnected with Larry in 2019, it was 20 on his own. Larry hadn't reached out to Santos. Larry 21 wasn't -- it wasn't at Larry's urging or suggestion. Santos 22 independently reached out.

23 Some of the witnesses that you heard from testified 24 about how Larry exposed them to sex, encouraged them to be more 25 uninhibited, to explore sexual fantasies. The government wants

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 you to believe that this is sexual grooming. It is not. Dawn
2 Hughes testified about sexual grooming. She said grooming 3 means coercing a child into sexual activity and maintaining the 4 secrecy of the abuse. All of the witnesses were adults when 5 they met Larry. Not a single one was a child. They attended 6 liberal arts colleges and lived on their own before they ever 7 met Larry. And during their freshman year of college, those 8 who attended Sarah Lawrence were exposed to Sleaze Week, a 9 week-long celebration of sexuality and body positivity. Larry 10 didn't implant these ideas into their heads. He didn't force 11 anyone to have sex. He encouraged consenting adults to explore 12 their sexual identities and sexuality. It may seem strange, it 13 may appear perverse, it may be vulgar, but it's not grooming, 14 and it's not criminal.

15 Dr. Hughes is a psychologist who routinely treats, 16 assesses, and evaluates individuals. To be clear, she didn't 17 examine any of the witnesses who testified in this case. She 18 has no opinion about the relationships at issue in this case.
19 For all of Dr. Hughes's discussion, she never told you whether 20 coercive control was actually used in this case.

21 Similarly, Larry's email to Felicia with erotica
22 links, that's not sexual grooming. When Felicia Rosario met 23 Larry, she was 29 years old. She was a medical resident with a 24 full-time job, living across the country in California, 25 3,000 miles away, in her own apartment, with friends. Eight

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 months into their relationship, Larry sent her an email with 2 links to pornography. This isn't grooming. Even Dawn Hughes
3 would be hard pressed to consider sexually implicit content 4 shared between two consenting adults outside the norm. She 5 testified that people in healthy relationships can talk about 6 sex.

7 And Felicia having sex with strangers, that's not sex 8 abuse. Felicia testified that during her time with Larry, he 9 forced her to record herself having sex with strangers. But 10 Larry didn't force her to do that. How do you know that?
11 Well, the first time Larry asked Felicia to have sex with 12 strangers and record herself, Larry was living in New York, and 13 Felicia was living 3,000 miles away in California. The notion 14 that Larry forced her to have sex with a stranger while she was 15 thousands of miles away is just absurd.

16 Felicia also testified that at one point Larry asked 17 her to begin escorting, that he repeatedly asked her to engage 18 in sex work. But Felicia was adamant on this. She refused.
19 Never once did she agree to accept money in exchange for sex.
20 She held firm. And eventually Larry stopped asking. There is 21 no reason to believe that Felicia couldn't have exercised the 22 same agency by refusing to record herself having sex with 23 strangers. Sitting in court testifying, Felicia may have felt 24 regret over what she did, she may be embarrassed by the videos, 25 but at the time that she agreed to record them, she was over 30

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 years old, in a relationship, competing with Isabella for 2 Larry's love and attention. In hindsight, it's easy to blame 3 Larry, but at the time, she had agency. She chose to engage in 4 sex work. Excuse me. She chose not to engage in sex work.
5 But she chose to have sex with strangers. This isn't a crime.
6 It's not sex abuse, and it's not forced labor.

7 I want to spend some time talking to you about some of 8 the more disturbing evidence that you saw and heard throughout 9 this trial. Some of the testimony about Larry's violence could 10 be characterized as roughhousing, or method therapy, trying to 11 make people tougher, like teaching Claudia how to use bigger 12 people, a bigger person's body against themselves in a fight, 13 or using a rubber spatula, putting a rubber spatula to Iban's 14 neck and pretending it was a sharp instrument. Some of it was 15 showing off, like putting Santos in chokeholds. But some of it 16 was real.

17 As you're all now very well aware, Larry recorded 18 everything—the good, the bad, and the very, very ugly. He 19 recorded himself berating people and committing acts of 20 violence. This isn't something that you'd do if you believed 21 you were committing criminal acts. You wouldn't keep records 22 of your own severe violent behavior. But Larry did. And 23 because of that, you saw Larry restraining Felicia in Pinehurst
24 when she was flailing her body and acting unwell, you saw Larry 25 hitting Dan after Dan said he had click-bombed Larry's website,

M451RAY1

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 and you heard Larry striking Santos after Santos said he had 2 posted personal information about Larry online.

3 None of this is good. None of it is acceptable. But 4 you're not being asked to approve of Larry's behavior. But to 5 be clear, this isn't a federal crime. The violence and threats 6 that you saw and you heard were not used to get anything—not 7 money, not property. Think about the context when you saw and 8 heard these acts. They were completely divorced from requests
9 for money. Larry truly believed he was entitled to repayment 10 for damages. But he didn't resort to violence when he was 11 seeking compensation for that harm. No matter what you think 12 or feel about what you've seen or heard, the context of these 13 acts is not proof of extortion or conspiracy to commit 14 extortion beyond a reasonable doubt.

15 I want to talk for a moment about the damages list 16 that Santos made. Much has been made of these lists. As he 17 testified, Santos generated these lists entirely on his own.
18 There's no evidence that Larry forced Santos to make these 19 lists. Santos created them, he edited them, he maintained 20 them. One of the lists is in Spanish. It's clear that list 21 was intended for his dad. And Maritza's testimony confirms 22 that.

23 Larry encouraged people to write their thoughts down 24 not so he could collect them, but to encourage people to 25 express their feelings. As Felicia testified, "well, it wasn't

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 revolutionary. Larry's journaling was one of the more helpful
2 things that Larry encouraged." The government wants you to 3 believe that Larry collected all of these individuals' 4 journals, their belongings, their hard drives, as collateral.
5 But Larry's home and storage unit were merely a reflection of 6 the last ten years of his life-messy, complicated, and 7 completely disorganized. There was no method to Larry's 8 madness. It was simply madness. The journals were relics, 9 artifacts, of people's pasts, and they were stored that way, in 10 boxes and suitcases deep in a storage unit.

11 As Felicia told you, Larry's apartment became a shared 12 space. As various people passed through, whether they stayed 13 overnight or stayed for the day, or actually resided with 14 Larry, they brought their belongings, their books, their 15 clothing, their school notebooks. And over time, Larry's 16 storage unit just became an accumulation of everyone's stuff, 17 things that they had just left at the apartment over the years.
18 Felicia said those who spent time at the apartment simply 19 understood that everyone's stuff would end up in storage
20 because there just wasn't enough space in Larry's tiny, 21 cramped, one-bedroom, messy, cluttered apartment to fit 22 everything.

23 Larry didn't collect people's belongings. There's no
24 evidence that Larry forced anyone to give him their journals, 25 that he demanded to keep their schoolwork. People treated

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Larry's apartment like a dumping ground, and so did Larry.

2 In the summer of 2013, Larry, Talia, and Isabella, and 3 Felicia decided to travel to Pinehurst, North Carolina, to do
4 yard work on Larry's stepdad's property. Larry didn't trick
5 anyone into going. Everyone who went knew why they were going 6 and wanted to go. They didn't forgo lucrative summer jobs to 7 work in Pinehurst. They all understood that they would be 8 spending their time there learning to do yard work. No one was 9 forced. In the government's telling, it was just a bunch of 10 city kids in a rural area, but they weren't kids. Felicia 11 Rosario was 31 years old that summer, and everyone else was in 12 their 20s. Certainly the individuals doing work in Pinehurst
13 didn't have experience doing manual labor outdoors. As Claudia 14 testified, she had never done any yard work before Pinehurst.

15 In Pinehurst, no one paid for food and no one paid for 16 housing. Everyone had a bedroom to sleep in. Felicia told you 17 she didn't work every day. She would take long walks every day 18 for an hour or two. And they ate. The government has tried to 19 assert that the folks who were in Pinehurst only had two meals 20 a day. But Yalitza told you, this is simply untrue. As she 21 testified, they ate breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

22 There was evidence of physical force in Pinehurst.
23 We're not running away from that, and we're not excusing it.
24 But these acts are not evidence of a federal crime. There's no 25 evidence that Larry threatened to harm anyone if they didn't

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 work in Pinehurst, and there's no evidence that Larry 2 physically hurt people in order to get them to work. The acts 3 that you saw and heard about are unconnected to the actual work
4 that was performed in Pinehurst. Larry and Yalitza restrained 5 Felicia in reaction to her uncharacteristic behavior, trying to 6 stop her from hurting herself and others.

7 And the threat to turn people into law enforcement had 8 nothing to do with manual labor. Just as the threats and 9 violence with respect to the extortion charge were actually 10 unconnected to the request for money and property, so too are 11 the threats of force and violence in Pinehurst unrelated to the 12 actual physical labor. There's no indication that threats of 13 force or the use of force was used to compel people to work in 14 Pinehurst.

15 A year ago, Felicia likened her experience in 16 Pinehurst to school. She viewed the work in Pinehurst as a 17 teaching moment, and so did Larry. At one time, she told you, 18 she believed it was a learning environment. To the extent that 19 people worked hard, it was an effort to compete with one 20 another for Larry's approval. And that time seemed to be an 21 effort to prove themselves to Larry, Felicia once believed.

22 Since then, Felicia has met with the government, more 23 than 20 times, over the past 15 months. And as Felicia
24 testified, since she started working -- since she started 25 meeting with the government, her perspective on her time with

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Larry has evolved. By the time she testified, Felicia compared 2 Pinehurst to an abusive, medical residency. She said it's like 3 when an attending is really aggressive and expects you to know
4 everything and you get shamed into doing things if you do 5 things incorrectly. The conditions in Pinehurst certainly 6 sound miserable, especially with people, four people with no
7 experience in yard work. But spending days outside landscaping 8 falls far short of a violation of federal forced labor laws.
9 Claudia and Yalitza both testified that they could not leave 10 Pinehurst, and yet they did. They had access to their phones, 11 their purses, their wallets, and, in the case of those who 12 drove—Yalitza and Felicia—they had access to cars. They 13 weren't in the middle of nowhere. They were in the suburbs, 14 surrounded by golf courses, a short drive away from the nearest 15 train station.

16 Claudia told you a story about running off to a golf 17 course and sitting there and waiting for a few hours until 18 Isabella eventually came by and picked her up. She told this 19 story when she testified on the stand. She also told the story
20 to the government for the first time, after meeting with them 21 for more than two years, just days before her testimony. She 22 made this up.

23 You saw Claudia testify. She's smart and she's 24 capable. She bought her own ticket to Pinehurst, and when she 25 arrived, she waited for her friends to pick her up. And when

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 they didn't come, she started Googling for Pinehurst cabs and 2 taxis, 'cause that's a thing that exists in Pinehurst. She 3 could have purchased a train ticket back to New York, she could 4 have called a cab, and she could have left, just like Yalitza
5 did.

6 That wasn't the only lie that Claudia told about her
7 time in Pinehurst. She testified that Larry ripped Felicia's
8 clothing in Pinehurst. When asked about it on cross, she said
9 that there's no way that Felicia would have ripped up her 10 clothes. That's how she knew Larry must have done it. But 11 when Felicia was asked about ripping her clothes in Pinehurst, 12 she said that she did rip up her own clothes, because she was 13 so unwell.

14 Claudia also testified that she truly believed that 15 Gordon Ray would die of a heart attack if the work in Pinehurst 16 wasn't completed. That he would die. This is something 17 someone says flippantly, like, "I'll die if this trial doesn't 18 end soon." It's hyperbole. Certainly Claudia didn't believe 19 that a man would lose his life over bad yard work. There was 20 no conspiracy, no agreement to commit forced labor in 21 Pinehurst. Talia's mere presence in Pinehurst coupled with a 22 one-sentence email to Claudia thanking her for acknowledging 23 the damage she had done to the property, that doesn't ask for 24 or demand any money, does not satisfy proof beyond a reasonable 25 doubt that Talia agreed with anyone to commit forced labor.

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Talia spent her time inside studying and cooking meals for the 2 group. There's no allegations that Talia forced anyone to work
3 in Pinehurst and no evidence that she agreed with anyone to do 4 the same.

5 I want to take some time to talk about the articles
6 that were found on Larry's computer. The government argues
7 that these articles are proof of Larry's criminal intent.
8 They're just not. For a period of time, in addition to sitting 9 around a lecture hall and listening to seminars led by 10 professors, Talia and her friends gathered at her father's 11 home, and they talked. As Claudia testified, they spent the 12 large part of the summer in 2011 just talking about 13 philosophical concepts like honesty, choice, preferences, and 14 how do you know what a lie is.

15 And Felicia told you about the fall of 2012. It was 16 much the same. Felicia and Larry would sit around talking 17 about physics, atoms, molecules, history, philosophy. Larry 18 would share and openly discuss articles about mind control and 19 critical thinking, the very types of articles the government 20 now argues is proof of Larry's criminal intent. But the 21 articles that were found on Larry's computer, they're just 22 that, academic articles, articles that could just as easily 23 have been extracted from the hard drive of a psychology 24 professor or student or taken straight out of a college 25 syllabus. They weren't hidden from the group. They weren't

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 weaponized against individuals. They were discussed. Felicia
2 was training to be a psychiatrist. Santos, Isabella, Talia, 3 they were studying psychology as well. Larry shared these 4 articles with Felicia and the others. That they were found on 5 the computer in his home does not speak to his character and 6 does not speak to his criminal intent.

7 I want to talk to you about the alleged financial 8 crimes, beginning with the tax counts. Now buckle up, because 9 this is real boring.

10 To establish each of the tax evasion counts, the 11 government has to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Larry 12 acted wilfully. The Court is going to instruct you on the law, 13 which is clear. Not filing a tax return does not equal tax 14 evasion.

15 Yesterday you heard from Larry's lawyer, Glenn Ripa.
16 During a casual conversation in the course of his 17 representation of Larry, Larry asked whether he had to report 18 the money that he was -- that Claudia was gifting him for 19 damages for physical harm. And his lawyer told him no, that 20 money is not taxable. Relying on this advice, Larry acted in 21 good faith when he didn't report that money to the IRS. It was 22 of no consequence that Larry didn't tell Mr. Ripa all of the 23 details surrounding that money. Mr. Ripa said he didn't have 24 to report it, and Larry trusted his lawyer's advice. The 25 government now wants you to believe that in 2015, Larry asked

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 if he had to pay taxes on damages in anticipation that one day
2 he may need a defense to tax evasion. This is absurd. Larry, 3 as you've learned, is a man who creates a record of everything, 4 who records every conversation he deems important. Surely if 5 Larry had asked Glenn for tax advice in anticipation that one 6 day he may need to rely on that advice as a defense, he would 7 have recorded it. You would have heard a recording. You
8 didn't, because that's not why Larry asked. The government
9 can't prove Larry wilfully acted to evade his taxes beyond a 10 reasonable doubt.

11 The government also argues that Larry intentionally 12 devised a money-laundering scheme to avoid a paper trail.
13 We're talking about a man who created and maintained a 14 voluminous catalog of audio, video recordings, writings, 15 including the very detailed ledger kept by Isabella, which 16 includes Larry's initials. Contrary to the government's 17 argument, the fact that Larry kept so many records, insisted on 18 such meticulous accounting, kept every single receipt, 19 demonstrates that he didn't believe what he was doing was 20 illegal. And he certainly wasn't trying to hide it. If he 21 was, he wouldn't create this paper trail. But in a case like 22 this, where nearly the entirety of the government's case rests 23 on evidence recovered directly from Larry himself, that 24 argument simply fails.

25 The government also wants you to believe that Larry

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 spent lavishly and lived a life of opulence. To support this,
2 they showed you seven receipts for shockingly expensive 3 clothes, and a handful of hotel receipts, over the course of 4 ten years. While Larry certainly spent extravagantly at times, 5 he wasn't living as if he had millions of dollars. His 6 assertion that his domain portfolio was worth $34 million is 7 dead wrong. You heard Kyle Sliger from GoDaddy testify that of 8 the 8,000 domain names that Larry purchased over five years, he 9 sold only 12. 12. Safe to say Larry didn't walk away with 10 millions of dollars in GoDaddy proceeds. Indeed, no cash was 11 recovered during the search of Larry's home in Piscataway.

12 And this is where Larry lived in Manhattan. As 13 multiple witnesses testified, it was a small, cluttered mess.
14 And when he left this home, Larry moved to a three-bedroom 15 ranch home in New Jersey, where he lived at first with five 16 other people. As Felicia testified, while they were living 17 there, they tore up the carpets, revealing multiple black mold
18 spots resulting from water damage to the home. Plastic 19 sheeting concealed the floors. This is where Larry lived. As 20 Felicia testified, the bulk of the money was spent on the 21 property in Piscataway, welding equipment, computer equipment, 22 food, and then clothes.

23 And the transfers also suggest that Larry was helping 24 to support his daughter and stepfather in North Carolina.

25 The government argues that the poisoning allegations

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 are an elaborate ruse, nothing but a distraction from Larry's 2 long con. Nothing could be further from the truth. This 3 wasn't a con. Larry didn't act with an elaborate plan. And 4 Felicia testified Larry, Isabella, and Felicia herself, they 5 all felt sick. And their illness was inexplicable. They 6 visited doctors and sought medical treatment. Felicia too at 7 one point believed that she had been poisoned. In 2015, 8 Felicia suffered from an inexplicable seizure while she was 9 living in Pinehurst. Her body would inexplicably ache all over 10 and she would scream out in agony. The government told you 11 that Larry spent a lot of money on clothes, but Felicia told 12 you they all just spent money on medical bills. She said that 13 she spoke with Santos and told him that they needed money, 14 because Larry was sick and had lots of medical bills, which was 15 true, she said. Even sitting in court, two years after Larry's 16 arrest, Felicia remains uncertain about the cause of her 17 physical ailment. Even after spending 15 months talking to the 18 government, she continues to be uncertain about whether she was 19 actually poisoned. She recognizes that it may not make logical 20 sense, but the physical health problems were real. The 21 government shouldn't simply discredit that, and neither should 22 you.

23 Toward the end of 2014, Claudia Drury knew that it was 24 only a matter of time before she would be evicted from her 25 apartment in New York. She'd been living with her mother in

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Manhattan, and her mother moved out. She moved out of state
2 because she couldn't afford the rent. Claudia could have moved 3 out of state with her mother. She chose not to. She stayed in 4 New York. Her mother's name was on the lease; Claudia's
5 wasn't. Claudia was taking classes at Columbia. She had no 6 job, no source of income, and she couldn't afford the apartment
7 where she lived. She was an adult living in New York City.
8 She needed money, and she needed money fast. Larry suggested 9 escorting. And it made sense. Claudia enjoyed sex. And 10 there's nothing wrong with that, frankly. It's perfectly 11 healthy and natural. Claudia attended sex parties, she worked 12 at a sex club, she engaged in BDSM. You saw her journal. She 13 enjoyed kink. She wrote in explicit terms about her enjoyment 14 of kink. She said, "I don't know how to describe it. It's 15 amazing. Holy wow. A new piece of my sexuality realized.
16 It's really, really cool. This is a whole 'nother level." And 17 that's okay. There is absolutely nothing wrong with that.

18 The government wants you to believe that Claudia's 19 entry into sex work was the result of Larry's grooming, but 20 there's no independent evidence to corroborate Claudia's claims 21 that Larry groomed her. Santos didn't testify at all about 22 Claudia's sexual behavior before she started engaging in sex 23 work. Neither did Yalitza. And Felicia, who was living with 24 Larry from the fall of 2012 on, told you explicitly that she 25 never saw Claudia engage in sex with anyone. Claudia decided

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 to become a sex worker. And initially, after going through an 2 escorting service, she took control of her own business. She 3 took pictures of herself in the beginning and then had 4 professional photographs taken. The government showed you 5 those photographs. She drafted advertisement content. She 6 purchased advertisement space. She posted about her services
7 online. She decided which clients to see, which hotels to stay 8 in, and how much money to charge.

9 And you saw Claudia's notes on her escorting services.
10 Claudia was a shape shifter. She conceived of personas based 11 on the wants and desires of her clientele. Lauren I, Lauren 12 II, Ella. She thought about what wealthy clients would want 13 and had enough control to portray herself as the person her 14 clients desired.

15 And you saw a note that Claudia wrote in her iCloud in 16 support of sex work. She said sex work is awesome. She found 17 sex work to be life affirming in many ways. She said she loved 18 what she does and that her experience was not one of abuser and 19 victim. She testified that as she earned money escorting, she 20 began giving money to Larry, not because he forced her but 21 because she believed that she had poisoned him and she wanted 22 to pay him back for the damages that she caused. She may 23 regret that now, and she has to explain it somehow, so she says 24 she was forced. But there is no objective credible evidence to 25 support Claudia's claims. Certainly you've seen threats of

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 force and violence against others in this case, but you haven't 2 seen any evidence or heard any testimony about physical abuse
3 or threats against Claudia except from Claudia herself. You
4 heard from Randy Levinson, one of Claudia's clients on a list
5 of many. He told you that in the time that he spent with 6 Claudia, he never observed any marks on her body. He never had 7 any reason to believe that she was trafficked. He never saw 8 her with a handler. He never heard about Larry Ray.

9 Claudia claimed that Larry threatened to send her to 10 jail, detailed for her the horrors of a life in prison. She 11 claims that she was terrified of going to jail. But during the 12 course of the time that she was prostituting, Claudia was 13 arrested three times. Each time she could have gone to jail.
14 She kept working. And when she was arrested, the police asked 15 her if she was being trafficked. She said no. If Claudia was 16 truly being forced into sex work, that was her moment to get 17 out. Larry wasn't there when she was arrested. He would have 18 no way of knowing that she had communicated with the police.
19 That was her safe time. She denied it.

20 And despite her claims of being terrified of jail, in 21 her journal, documenting her fears of jail, she wrote that she 22 feared jail because she couldn't go to Columbia anymore, no
23 more academics, never joining the Marines, no more sex, no more 24 men. This is what Claudia feared losing when thinking about 25 going to jail.

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 Claudia said she didn't want to be an escort, that she 2 only did it because she felt she had no other choice. She 3 claimed she couldn't stop. She couldn't leave. But then she 4 did. In April of 2019, Claudia decided to stop escorting. And 5 she testified that she bought a train ticket, she traveled to 6 Philadelphia, and she turned off her phone. She never spoke 7 with Larry again. The only contact, she received an email from 8 Larry wishing her a happy Easter. Claudia characterized it as 9 an "absurdly weak attempt" to win her back.

10 And just like when Santos, Dan, and Yalitza decided to 11 stop spending time with Larry, when Claudia decided to end 12 contact with Larry, he never came after her. He never went 13 looking for her. Nothing actually came of the emails exchanged 14 between Larry, Isabella, and Talia in the days and weeks after 15 they lost contact with Claudia. Larry didn't call Stuart 16 Piltch. He didn't sue Claudia. He didn't turn her in to law 17 enforcement. He didn't post anything more on the website.

18 When you're deliberating about the sex trafficking
19 charge, you have to consider Claudia Drury's credibility. You 20 have to.

M45MRAY2

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 MS. LENOX: The sex trafficking charges, and 2 specifically whether Larry forced Claudia to engage in sex work
3 and whether Isabella conspired with him to do that, rises and 4 falls on your belief of Claudia Drury. This is a person who 5 for years has struggled with truth telling, who admitted to 6 embellishing stories for attention when she was younger.
7 Difficult to parse truth from fiction with Claudia.

8 Here is just a few of the stories that Claudia
9 admitted to telling. She said that once after she took Ambien
10 she pretended to faint. She once made up a story about failing 11 her driver's license test. She testified under oath in housing 12 court about Bernie Kerik's conspiracy against Larry Ray. After 13 the DiTomasso assault on Larry, when medical providers asked 14 Claudia what happened to her finger, instead of saying that 15 Frank DiTomasso bit it, she made up a story that a homeless man 16 having bitten her finger.

17 She told her therapist that she had thoughts of 18 harming others as a teenager when now actually claiming she 19 didn't have those thoughts. During the hospitalization for a 20 suicide attempt she admitted that she swallowed pills in order 21 to get her parents' attention. She crafted a months-long 22 narrative to get more money from clients. You heard this 23 Claudia and from Randy Levinson. And she lied to the 24 government for a year and a half about her relationship with 25 Stuart Piltch. This is the testimony of the person the

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 government needs you to believe in order to find beyond a 2 reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray committed sex trafficking. She 3 is not believable.

4 There was no assault in the Gregory Hotel on October 5 15, 2018. Never happened. The government presented a lot of 6 evidence to establish that Larry and Isabella were physically 7 present with Claudia at the Gregory Hotel that night. They 8 showed you historical cell site evidence, they showed you text 9 messages, a diner receipt, an audio recording, but there is 10 very little relevant evidence about the alleged assault itself.

11 For that, you must rely on the word of Claudia Drury, 12 a notorious storyteller and Felicia Rosario, who wasn't at the 13 hotel that night. This is not proof beyond a reasonable doubt.
14 There is no objective credible evidence to support the claim of 15 assault. The claim is not supported by any objective witness 16 and it defies common sense.

17 Given the extraordinary volume of documentary evidence 18 in this case, the lack of evidence corroborating the alleged 19 assault on Claudia is striking and it's notable. Claudia 20 claims that, over the course of eight years, Larry and Isabella 21 tied her to a chair, poured water on her, choked her, and 22 suffocated her.

23 She also claimed, and cell site records support, that 24 Isabella had her phone that night. Claudia also had her phone.
25 During the course of the night, while Claudia was allegedly

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 tied to a chair and tortured, as you saw during Agent Maguire's 2 testimony, three calls were made from Claudia's phone,
3 including one call to the Skylight Diner.

4 Claudia testified that she didn't eat the night of the 5 incident at the Gregory Hotel. The food ordered was not for 6 her. But let's take a look at the diner receipt. Stuffed 7 grape leaf, cheeseburger, another cheeseburger, chicken
8 fingers, mozzarella sticks, two cheesy omelets, two sliced
9 sausages, four soda pops. This isn't a meal for two people.
10 Claudia ate that night and she was the one who ordered the 11 food.

12 Claudia testified that you can hear the sounds of the 13 bags used to suffocate her, the rustling towards the end of the 14 recording from that night, that you can hear Larry say, pass 15 the bag. But they were eating. Larry wasn't asking Isabella 16 for a bag to suffocate Claudia. He was asking for a bag of 17 food. The recording that you heard from that night, it's not 18 unlike any of the other hundreds of recordings that the 19 government has put in evidence: A seeming confession, a story 20 told by a person now disclaiming the narrative, nothing more.

21 Now, Claudia also claims that Isabella that night 22 found a pair of golden seamstress scissors with a crane around 23 the handle in her purse and that Larry used these scissors to 24 cut Claudia's hair. But these scissors, which Claudia clearly 25 prized, they are not in evidence. Of all of the evidence that

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 you have in this case, you don't have those very special
2 scissors that were allegedly used to cut her hair that night.
3 Of all the photographs that you have in this case, you don't 4 have before and after photographs of Claudia's hair and how it
5 looked after Larry allegedly cut it. Nothing to show that it 6 changed.

7 Most significantly, there is no evidence that Claudia
8 suffered a serious physical injury that night. Immediately 9 after the incident, Claudia said, she just cleaned her room and 10 went to bed. She didn't seek medical attention. These aren't 11 the actions of a person who suffered a serious physical injury
12 just hours prior, because she didn't. Claudia didn't behave 13 the way you would expect of a person who had been tortured for 14 eight hours. After Larry and Isabella left, Claudia didn't 15 seek help from the people who were working at the hotel. She 16 didn't call the police. She didn't immediately tell anyone, 17 including the clients with whom she claims she had built a 18 relationship, like Randy Levinson.

19 What happened? There is no evidence that when Claudia 20 first reported the alleged assault who she told or when she 21 told them. As Claudia testified, she woke up the next day, 22 bought a new cell phone, checked into a hotel, saw clients, and 23 earned money.

24 Larry didn't have her number. Isabella didn't have 25 her number. They had no way of reaching her and no way of

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 knowing where she was. Claudia was alone with money. She 2 could have vanished. She didn't.

3 Felicia Rosario's testimony doesn't make Claudia's 4 story any more believable. In fact, as the government said in 5 its closing, the stories are almost exactly identical, and you
6 have to ask yourself why. It's a bit too neat.

7 Felicia claims that she specifically remembers Larry 8 and Isabella coming home one day in October of 2018 acting 9 gleeful, bragging about what they had allegedly done to 10 Claudia. But in the context of Felicia's testimony it doesn't 11 make sense. Because Felicia testified that in her experiences 12 with Larry and Isabella with respect to Claudia, they didn't 13 tell her anything about what happened with Claudia when they 14 interacted with her. They intentionally siloed her from 15 Claudia. They hid things from her. She said that Isabella 16 worked on her ledgers in private, in her room behind a closed 17 door, and actually said, I don't want you to see what I'm 18 doing. And yet, suddenly, after years of concealing their 19 behavior, Larry and Isabella come home and giddily bragged
20 about committing a heinous crime. It doesn't make sense.

21 Felicia had a motive to come in here and tell you that 22 story. She spent nearly a decade in a relationship with a man 23 who she referred to as her husband and who he referred to her 24 as his wife. A man who behind closed doors shared a bedroom 25 with another woman, just like her father had. She lived in the

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 shadow of Isabella and was constantly reminded of it.

2 When Felicia first moved to New York, she imagined a 3 completely different life for herself. As her sister
4 testified, Felicia wanted a fairy tale. So when you think 5 about Felicia's testimony, think about that. When you think 6 about Claudia's testimony about the incident at the Gregory
7 Hotel, consider the recording that you heard of the elaborate 8 story that Ms. Drury told to Larry in the summer of 2014. She 9 described vividly three men emerging from a white van in broad 10 daylight. She described each man in meticulous detail, 11 including their height, their weight, their racial ethnicity, 12 their facial hair, their body markings. She claimed that these 13 men pinned her against a wall and threatened her, saying they 14 were sent at the behest of Bernie Kerik.

15 (Audio played)

16 MS. LENOX: Her descriptions were vivid. They were 17 detailed. She told an extraordinary story about having been 18 victimized in broad daylight by men sent by Bernie Kerik. You 19 could hear the tears in her voice. These weren't details that 20 she embellished. This was a story that she invented. She told 21 you that. Claudia Drury's testimony about October 15, 2018 is 22 not proof beyond a reasonable doubt that Larry committed 23 assault.

24 This is a case about storytellers, but it's also a 25 federal criminal case. The prosecution must prove its case

Summation - Ms. Lenox

1 beyond a reasonable doubt. The judge will instruct you about 2 what that means. A reasonable doubt is the kind of doubt that 3 would make you hesitate in an important moment in your life.

4 At the end of the case the judge is going to spend a 5 very long time, a very long time, I promise you, reading you 6 the instructions that you have to follow when deliberating 7 about this case. Larry is charged with very, very specific 8 crimes, each of which has a number of elements. The question
9 before you is not whether or not you approve of Larry's 10 actions. You cannot convict Larry unless you find him guilty 11 beyond a reasonable doubt of each and every element of the 12 offenses charged.

13 Now, after I'm finished speaking, and I promise you 14 that will be very soon, the government is going to stand up and 15 talk to you again. They get the last word. Because it's the 16 government that has that burden of proof beyond a reasonable 17 doubt. I urge you, when you listen to the government, please 18 keep my voice, keep these arguments in mind. If you hear 19 something new in rebuttal, no, I won't be able to respond to 20 it. Ask yourself, how would the defense respond?

21 If you think that Larry Ray believed that he was 22 poisoned, believed that he was owed money for damages, you must 23 find him not guilty.

24 You heard from different witnesses in this case:
25 Santos Rosario, Felicia Rosario, Yalitza Rosario, Claudia

M45MRAY2

1 Drury. They are all storytellers. They listened to Larry's 2 stories, they listened to his belief in a vast conspiracy 3 against him, and they began telling their own stories, adopting 4 Larry's villains as their own. And as they told and shared 5 their stories, they believed the fiction they created, and 6 Larry believed. At the end of this case you must find Larry 7 Ray not guilty.

8 THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Lenox.

9 Members of the jury --

10 MS. SASSOON: Can we have a brief sidebar?

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 (Continued on next page)

1 (At sidebar)

2 MS. SASSOON: I did not want to interrupt the last 3 lines of Ms. Lenox's closing. But if I heard correctly, she 4 said that if the jury believes that the defendant was not 5 poisoned or believed he was poisoned, it has to find him not 6 guilty. That's legally incorrect. It's inconsistent with the 7 jury instructions as we have discussed them, and we believe a 8 curative instruction is appropriate.

9 THE COURT: I am prepared to give a curative
10 instruction along the lines of, you are going to hear from me 11 in a moment or two the law with respect to the charges at issue 12 and that it's that law, rather than the arguments that you have 13 heard from any counsel, that you are to apply.

14 MS. SASSOON: We think it needs to be specific to the 15 idea that we heard argument that if he believed he was poisoned
16 he is not guilty. I am going to give you the correct 17 instruction with respect to that.

18 MS. LENOX: I don't think it needs to be that 19 specific. This is argument. Your Honor, I think it's enough 20 to simply say that argument is not the law, that argument is 21 argument, that you, the Court, will give the jury the 22 instructions on the law, and they are to follow your Honor's 23 instructions. This is argument.

24 THE COURT: I am going to add a clause that's 25 including the significance of claiming Mr. Ray believed that he

M45MRAY2

1 was poisoned.

2 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, we would ask that you say 3 the significance, if any.

4 THE COURT: No. It has significance, potentially, as 5 to some of the claims.

6 MS. GLASHAUSSEER: Your Honor, the government already 7 has an opportunity to rebut our summation, which they are about 8 to take. To put a finger on the scale even before the 9 government has --

10 THE COURT: I don't think it puts a pinger.

11 MS. GLASHAUSSEER: -- by specifying a portion of our 12 summation, the government also spoke about the law, and both 13 sides are allowed to do that in the context of argument.

14 THE COURT: They stated the law correctly. Ms. Lenox
15 didn't. So I am going to give a bit of a curative instruction.

2 THE COURT: Members of the jury, you have heard 3 argument from both counsel where they have alluded to the law, 4 including, most recently, arguments from the defense regarding 5 the significance of the claim that Mr. Ray believed that he was 6 poisoned, that assertion from the defense.

7 Let me instruct you that it is the instructions that I 8 am going to give you that you are to follow with respect to the 9 law. It is not the assertions by any counsel as to what the 10 law is or how you should treat arguments about the law. I am 11 going to instruct you with respect to the law.

12 Now, the next step is the government rebuttal 13 summation. We are going to take a brief break and then we will 14 resume.

15 When you come back, you will notice that the podium
16 has been moved. Ms. Sassoon is going to deliver the rebuttal 17 summation for the government. There are protocols that we have 18 in the courthouse to ensure your safety, including taking COVID 19 tests and the like. The podium will be moved more closely to 20 you, and she may not have a mask on. I want to assure you and 21 comfort you that what she does is in conformance with all of 22 the rules within the courthouse that have been scrupulously 23 designed to make sure that they will protect everybody in this 24 courtroom.

25 It's now 10:20. We will take about a 15-minute break

M45MRAY2

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 and see you back here.

2 (Jury not present)

3 THE COURT: See you back in about 10 minutes.

4 (Recess)

5 THE COURT: Mr. Fishman, why don't we bring the jury.

6 Ms. Sassoon, what is your estimate?

7 MS. SASSOON: Thirty-five minutes, 40 minutes.

8 (Jury present).

9 THE COURT: Ms. Sassoon, you may proceed.

10 MS. SASSOON: This is not a case about storytellers
11 and this is certainly was not Alice in Wonderland. This was a 12 violent reality that destroyed lives for that man's pleasure 13 and for his organization's profit.

14 You know this is not a fantasy land. You heard from 15 five victims on that stand. You saw scores of documents 16 confirming what they told you. You heard hours of recordings.
17 Those weren't chapters from a children's bedtime storybook.
18 That was undeniable proof of federal crimes. You were chosen 19 as jurors to weigh the evidence, to trust what you have seen 20 with your eyes and heard with your ears throughout this trial, 21 that the defendant, Lawrence Ray, is guilty.

22 As you know, the government has the burden of proof in 23 this case. The defense does not have to make any arguments.
24 It does not have to say a thing. It is the government's burden 25 of proof, and we embrace that burden. But when the defense

M45MRAY2

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 makes arguments, as they just did here, it is your duty to 2 scrutinize them, to see if they match up with the evidence and 3 with your common sense. They don't.

4 The defense lawyers might talk a lot about the looking 5 glass, but they are not magicians. They cannot make hours of 6 the defendant's abusive recordings disappear or wish away 7 records documenting millions of dollars in profits that the 8 defendant laundered through GoDaddy and to his daughter, Talia 9 Ray, and they cannot discredit Claudia Drury, who took that 10 stand and whose testimony matched up with the testimony of the 11 other witnesses in this case and with the mountain of other 12 evidence.

13 I'm not going to respond to everything defense counsel
14 said. I don't have to. This has been a long trial and you 15 have paid close attention to the evidence. I am not going to 16 play any more recordings or show any more photos. You know 17 what happened. But I am going to respond to some of the things 18 defense counsel said.

19 I'd like to start with the time the defense has spent 20 talking in breathy whispers about what Larry believed. The 21 defense moments ago told you that if you find that Larry 22 believed that he was poisoned, then he is not guilty. They had 23 the audacity to flatly misstate the applicable law.

24 Judge Liman is going to instruct you on the law and 25 what he says controls, but I expect that he will tell you that

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 what the defendant believed about poisoning is obviously not a 2 defense to violent crimes. Imagine the world we would live in 3 if thinking you were a victim gave you license to behave like a 4 crime boss, to extort people, to sex-traffic them, to force 5 them into labor.

6 Thankfully, that's not the world we live in. We live
7 in a country with the rule of law. Suffocation, black mail, 8 punches to the face, a hammer to the knees, forced labor, 9 forced prostitution, that is not how you collect money, even if 10 you think you deserve it. That's extortion. It's sex 11 trafficking. It's criminal.

12 What you saw in this trial was not roughhousing. It 13 wasn't method therapy. Give me a break. Only in the 14 defendant's alternative looking-glass wonderland are videos of 15 Lawrence Ray engaging in violence somehow proof of his 16 innocence. It is irrelevant under the law if he thought he was 17 entitled to beat up these young college students. He wasn't.

18 And this notion, the suggestion that these violent 19 acts were not connected to the demands for payment, that's 20 ridiculous. You saw in these recordings and you heard from the 21 victims how the defendant's violence was connected to demands 22 for payment, to demands for labor, to demands for prostitution.
23 The defendant created a climate of fear that drove these young 24 people to steal from their parents, to commit prostitution, to 25 work into the night in thunderstorms. Of course that was a

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 product of the violence that they experienced, that they 2 witnessed, that they endured for years and years. So you do 3 not need to form an opinion about what the defendant believed 4 about the poisoning. It's irrelevant.

5 But let's get real. The defendant did not really 6 believe he was owed hundreds of thousands of dollars from the 7 Rosario family and millions of dollars from Claudia Drury. The 8 defendant, this physically imposing middle-aged man, never once 9 feared for his life from this group of Ivy Leaguers. Of course
10 he never believed that a Spanish-speaking immigrant mother, 11 Maritza Rosario, was plotting to kill him with the former 12 nominee of homeland security. It's ridiculous on its face.

13 But the substance of the accusations, that these young 14 people had tried to poison him, those are serious accusations 15 of attempted murder. Do not lose sight of that. If you really 16 and truly believed that someone was trying to poison you and 17 your daughter, that they had poisoned you with mercury, with 18 cyanide, with arsenic, would you sit around your living room
19 with them? Would you go to dinners together? Would you live 20 under the same roof? Of course not.

21 What would you do if you thought you were being 22 poisoned? You would get as far away as possible from that 23 person. You would report them immediately to the police. This 24 isn't about keeping your enemies close. Nobody in their right 25 mind would keep their attempted murderer in their house. It

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 makes no sense because it is not true, it is not what Larry 2 believed.

3 The defense has made a big deal out of a single e-mail
4 sent to Preet Bharara. The only thing that is important about 5 that e-mail is the date of the e-mail, April 21, 2016, more 6 than two years after Claudia confessed to poisoning, more than 7 one year after she started sex work, giving the defendant all 8 of the money.

9 The e-mail to the U.S. Attorney's Office is not 10 evidence the defendant believed anything. It's evidence of how 11 far he was willing to go to scare his victims into believing 12 that they were going to jail so they would keep giving him 13 money, keep doing as he said.

14 The more time went on, the more the defendant had to 15 do something to make his victims believe that he was willing to 16 carry out his threats.

17 Claudia told you how the threats of prison escalated 18 and escalated. The defendant cooked up this bogus e-mail to 19 the head of federal law enforcement complaining of a wild and 20 baseless poisoning scheme at the hands of a bunch of students.
21 He knew it would go nowhere and get no attention.

22 And after this e-mail that, of course, went nowhere, 23 the defendant kept up his threats to Claudia. This wasn't the 24 defendant keeping his enemy close. This was him doing 25 everything in his power to keep the fear alive and to keep the

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 steady stream of extortion payments flowing.

2 If you want to know what the defendant believed, look 3 no further than the chart of articles on in his computer.
4 These weren't on a professor's hard drive, like defense counsel 5 talked about. They were on the drive of a person who's 6 extracting false confessions by force and threats. He believed 7 he could use false accusations, brain washing, and group
8 dynamics to control the minds of his victims, and for a time it 9 succeeded. He got them to believe anything, to admit to 10 anything, to do anything, all for his own benefit.

11 The defendant told Claudia that he was spending the 12 money on hospital bills. He was doing no such thing. The 13 government didn't just show you a few receipts for expensive
14 clothing. Special Agent Maguire told you that she reviewed 15 hundreds of receipts, pages and pages of cash logs that showed 16 no meaningful medical expenses. That is not the behavior of a 17 man trying to recover from poisoning.

18 If the defendant believed the money was restitution, 19 that he and his family deserved it fair and square, he would 20 not have kept his name off of all of the bank records, hid the 21 money in other people's banks, and laundered it to GoDaddy.

22 And not only did the defendant himself say these 23 domains were worth $34 million, you heard from Kyle Sliger, the 24 former employee of GoDaddy, who himself valued the defendant's 25 domains at $17 million. That's at Government Exhibit 3212.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 Defense counsel talked about this meeting with Mr.
2 Ripa about the tax advice, and she brought up how the defendant
3 did not record this meeting. Of course he did not record it.
4 Because if he had, the recording would show even more crystal
5 clearly that this conversation was a sham. I expect Judge 6 Liman will tell you that with respect to the tax charges only,
7 the government has to prove that the defendant did not have a 8 good-faith belief that he owed no taxes.

9 The defendant's conversation with Mr. Ripa, as 10 described by Mr. Ripa on the stand, does not come close to 11 showing good faith. It's part of the exact same pattern of 12 manipulation. The defendant gave Mr. Ripa misleading facts 13 just so he could trot him out here at this trial and say, look, 14 I really did believe that I didn't owe taxes, but he didn't 15 tell Mr. Ripa about the violence, the threats, the coercion, 16 and, as Mr. Ripa told you, he certainly did not tell him about 17 the staggering amounts of money that he was collecting from 18 Claudia. The defendant knew that if he did, even a lawyer like 19 Mr. Ripa would not have given him the green light to evade his 20 taxes. No lawyer, no matter how incompetent or how corrupt, 21 would ever bless that behavior. This argument would be a joke 22 if the defendant's conduct were not so deliberately designed to 23 obstruct justice. The defendant manipulated Mr. Ripa and now 24 he is trying to manipulate the system and to manipulate you.
25 You know better than to fall for it.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 I would like to go back to this idea that this case is 2 about storytellers. What that really means is the defense
3 wants you to believe that victim after victim got on that stand
4 and lied to you about the defendant's abuse, his coercive 5 control, his threats, and his criminal organization.

6 That flies in the face of the evidence. The 7 defendant's conduct was so cruel, so extreme, it might be 8 tempting to think it was only the stuff of nightmares. If only 9 that were so. But, based on the documentary evidence, you know 10 that for the victims this was very much real life, that what 11 they told you was true.

12 You have videos of Felicia having sex with strangers
13 at the defendant's direction. You saw videos of the victims' 14 grueling work in thunderstorms in North Carolina, videos of the 15 defendant punching Felicia in the face, pinning her to the 16 ground, recordings where the defendant's physical abuse of 17 Santos in front of the group and Talia's threats of jail are 18 unmistakable. You saw the ledgers in black and white tallying 19 up millions of dollars in organizational profits.

20 The defense attacked these victims but had very little 21 to say about these pieces of evidence because they have no 22 response. All that they said was the violence was not tied to 23 any of these crimes. You know that these videos capture the 24 heart of the crimes, the heart of the extortion, the heart of 25 what made these victims feel forced to work, forced to pay,

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 forced to engage in commercial sex.

2 The defense wants you to ignore all of this evidence 3 because at one point these victims made false confessions. But 4 you know that these confessions did not materialize out of thin 5 air, that these victims did not thrive on spinning falsehoods.
6 That is nonsense. They made these confessions because the 7 defendant forced them to.

8 These confessions had common features for a reason.
9 Why? Because each victim was pressured by the defendant to say 10 increasingly outlandish and incriminating things, often in the 11 same exact ways, and always to end relentless interrogations at 12 the hands of the defendant to ward off the defendant's verbal 13 and physical abuse.

14 This defense about storytelling, it is just an 15 extension of the same self-serving conspiracy theories that the 16 defendant himself recycled again and again. Once again, the 17 defendant is claiming that everything and everyone is a liar 18 and a sabotage. He once used these fictions to control these 19 victims. Now he is using them to evade responsibility. He is 20 trying to fool you the way that he fooled them.

21 But there is a difference this time. When the victims 22 took the stand in court, they were no longer under the 23 defendant's coercive control. They were under oath. And what 24 they told you matched up in every important way with the other 25 evidence. The defense has failed to expose a single lie. You

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 have the tools to see through the defendant's con.

2 I want to talk to you about Claudia Drury. Of all the 3 victims, the defendant has spent the most time trying to 4 convince you that Claudia as a storyteller, a liar, a sexual 5 deviant, even mentally unstable.

6 It is obvious why. As the defense told you, if you 7 believe Claudia Drury, the defendant is guilty of all the 8 charges in the indictment.

9 I want to be clear about one thing up front. The 10 defense has spent a lot of time on cross-examination and in 11 summation trying to convince you that Claudia wanted to be a 12 prostitute.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 MS. SASSOON: Aside from being absurd, that is a 2 distraction. I expect that Judge Liman will tell you that if 3 there is just one instance in which the defendant used force, 4 threats of force, or coercion to cause Claudia to perform 5 commercial sex, then he is guilty.

6 What does that mean? I'll give you some examples. If 7 you find that at any point Claudia saw more prostitution
8 clients because the defendant suffocated her with a plastic bag 9 and told her to focus on work, or the defendant flogged her 10 with a crop, leaving a mark on her head, or the defendant hit 11 her in the face until she stopped flinching, or the defendant 12 threatened to expose her client list on the internet if she did 13 not make more money, or if the defendant threatened that she 14 would rot in prison with her face used as toilet paper if she 15 did not make repairs, then the defendant is guilty of sex
16 trafficking.

17 Remember Claudia's testimony about the Gregory Hotel.
18 I'll have more to say about that in a moment. The defendant 19 subjected her to hours of physical torture and then told her to 20 behave and focus on making more money. What did she do next?
21 She saw clients and she made more money, that she gave to the 22 defendant, because she feared for her life. The defendant is 23 guilty of sex trafficking, extortion, assault in aid of 24 racketeering, based on that incident alone, regardless of why 25 Claudia became a prostitute.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 But you should also reject the defense effort to shame
2 Claudia as a slut who wanted to be a sex worker.

3 MS. LENOX: Objection.

4 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, that was the fair
5 implication of cross-examination.

6 THE COURT: Members of the jury, this is just 7 argument.

8 MS. SASSOON: Those suggestions are outrageous and 9 insulting. Claudia, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College, an 10 advanced mathematics student, did not wake up one morning and 11 decide that her life dream was to make money by having sex with 12 men between the ages of 18 and 85 years old, seven days a week, 13 almost 24 hours a day, and then to give nearly every cent to 14 the defendant, while she lived like a homeless person. You 15 know from what you've seen at this trial that the defendant 16 forced her to that place, forced her to become a sex worker.
17 And I'll remind you of some of the things that you learned at 18 this trial.

19 The defendant isolated her. He drove her to be 20 friendless, parentless, and homeless. He convinced her that 21 she was homicidal and mentally unwell, and that paying him was 22 her only hope of redemption. He inflicted violence on her and 23 in the presence of others. He coerced her to confess to 24 horrible crimes that she did not commit. He threatened to send 25 her to prison if she did not make monetary repairs, and fast.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 And the defendant desensitized Claudia and others to 2 increasingly extreme sexual activity beginning in 2011, when 3 she was only 20 years old—20 years old, and he was the father
4 of her roommate, a middle-aged man. He told her to have sex 5 with Dan, to have sex with a married power tool salesman, and 6 he tied her up and instructed others to put a dildo into her 7 body. She told you why, by 2014, she was involved in horribly
8 painful and demeaning BDSM. It wasn't because she loved kink.
9 By then, the defendant had been so successful at convincing her 10 that she was a worthless criminal, a worthless human being, 11 that she felt she deserved the abuse.

12 I just want to pause here for a moment, because 13 defense counsel talked to you a few times about the testimony 14 of Dr. Hughes. It's been a while since she testified. I urge 15 you in your deliberations to request the transcript of her 16 testimony if it will be useful to you, because the defense 17 misrepresented several things that Dr. Hughes said on that 18 stand. For example, Dr. Hughes told you that sexual grooming, 19 while it happens with children, can also happen to young 20 adults. She talked to you about isolation, but she told you 21 that isolation is not a necessary tactic if its perpetrator, 22 like the defendant, has already established total control.
23 Think about those things as you deliberate and as you consider 24 what the defendant did to Claudia and to his other victims.

25 So by the time the defendant told Claudia to be a

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 prostitute, he had so thoroughly convinced her that she had no
2 other way out, no other way to save her blackened soul. The 3 defense talked about how sexually liberated Claudia supposedly 4 was. You saw -- and this was one of the most difficult moments
5 in the trial. You saw how humiliated Claudia was when her old 6 journal entry about sex with a police officer was placed in 7 front of her and the entire courtroom without even a pending
8 question from the attorney. The entry, the incident it 9 described, and others just like it were the product of years of 10 sexual degradation and abuse.

11 And where was this journal found? In the defendant's 12 warehouse. Not because he generously agreed to store people's 13 belongings. Claudia told you how he would seize her journals, 14 including on the night of terror, and he hoarded personal 15 journals for precisely this purpose, to humiliate and to 16 intimidate his victims, including in a court of law if they 17 ever dared testify against him. Not only has the defense 18 suggested to you that Claudia was a slut --

19 MS. LENOX: Objection.

20 MS. SASSOON: -- they told you that she's a liar.

21 THE COURT: Members of the jury, you're hearing 22 argument. There's no claim in this case with respect to the 23 good faith or bad faith of the lawyers involved. You're 24 hearing the rebuttal from the government to what it understands 25 to be the arguments of the defense.

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 Go ahead, Ms. Sassoon.

2 MS. SASSOON: Thank you.

3 They've told you that Claudia is a liar. Think about 4 that. They're claiming a woman over 30 years old took the 5 stand in federal court, under oath, and in public, and lied 6 because when she was a teenager, she embellished a story about 7 a driving test? This was not the high school cafeteria. When 8 Claudia got up there and described being hit with a pipe while 9 naked, having paid to have sex with a crack addict, that was 10 hardly the testimony of someone trying to impress her friends.
11 She was humiliated.

12 The defense wants you to believe the humiliating 13 things that Claudia disclosed about herself, but to disregard 14 the things she said about the defendant. They cannot have it 15 both ways. And what she said about herself, those painful, 16 embarrassing facts about the most intimate details of her life, 17 and what the defendant did to her, that also shows you she told 18 you the truth about the defendant. Claudia, just like the 19 other victims, had no motive to lie under oath in federal 20 court. If her motive was to lie to blame her choices on the 21 defendant, she would have told much better lies. She would 22 have said it was the defendant who took her to the BDSM club --

23 MS. LENOX: Objection.

24 THE COURT: Overruled.

25 MS. SASSOON: -- that the defendant posted all of her

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 advertisements, that the defendant is the one who hit her with 2 a pipe. But she didn't. The defense hasn't told you what 3 benefit Claudia would get from lying under oath, from 4 disclosing humiliation after humiliation, because there isn't 5 one.

6 MS. LENOX: Your Honor, misstating the burden of 7 proof.

8 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, they suggested she lied 9 under oath and --

10 THE COURT: This is proper summation.

11 Members of the jury, you understand that the 12 government has the burden of proof beyond a reasonable doubt.
13 And nothing that Ms. Sassoon is saying is intended to suggest 14 that the government has anything less than the full burden of 15 proof.

16 MS. SASSOON: However much the defense has tried to 17 shame Claudia, to paint her as unlikeable, as untrustworthy, 18 none of those things can change the fact that every key part of 19 her testimony was heavily corroborated and consistent with 20 photos, videos, audio, text messages, emails, ledgers, 21 financial analysis, and other witness testimony. The question 22 for you as jurors is not whether you like Claudia, it's not 23 whether you approve of her behavior or her sex life; it is 24 whether she told you the truth about the defendant's crimes, 25 and you know that she did. She told you she worked as a

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 prostitute. You saw the Backpage ads. She told you she gave 2 nearly every cent to the defendant and Isabella. You saw the 3 text messages that confirmed this. You saw the ledgers from 4 the defendant's house and Mark Lubin's financial analysis that 5 showed the staggering amount of money going through accounts
6 controlled by the defendant and coming from Claudia. She told 7 you about the defendant's sexual grooming. And you can reject 8 this argument from the defense that this is not corroborated.
9 It's corroborated by the fact that the defendant sexually 10 groomed the other victims, including Santos, who was directed 11 to get oral sex by the shed from Isabella, by the grooming of 12 Felicia, and by Claudia's own journal entries, and emails, 13 including the email from 2012 where she refers to the incident 14 with Sam the Festool salesman, and the incident where the 15 defendant tied her up and committed an act of BDSM against her.
16 It's also confirmed by the photographs of her horrific injuries
17 to the back of her naked body that was found in the defendant's 18 iCloud. She told you that the defendant proudly showed her the 19 photo of Dan Levin in a dress with a dildo in his mouth, and, 20 as she put it, a pained expression on his face. You saw that 21 exact photograph that Claudia had not seen since 2013.

22 She told you that she lied to clients in desperation
23 to get more money to meet the defendant's ever-growing demands 24 for money. And you heard from Randy Levinson, who confirmed 25 just that. And you saw the email where she sold off her body

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 to Randy in perpetuity, just to get money for the defendant.
2 She told you about the defendant's relentless pressure, and you
3 saw video after video of interrogations. She told you that 4 Isabella and the defendant came to pick up the money, and you
5 saw the cell site maps that show the defendant and Isabella 6 meeting Claudia at her midtown hotels and at the White Castle 7 in New Jersey.

8 She told you that the defendant and Isabella targeted 9 her where it hurt her the most—her client information, her 10 relationship with her mother, her binge eating. And you saw 11 just those things on a list Isabella drafted for the Claudia
12 Drury website, and you saw screenshots from the website itself.

13 I want to pause here for a moment because there was so 14 much violence in this case that that has been a big focus of 15 the government's summation, but I expect you will hear from 16 Judge Liman that extortion can be committed through other ways.
17 Sex trafficking can be committed through other ways, such as 18 wrongful threats, just like those that were put up on the 19 website, threats to expose sexual indiscretions, threats of 20 reputational harm. If you find that these threats were made, 21 then the defendant is guilty of extortion and of sex
22 trafficking.

23 But Claudia also told you about the defendant's brutal 24 violence. The defense suggested to you that this was just 25 based on Claudia's say-so, that her testimony about violence is

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 uncorroborated. That just doesn't align with the evidence in 2 this case. You heard the recording from March 9, 2014, and I 3 believe these are Government Exhibits 4176A and 4175, where the 4 defendant is brutally beating Santos with a hammer. Claudia 5 was there. Claudia witnessed those horrific acts and those 6 horrific threats. That contributed to her own climate of fear, 7 her own fear of what the defendant was capable of and what he 8 might do to her.

9 She told you about many instances of violence, 10 culminating in the incident at the Gregory Hotel. The rustling 11 of the plastic bag is not the defendant eating a hamburger.
12 You can hear the fear in Claudia's voice immediately after the 13 rustling of the bag. She is terrified. Go back to the 14 recording. You'll hear it. And you'll hear, at 20 minutes and 15 about 18 seconds, Claudia gasping for air.

16 The defense boldly asserted that there was no assault 17 at the Gregory Hotel, but they can't get around the fact that 18 Felicia corroborated Claudia in every important respect. So 19 what did they tell you? They suggested that Felicia's 20 testimony was completely fabricated. Think about that.
21 Felicia Rosario got on that stand and made up a story about 22 Claudia that somehow matched up to everything Claudia said?
23 What the defense is suggesting is that the government planted 24 Felicia's story. There's no other explanation. And that is 25 outrageous, and there is nothing to support such an improper

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 and offensive suggestion.

2 Felicia's testimony was consistent with Claudia's 3 because you know they were both telling the truth—Felicia in 4 the defendant's own words. And Claudia's behavior the next 5 day, it is exactly the behavior you would expect from someone 6 who feared for her life and who thought the only way to put off 7 more violence and more threats was to get money for the 8 defendant, and fast.

9 The defense argued—and this was mostly yesterday—that 10 the defendant did not run a criminal enterprise, that he was 11 just sending money to loved ones and communicating with his 12 dad. Well, "the Ray family" was the defendant's own turn of 13 phrase, but you can call this criminal organization whatever 14 you want. Racketeering is a big word, but the concept is 15 simple. The bottom line is that the defendant was the leader 16 of a group that shared the common goal of committing crimes for 17 their own power and profit—crimes like extortion, forced labor, 18 sex trafficking, and obstruction.

19 Judge Liman I expect is going to give you a copy of 20 the indictment in this case. I encourage you to read Count 21 One, the racketeering conspiracy. The indictment lays out the 22 details of the defendant's criminal organization—its purposes, 23 its methods, and its pattern of crimes. I also expect Judge 24 Liman will instruct you that a person does not have to 25 participate in every aspect of an illegal scheme to be a

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 co-conspirator, and that criminals generally, as you might 2 expect, don't sit around a table signing a written contract of 3 their criminal agreement. Much is often left to unexpressed
4 understanding. What does that mean? Lawrence Grecco and Talia 5 Ray did not have to further Claudia's prostitution to have been 6 the defendant's co-conspirators in the enterprise. Sex 7 trafficking, that was Isabella's domain. And I would just 8 point out that the defense didn't question that Isabella was 9 part of this conspiracy. The proof of her involvement is 10 overwhelming. But for Talia and for Lawrence Grecco, it's 11 enough that they played a role, however big or however small, 12 in advancing some of the aims of the enterprise. They clearly 13 did.

14 Talia Ray, she was more than a mean girl. Mean girls, 15 they don't let you sit at the lunch table. They don't extort
16 you for tens of thousands of dollars. Talia's conduct 17 establishes that she was a member of this criminal 18 organization. She brought her friends into her dad's orbit and 19 she enforced the hierarchy of the group. She, her dad, and 20 Isabella were the chosen few. Her other former roommates were 21 the criminals. She participated in the extortion. Look at her 22 handwritten letters, her emails to Claudia. She accused her 23 friends of wrongdoing, and then she collected the money. She 24 participated in the defendant's wrongful threats that were 25 designed to get victims to pay. Just listen to her telling

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 Santos that he's going to prison for life.

2 She collected the profits, she funneled the money to 3 GoDaddy and into her own bank account. She helped with and she 4 benefited from the forced labor. She was there, and while her 5 roommates toiled inside, she enjoyed the benefits of the house.
6 She threatened Claudia about damages, she collected money from 7 Santos, and she helped obstruct justice, giving input on the 8 threats to Claudia after Claudia ran away. Loving her dad, 9 that doesn't change the fact that these are crimes that were a 10 core part of the criminal enterprise's mission.

11 The same is true of Lawrence Grecco. Any family tie 12 doesn't change the fact that he advanced the defendant's
13 efforts to obstruct justice. He joined the effort to discredit 14 potential witnesses, and he ultimately delivered an 15 unmistakable threat to Felicia Rosario, that her loyalty was 16 required, that he would risk jail to secure it. That is 17 obstruction of justice, and that was one of the goals of the 18 defendant's enterprise.

19 But I want to remind you that to find the defendant 20 guilty of racketeering conspiracy, you don't even need to find 21 that Talia Ray and Lawrence Grecco both participated or even 22 that the enterprise obstructed justice, even though it did.
23 One co-conspirator is enough. Isabella Pollok. Two acts of 24 criminal activity are enough. It would be enough, for example, 25 if you concluded that Isabella was the defendant's partner in

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 crime for the racketeering activity, and that together they 2 committed two acts of money laundering, or two acts of 3 extortion, or two of each. These are just examples, but you 4 have countless racketeering acts to choose from.

5 I want to talk to you about this argument that these 6 are not crimes because the victims could have or should have 7 left. This is besides the point, and it's not true. I expect 8 Judge Liman will tell you that the crimes like forced labor, 9 forced sexual services, and sex trafficking don't require that 10 a victim be locked up in a basement or acting with a gun 11 pointed at their head. A victim has no affirmative duty to 12 escape if the defendant placed them in fear of leaving or if 13 the victim felt as though she could not leave. That's exactly 14 what happened here.

15 And let's just take Yalitza as an example. Defense 16 counsel, during her summation, complains that the government is 17 describing everything Larry does as a manipulation and that he 18 called Yalitza and he really wanted her to come help her sister
19 and -- I wrote it down -- that Larry really wanted Yalitza's 20 support for the person he loved. That's defense counsel's 21 phrase. Of course this was a manipulation. Yalitza came down 22 to Pinehurst, concerned for her sister, and what she 23 encountered, in her words, was a living hell. This person who 24 told her that he wanted her to support her sister, then 25 brutally assaulted that sister in front of her eyes, day in and

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 day out, and then he blamed Yalitza for the fact that her 2 sister was childlike, mentally unwell, falling apart.

3 The defendant did things to and in front of his 4 victims to ensure that they were afraid to disobey, afraid to 5 leave, that any lifeline they had was destroyed. By the time 6 the extortion, the forced labor, and the sex trafficking were 7 underway, the defendant had cut off these victims from their 8 parents. You heard that. Yes, they may have had dinner in 9 2011. By 2014, Claudia wasn't speaking to her parents.
10 Maritza Rosario told you that she did not see her children for 11 seven years. This was not a neglectful mother. This was a 12 woman desperate to find a way to help her children, who plunged 13 herself into debt because her son told her that he would kill 14 himself if she did not come up with more money for the 15 defendant. Each of these victims came to a desperate place 16 where they felt they had nowhere to turn, nowhere to go, no way 17 to leave. And Yalitza, she only left because she was ready to 18 take her own life. She didn't have an exit plan. Her exit 19 plan was to take a bottle of Tylenol in the parking lot of a 20 Walmart.

21 It's also irrelevant that when the time came, when 22 they found the courage, when they were extended a helping hand, 23 that the victims did leave. The defense talked about how the 24 defendant didn't stop Yalitza, he didn't stop Santos. Well, by 25 the time they left, he could not care less about them, because

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 Claudia was independently turning over hundreds of thousands of 2 dollars. He did not need Santos's ten grand anymore. Santos 3 was expendable to him—expendable until Claudia ran away and he 4 needed money again.

5 But when the defendant felt that Claudia, his prized
6 cash cow, was slipping from his grasp, he did act. He did try 7 to stop her. That was the Gregory Hotel. That night was his 8 effort to send a message that if Claudia ever broke away, she 9 would end up dead. And she got that message. And for a time, 10 it worked. But once Claudia left New York City, there was 11 little the defendant could do. He was no dummy. This is 12 someone who avoided a paper trail in his emails, in his 13 financials, but he was so desperate that he sent her a coded 14 threat. He and Isabella updated the Claudia Drury website with 15 a barrage of threats meant to make Claudia do anything to have 16 the content taken down. Remember the calendar entry, 17 April 6th, "Claudia runs away," and then all the notes that 18 followed with ideas for the website, drafts of threats to 19 Claudia. This was their effort to get her back in line. And 20 when the website didn't work, when his coded threat didn't 21 work, he had Isabella and Talia send one final threat to 22 Claudia, saying she was a vile criminal who belonged in prison.
23 They tried. But the organization's effort to bring Claudia 24 back into line simply failed. And why at that point did he not 25 turn her in to the police? Because he knew she was not a

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 criminal; he knew she was his victim.

2 I'd like to say a word to you about Felicia. Defense
3 counsel stood up and used words like "agency," "she was a 4 29-year-old woman," "she chose to have sex with strangers."
5 The defendant was trying to support her when he physically 6 restrained her and assaulted her in Pinehurst. Ignore these 7 euphemisms. Let's call it what it was—abuse, force. If the 8 defendant was concerned about Felicia, about supporting her,
9 why did he punch her in the face? Why did he make her have sex 10 with strangers?

11 The defense wants to ignore the consequences of the 12 violence that the defendant repeatedly inflicted. Of course 13 there was a connection between the abuse and the forced labor.
14 Look at the evidence. Yalitza was going to go down for two 15 days. She stayed for months, in a living hell, as violence was 16 inflicted, as she was brought to the police station, all in the 17 service of the defendant's constant demands that the work was 18 not done, that the work was being sabotaged, that there was 19 more work to do. And the fact that the defendant told Felicia 20 to be an escort, again, what stronger proof of the defendant's 21 sex trafficking of Claudia than that he tried to do the same 22 thing with someone else? The only reason it did not succeed is 23 not because Felicia had agency; it's because she made herself 24 so unhygienic, so undesirable, as she told you, so that there 25 was no way for her to continue with the defendant's sexual

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 demands.

2 You heard the jail calls, where the defendant asked
3 his dad to gather recordings of his victims, the emails of Dan 4 and Claudia describing violent thoughts, the recordings of 5 Claudia trying to set him up. That tells you everything. The 6 defendant made these recordings and he kept them precisely so 7 he could try to discredit his victims if they ever exposed him, 8 precisely because he knew he was extorting them, he was 9 victimizing them. You should reject the defense effort to 10 discredit these witnesses with the very collateral the 11 defendant created and collected for exactly this purpose, so 12 that his victims would never be believed, so that his victims 13 would never have the courage to speak up.

14 You saw these victims on the stand, their gentle 15 demeanors, their soft-spokenness. You heard them talk about 16 their insecurities at the start of college. The mental health 17 issues of these young people does not show that they're 18 unreliable. It shows that the defendant decided that they were 19 perfect targets. He moved into his daughter's college dorm 20 when these young people were at their most vulnerable, at a 21 time when they had moved away from their parents and were 22 trying to figure out what kind of adult to be. He saw the 23 self-doubt that came with being a teenager. He capitalized on 24 their depression and the loneliness that comes from being away 25 from home for the first time. He took all of these natural

Rebuttal - Ms. Sassoon

1 feelings of growing up and then he convinced them that they 2 weren't normal young adults trying to find their way but 3 irredeemable criminals, just so he could better exploit them
4 for his benefit and the benefit of his criminal organization.

5 But the defendant, he underestimated the young men and 6 women who took the stand at this trial. He never thought they 7 would have the courage to take the stand and relive the darkest 8 moments of their lives, to face the abuser they had been taught 9 to revere and trained to fear, to suffer from the defense the 10 same false insults that they had endured for years—that they 11 are liars, a rapist, a scorned lover, a delinquent mother, and 12 more. But you saw their courage. You heard about the 13 suffering the defendant inflicted on them, how he tore their 14 world apart, treated them like slaves, made life a living hell.

15 The defendant did not commit these crimes because he 16 thought he was poisoned. He did it because he enjoyed being 17 cruel, because he has a unique appetite for stoking fear and 18 exerting control. He did it to build his criminal organization 19 and to cement his place at the top of it. The architecture of 20 the defendant's scheme, the scaffolding that held it up, was 21 control, manipulation, fear, and power. The organization's 22 lifeblood was the work of these victims, whether it was digging
23 trenches, having sex for money, or plunging the Rosario family 24 business into debt. But when the victims overcame the 25 defendant's control at different times and in different ways,

M451RAY3

1 the defendant's criminal organization fell apart. The 2 overwhelming evidence you have seen has finally exposed the 3 defendant's crimes—the extortion, the sex trafficking, the 4 forced labor, the money laundering, the obstruction, and the 5 decades-long leadership of a criminal organization. That's why 6 we're here today.

7 Time to deliberate, without fear, favor, sympathy, or 8 prejudice. There has been so much evidence. Take your time 9 with it. Don't lose sight of it. As you deliberate, let your 10 common sense be your compass, let that evidence be your north 11 star. If you follow that path, you will reach the only verdict 12 consistent with the evidence, consistent with justice—find him 13 guilty.

14 MR. KELLY: Your Honor, can we have a brief sidebar.

15 THE COURT: I was actually going to tell the members 16 of the jury that in a moment, I'm going to instruct you as to 17 the law. You've now heard the summations of the parties, and 18 each of the lawyers has made various statements of the law.
19 I'm going to remind you now, as I'll tell you in the 20 instructions that will follow in a minute, that the law that 21 you are to apply is what I state in my instructions and not 22 what any counsel has said.

23 My instructions will take some time for me to deliver,
24 so I'm going to meet with the parties at sidebar now for a 25 minute or two. I would suggest that you all take a stretch

1 break, and if anybody needs a bottle of water, my courtroom
2 deputy will get it for you.

3 I'll see the parties at sidebar.

4 (At the sidebar)

5 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Your Honor, we have a number of 6 objections to the rebuttal defense that I would like your Honor 7 to give a curative instruction to.

8 First, the rebuttal argument at numerous points 9 denigrated the defense and defense counsel personally. At the 10 beginning, it started by making fun of defense counsel by 11 imitating her "breathy whisper." I now can't remember the 12 contents of that particular statement, but that was towards the 13 beginning.

14 MS. SASSOON: Larry believes. That was the context.

15 THE COURT: Is there more on this particular issue?

16 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Yes. About denigrating the defense.

17 THE COURT: We can go through each of your separate 18 objections, and then I'll hear from Ms. Sassoon.

19 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Thank you. So I'll go through the 20 list.

21 THE COURT: Just go through the denigration, make your 22 points so I can hear them all, and then I'll hear from 23 Ms. Sassoon.

24 MS. GLASHAUSSER: That sounds good. Thank you.

25 Our defense arguments were called ridiculous and a

1 distraction.

2 The government said that defense counsel had the 3 "audacity" to misstate the law.

4 It was suggested that we did something improper by 5 showing Ms. Drury her journal entries, which had been admitted
6 into evidence, after lengthy argument and your Honor ruling 7 that it was appropriate to reference those.

8 The government stated that Ms. Lenox had 9 misrepresented Dr. Hughes's testimony, while Ms. Lenox had 10 clearly shown that testimony to the jury and was reading from 11 the actual testimony.

12 It was suggested that we had made an improper and 13 offensive suggestion by suggesting that Ms. Rosario had 14 tailored a portion of her testimony.

15 The government said that the defense "tried to shame 16 Ms. Drury" and later suggested at some length that the defense 17 had revictimized the people who were testifying.

18 I think there were actually more. I had a hard time 19 writing them all down. The tone of the argument was to 20 criticize defense counsel and the defense in a way that is 21 completely inappropriate.

22 MR. KELLY: To add on that one specific point, we were 23 told that the defense was a furtherance of the criminal 24 conspiracy, that merely cross-examining, questioning these 25 witnesses about their prior recollections and their prior acts

M451RAY3

1 was a furtherance of Mr. Ray's criminal activity towards these 2 witnesses.

3 THE COURT: I don't recall Ms. Sassoon saying that.

4 MR. KELLY: She said defense counsel not only 5 revictimized but forced them to relive through these instances 6 in the same way that Mr. Ray did.

7 THE COURT: I actually don't recall, Mr. Kelly, that 8 particular argument. I do recall the argument being made that 9 they had to relive it by going on the stand and that that tied 10 into the credibility. But we'll hear from Ms. Sassoon.

11 Is there more on this particular point?

12 MS. GLASHAUSSE: There were a number of instances 13 that I wrote down. I did a request for a curative instruction, 14 if you'd like to hear that portion now.

15 THE COURT: Sure.

16 MS. GLASHAUSSE: So I think a curative instruction is 17 appropriate, something to the effect of, that the jury has 18 heard the government's comment on the defense or defense
19 counsel's methods, that the Court instructs that defense 20 counsel's arguments and methods were appropriate, or proper or 21 consistent with what the defense is. I don't know. I'll stop 22 there. I don't have precise language, but something to that 23 effect.

24 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, this is rebuttal summation.
25 It is standard and commonplace to describe arguments as

1 ridiculous, as a distraction, to poke holes in arguments, to 2 point out where testimony was provided selectively. And those 3 instances, for example, with Dr. Hughes, I urged the jury to 4 simply go back and look at the transcript.

5 With respect to what happened with Claudia Drury and 6 the journal entry, I merely described accurately what happened 7 in court, which was she was made to read the journal entry and 8 then there was no question.

9 I don't think I mischaracterized anything the defense 10 has said. I've made impassioned arguments. I think that's 11 appropriate for rebuttal. And I don't think the curative 12 instruction is proper. At most, if your Honor wanted to, at 13 most, the government would agree to a curative instruction that 14 simply says, you know, the arguments of counsel are not 15 evidence and your recollection of what happened controls. But 16 I don't think I said anything objectionable.

17 THE COURT: I did give that curative instruction
18 during Ms. Sassoon's summation, interrupting her and saying 19 that good faith or bad faith of the lawyers is not an issue in 20 this case. I'm also going to give a jury instruction with 21 respect to whether you like or dislike the lawyers. So --

22 MS. SASSOON: I'll also note that defense counsel
23 repeatedly interrupted my rebuttal with what I considered 24 meritless objections, and we did not object during her 25 summation to what was a legally impermissible statement of the

1 law.

2 THE COURT: I'll go back to this in a moment.

3 MS. GLASHAUSSER: So with respect to the objections, 4 the government, a number of times, said that the defense called 5 Claudia a slut, a sexual deviant. Ms. Lenox literally said the 6 exact opposite in her summation. I don't have the --

7 THE COURT: Well, she said that she enjoyed sex. I
8 mean, this is argument. It's characterization of an argument.

9 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Your Honor, I have more to say on 10 that point. She said that precisely. She said that is a 11 normal, appropriate thing. She said it was not sexual 12 deviancy. She said that this was -- at numerous points, that 13 these conversations about sex --

14 THE COURT: You can respond, but make sure your points 15 are good ones.

16 What's your response?

17 MS. SASSOON: My response is this: Summation is 18 permitted to respond not just to -- the rebuttal is permitted 19 to respond not just to summation but what happened at this 20 trial. The cross examination of Claudia Drury plainly involved 21 what the government considered over-the-line slut shaming. And 22 the jury was here to hear the summation. They know you did not 23 use that exact word. To the extent that I described it in a 24 different way, there's no need for a curative instruction, 25 because the jury heard the summation.

1 THE COURT: What's your next point?

2 MS. GLASHAUSSE: I apologize, your Honor. I have a 3 specific request with respect to that one. "Slut shaming" is 4 a -- the reason that the government is now saying it directly 5 to us, because it has power, and we did the opposite of that, 6 and --

7 THE COURT: Just tell me what your request is.

8 MS. GLASHAUSSE: Our request is to add to the defense
9 theory of the case that your Honor will read during the jury
10 instructions that the defense theory -- I can write out 11 specific language, but that there's nothing wrong or sexually 12 deviant related to sex work.

13 THE COURT: Your request is denied. It's belated, and 14 even if it weren't belated, I don't need to say that, because 15 it was perfectly appropriate rebuttal to make.

16 What's your next argument?

17 MS. GLASHAUSSE: The next argument is the government 18 vouched for evidence that did not exist and told the jury what 19 it would show. The government said that if a recording of 20 Glenn Ripa existed, it would show that the meeting was a sham.

21 THE COURT: That was a perfectly appropriate comment
22 because it was a comment with respect to the witness's 23 testimony, and you can each argue with respect to what the 24 witness testified, what you should take from the witness's 25 testimony. But it was a perfectly permissible inference to the

M451RAY3

1 jury to conclude that that meeting was a sham, just like it's a
2 perfectly appropriate inference for them to draw that it wasn't 3 a sham. That's argument.

4 MS. SASSOON: And the defense specifically made the 5 point in summation that it was somehow significant that there 6 was no recording. The government's entitled to respond to 7 these arguments and give an alternative interpretation.

8 THE COURT: The government didn't suggest that there 9 was evidence out there that wasn't presented in court.

10 So what's next?

11 MS. GLASHAUSSER: The next one is the government made 12 an argument that there was just one single email to Preet 13 Bharara and said that that showed that that undermined our 14 argument with respect to Mr. Ray reaching out to law 15 enforcement. The government knows that there are more emails.
16 Your Honor kept them out from the case. So for the government 17 to suggest that there is just one email misstates the factual 18 record that we all know here and implies to the jury that we're 19 making a mountain out of one little thing when in fact we all 20 know that that's not true.

21 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, this is rebuttal.

22 THE COURT: The government is permitted to say, here's 23 the evidence, all the evidence that was received. The defense 24 has every opportunity to put on a witness who could support, in 25 the form of Mr. Ray -- Mr. Ray could have testified, listen, I

1 did the following. They didn't put on Mr. Ray. You know, if 2 you had a basis for putting in the evidence, then you could 3 have put in other evidence. I ruled that there wasn't. That's 4 not an appropriate objection. The government is permitted to 5 argue what's in the evidence, and this is all that's in the 6 evidence.

7 What's next?

8 MS. GLASHAUSSER: But just to be clear, the government 9 did not limit itself to what was in the evidence. The 10 government said that that was the only thing that existed --

11 MS. SASSOON: That misstates the rebuttal.

12 MS. GLASHAUSSER: -- contrary to what --

13 MS. SASSOON: I said the defense has made much of a 14 single email. I didn't say this was the only email. I said
15 they were making a big deal of a single email, and then I 16 talked about that email.

17 MS. GLASHAUSSER: I believe there are other instances 18 of the government misstating the evidence. For example, there 19 was reference to videos of Mr. Ray punching Ms. Rosario in the 20 face. I do not believe that was something that any of us saw.
21 And --

22 MS. SASSOON: That's in evidence, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. KELLY: Mine was just -- there's a reference to:
25 Read the indictment. It lays out how he did this. We think

M451RAY3

1 there should be a curative instruction that the indictment is 2 not evidence.

3 THE COURT: I'm going to give that instruction. I 4 give my jury charge in a moment. They're going to hear that 5 precise thing in a moment.

6 MR. KELLY: Understood, but they also will be told 7 that the arguments of counsel are not the law, and the Court
8 issued that curative instruction after Ms. Lenox's summation, 9 so we think this is an important one and needs to be reiterated 10 twice.

11 MS. SASSOON: I didn't say --

12 MR. KELLY: You said it lays out how he --

13 THE COURT: They would be permitted to say, here's the 14 following way in which this was carried out.

15 MR. KELLY: Not in the indictment. They can say how 16 it's alleged in the indictment. They cannot say the indictment 17 lays out how it happens.

18 THE COURT: Okay. What's next?

19 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Those are all the things I've 20 written down. I just want to make clear that my request here, 21 other than a curative instruction, is for a mistrial.

22 THE COURT: Okay. One moment.

23 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, can we have a brief recess, 24 to talk to a supervisor?

25 THE COURT: Sure. Let's take a 10-minute recess.

(In open court)

THE COURT: Ladies and gentlemen, I'm going to give you a brief recess before I give you my charge.

THE DEPUTY CLERK: All rise.

(Jury not present)

THE COURT: Be seated.

There is one change that I intend to make to the charge in response to some argument that I heard from the defense. It's on page 3 of the charge where I say: "Remember that it's the duty of the lawyer to object when the other side offers testimony or other evidence that the lawyer believes is not properly admissible." Give me a moment. I'm going to tell you the sentence that I'm going to read.

I intend to instruct the jury along the following lines. This would be after I make the point that, "Because I have permitted certain evidence to be introduced doesn't mean that I've decided it's important or it's significant. That is for you to decide." I intend to instruct the jury along the lines of, "Likewise, it is the duty of each lawyer to present the evidence that it believes best supports its arguments, even if that evidence might be difficult to hear or difficult for the witness. You are to draw no negative inference from a lawyer presenting such evidence. She or he is simply doing their job."

Does the defense have any objection to me adding that

1 kind of language?

2 MS. LENOX: No, your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Okay. What about from the government?

4 MS. KEENAN: No, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, it's now 11:49.
6 We'll reconvene at noon, and I'll try to get through as much of 7 the jury charge as I can.

8 With respect to the motion for a mistrial that was 9 made at the sidebar a moment ago, I'm denying that motion. I 10 will hear from -- Ms. Sassoon said she wanted to consult with 11 somebody. I'll hear from the government if there's a different 12 view with respect to the curative instructions, and I'll inform 13 the parties of my views when we reconvene.

14 THE DEPUTY CLERK: All rise.

15 (Recess)

M45MRAY4

1 THE COURT: I am prepared to give something of a 2 curative instruction, but I'll also hear from the government if 3 there is anything that they want me to know about their 4 consultations. Then I will tell you the form of the curative 5 instruction I am going to give.

6 Ms. Sassoon.

7 MS. SASSOON: Our view is that no instruction is 8 necessary, so we will wait to hear what the proposal is.

9 THE COURT: I don't view it as a proposal necessarily, 10 but I will hear the views of the parties.

11 MS. SASSOON: Understood.

12 THE COURT: The instruction I intend to give is along 13 the lines of the following: You heard the government use 14 strong language in its rebuttal summation. You should 15 understand that such language was in response to what the 16 government perceived to be the arguments made by the defense in 17 summation. It was not a comment about the lawyers in this 18 case. Your opinions of the lawyers in this case and their 19 behavior is to have no role in your deliberations.

20 In that regard, you heard the suggestion that the 21 defense called Ms. Drury a slut and engaged in slut shaming.
22 It did not and I instruct you to disregard that argument.

23 MS. SASSOON: We strongly object to that, your Honor.
24 We did not use the word slut shaming in the rebuttal or in the 25 summation. That was no way said by the government, for

1 starters.

2 THE COURT: Does somebody have the language of the 3 summation?

4 MS. SASSOON: I have the language. That was never 5 said.

6 You should also reject the defense's effort to shame
7 Claudia as a slut who wanted to be a sex worker.

8 It is the government's view that that was completely 9 appropriate. Before I delivered this rebuttal, I had that 10 language approved by multiple people. And rebuttal is not just 11 an opportunity to react to defense summation. It's also to 12 react to the cross-examinations and argument made by 13 insinuation throughout the trial. Claudia Drury was in tears 14 during her cross-examination when being asked questions about 15 her sexual history, including before the defendant, that she 16 engaged in Skype sessions, that she had engaged in sexual 17 activity before she met the defendant, while she knew the 18 defendant, but was not with him, that she went to kink clubs
19 and BDSM.

20 The way the victim reacted to that, the way it landed 21 in court, the way the questions were asked, however much the 22 defense now wants to say they were so careful in summation, the 23 insinuations were made weeks ago and left lingering in this 24 trial for weeks and also was left as an attack on Claudia's 25 credibility.

M45MRAY4

1 MS. LENOX: Your Honor, may I respond?

2 MS. SASSOON: I'm still talking.

3 The defense also showed her a note that she wrote in 4 2016 extolling the virtues of sex work. Sex work is a crime.
5 The idea that the defense is simply celebrating Claudia's 6 sexuality is just not how this was elicited at trial and the 7 tone of the cross-examination.

8 So to the extent that there is an instruction about 9 how people made passionate arguments or how there should be no
10 insinuation of an attack on the lawyers personally, I have no
11 objection to that, but I think it absolutely was fair argument 12 based on the cross-examination.

13 THE COURT: Do you have the language from the 14 summation, Ms. Glashausser?

15 MS. GLASHAUSSE: I believe Ms. Sassoon read out one 16 of the relevant portions where she did use the word shame and 17 slut in the same sentence. She didn't say shut shaming. She 18 said they shamed Claudia by saying she was a slut. I think 19 your Honor's instruction on that point is appropriate.

20 I just want to briefly correct the record with respect 21 to the questions on cross-examination. The government just 22 talked about various sexual topics that Ms. Drury testified 23 about. Those were topics that were brought out by the 24 government on direct. The government brought out that she had 25 engaged in BDSM, that she worked at a sex club and various

M45MRAY4

1 other sexual -- that she worked at a sex club, and they went 2 into great detail about the BDSM.

3 We, in fact, objected to that detail, but the 4 government drew it out from Ms. Drury about what her manager 5 had done to her, various different things he had used. Those 6 were not questions asked by the defense.

7 With respect to the journal entry that your Honor had 8 approved us asking questions about, Ms. Lenox did ask Ms. Drury 9 some questions about that journal entry. Ms. Lenox then 10 perceived that Ms. Drury was uncomfortable with it there and 11 said that she would take it down and asked if she needed a 12 moment, so Ms. Lenox cut off her cross-examination in that 13 respect to be sensitive to the witness' reaction to that entry.

14 I think it is completely inappropriate to suggest that 15 the defense slut-shamed Ms. Drury when we did the exact 16 opposite, and Ms. Lenox's summation was very clear that we did 17 not view any of the things that Ms. Drury had testified about 18 relating to sex as deviant, that consenting adults could engage 19 in a wide range of sexual activity, that that is normal, and 20 Ms. Lenox specifically said that it is normal. We definitely 21 did not suggest that Ms. Drury was in any way a slut. We 22 suggested the exact opposite.

23 I think your Honor's instruction with respect to that 24 is appropriate.

25 THE COURT: What I will do is, I'll say, you heard the

M45MRAY4

1 government use strong language in various adjectives in its 2 rebuttal summation, and I'll cut the specific reference to the 3 slut.

4 MS. LENOX: Your Honor, that specific reference is 5 directly what was said in rebuttal.

6 THE COURT: It actually was a comment with respect to 7 the general thrust of some portion of the defense argument.
8 But I am going to give the instruction. With respect to the 9 important part of the instruction, it is that your opinion of 10 the lawyers in this case and their behavior is to have no role 11 in your deliberations in that each lawyer is doing -- they are 12 just doing their job.

13 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Your Honor, respectfully, with 14 respect to that portion of the instruction, it does not get at 15 the problem with the rebuttal summation, which is that the 16 government said numerous times, in various different ways, that 17 the defense was acting improperly.

18 THE COURT: It didn't. And the thrust of the 19 summation was to characterize arguments that were made by the 20 defense as being ridiculous arguments and to point out how thin 21 the evidence was that the defense was arguing. It is up to the 22 jury, at the end of the day, to determine whether the evidence 23 is in or not. It's perfectly appropriate rebuttal summation.

24 Is there a further curative instruction you want me to 25 give? Tell me what it is, and I will consider it, and then we

M45MRAY4

1 will bring the jury in.

2 MS. GLASHAUSSE: Yes, your Honor.

3 Instruct the jury that they heard the government's 4 comment about defense counsel's tactics, but defense counsel's 5 methods or tactics were proper.

6 We are not objecting to the government pointing out 7 things that related to the evidence or lack of evidence. We 8 are objecting to the way the government made it a personal 9 attack on defense counsel. It implied that the defense had 10 revictimized the victim simply by doing our job.

11 THE COURT: I understand that point. What I am going 12 to do is, I am going to highlight that the tactics and methods
13 of counsel on both sides of this case were proper. I'll leave 14 that to the jury. They were each representing their client 15 vigorously.

16 MS. SASSOON: Your Honor, I think Ms. Glashausser used 17 the language of, the arguments were proper. We don't think 18 it's appropriate for the judge --

19 THE COURT: I am referring to the tactics and the 20 methods of counsel, and the tactics and the methods of counsel 21 during the examinations were proper. Where they were not 22 proper I sustained objections.

23 Let's bring the jury in.

24 MS. SASSOON: I would just note, your Honor, that the 25 defense in their summation insinuated that the government

M45MRAY4

1 suborned perjury from Felicia Rosario. That was the only fair
2 inference from the suggestion --

3 THE COURT: I agree with that, and it was a totally 4 improper argument.

5 MS. SASSOON: To the extent that we are talking about 6 that, we think that the curative instruction goes both ways.
7 In the same way that the original curative instruction was not 8 directed at the defense, although they were the ones to 9 misstate the law, we think it would be inappropriate to single 10 out the government.

11 THE COURT: I'm going to give it. You've got your 12 record.

13 (Jury present)

14 THE COURT: Members of the jury, you heard the 15 government use strong language in various adjectives in its 16 rebuttal summation just now. You should understand that such 17 language was in response to what the government perceived to be 18 the arguments made by the defense in summation. It was not a 19 comment about the lawyers in this case. Your opinions of the 20 lawyers in this case and their behavior is to have no role in 21 your deliberations. Each lawyer was doing his or her own job.
22 The tactics and methods of counsel during the examinations in 23 this case were proper. Each lawyer was simply doing their job.

24 Now it is my privilege to instruct you with respect to 25 the law.

Charge

1 You have now heard all of the evidence in the case, as 2 well as the final arguments of the lawyers for the parties.

3 My duty at this point is to instruct you as to the 4 law. It is your duty to accept these instructions of law and 5 apply them to the facts as you determine them, just as it has 6 been my duty to preside over the trial and decide what 7 testimony and evidence is relevant under the law for your 8 consideration.

9 On these legal matters, you must take the law as I
10 give it to you. If any attorney has stated a legal principle 11 different from any that I state to you in my instructions, it 12 is my instructions that you must follow.

13 You should not single out any instruction as alone 14 stating the law, but you should consider my instructions as a 15 whole when you retire to deliberate in the jury room, and you 16 should know that you're going to be able to take a copy of 17 these instructions into the jury room.

18 Your final role is to pass upon and decide the fact 19 issues that are in the case. You, the members of the jury, are 20 the sole and exclusive judges of the facts. You pass upon the 21 weight of the evidence; you determine the credibility of the 22 witnesses; you resolve such conflicts as there may be in the 23 testimony; and you draw whatever reasonable inferences you
24 decide to draw from the facts as you have determined them. I 25 will later discuss with you how to pass upon the credibility,

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 or believability, of the witnesses.

2 In determining the facts, you must rely upon your own 3 recollection of the evidence. The evidence before you consists 4 of the answers given by the witnesses, the testimony they gave, 5 as you recall it, and the exhibits that were received in 6 evidence. The evidence does not include questions. Only the 7 answers are evidence. But you may not consider any answer that 8 I directed you to disregard or that I directed be struck from 9 the record. Do not consider such answers.

10 You may also consider the stipulations of the parties 11 in evidence.

12 Since you are the sole and exclusive judges of the 13 facts, I do not mean to indicate any opinion as to the facts or 14 what your verdict should be. The rulings I have made during 15 the trial are not any indication of my views of what your 16 decision should be as to whether or not the guilt of the 17 defendant has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt.

18 I also ask you to draw no inference from the fact that 19 upon occasion I asked questions of certain witnesses. These 20 questions were only intended for clarification or to expedite 21 matters and certainly were not intended to suggest any opinions 22 on my part as to the verdict you should render or whether any 23 of the witnesses may have been more credible than any other 24 witness. You are expressly to understand that the Court has no 25 opinion as to the verdict you should render in this case.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 As to the facts, you are the exclusive judges. You 2 are to perform the duty of finding the facts without bias or 3 prejudice as to any party.

4 As I said, in determining the facts, you must rely 5 upon your own recollection of the evidence. What the lawyers 6 have said in their opening statements, their closing 7 statements, in their objections or in their questions is not 8 evidence. If your recollection of the facts differ from the 9 lawyers' statements, you should rely on your recollections. If 10 a lawyer made a statement during his or her opening or 11 summation and you find that there is no evidence to support the 12 statement, you should disregard the statement.

13 Again, you should bear in mind that a question put to 14 a witness is never evidence. It is only the answer that is 15 evidence. Nor is anything I may have said during the trial or 16 may say during these instructions with respect to a fact matter 17 to be taken in substitution for your own independent 18 recollection. What I say is not evidence.

19 Relatedly, do not conclude from any of my questions or 20 any of my rulings on objections or anything else I have done 21 during this trial that I have any view as to the credibility of 22 the witnesses or how you should decide the case.

23 In addition, remember it is the duty of the lawyer to 24 object when the other side offers testimony or other evidence 25 that the lawyer believes is not properly admissible.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 Therefore, you should draw no inference from the fact that 2 there was an objection to any evidence. Nor should you draw 3 any inference from the fact that I sustained or overruled an 4 objection. Simply because I have permitted certain evidence to 5 be introduced does not mean that I have decided on its 6 importance or significance. That is for you to decide.

7 Likewise, it is the duty of each lawyer is to present 8 the evidence that it believes best supports its argument, even 9 if that evidence might be difficult to hear or difficult for 10 the witnesses. You are to draw no negative inference from a 11 lawyer presenting such evidence. She or he is just doing their 12 job.

13 The personalities and conduct of counsel are also not 14 in any way at issue. If you formed any opinions of any kind 15 about any of the lawyers in the case, favorable or unfavorable, 16 whether you approved or disapproved of their behavior, those 17 opinions should not enter into your deliberations.

18 The fact that the prosecution is brought in the name
19 of the united States of America entitles the government to no 20 greater consideration than that accorded to any other party to 21 a litigation. By the same token, it is entitled to no less 22 consideration. All parties, whether government or individuals, 23 stand as equals at the bar of justice.

24 Now I will instruct you on the presumption of 25 innocence and the government's burden of proof in this case.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 The defendant has pleaded not guilty. By doing so, he denies 2 the charges in the indictment. Thus, the government has the 3 burden of proving the charges against the defendant beyond a 4 reasonable doubt. The defendant is presumed innocent. A 5 defendant does not have to prove his innocence. The 6 presumption of innocence was in the defendant's favor at the 7 start of the trial, continued in his favor throughout the 8 entire trial, is in his favor even as I instruct you now, and 9 continues in his favor during the course of your deliberations 10 in the jury room.

11 The government has the burden of proof in this case.
12 The presumption of innocence is removed as to the defendant if, 13 and only if, you, as members of the jury, are satisfied that 14 the government has sustained its burden of proving the guilt of 15 the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt.

16 The question that naturally arises is, what is 17 reasonable doubt? A reasonable doubt is a doubt based on your 18 screen, your judgment, your experience, and your common sense.
19 It is a doubt that a reasonable person has after carefully 20 considering all of the evidence. It is a doubt founded in 21 reason and arising out of the evidence in the case or the lack 22 of evidence.

23 Proof beyond a reasonable doubt does not mean proof
24 beyond all possible doubt. It is practically impossible for a 25 person to be absolutely and completely convinced of any

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 disputed fact that, by its nature, cannot be proved with 2 mathematical certainty. The government's burden is to 3 establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, not all possible
4 doubt.

5 If, after a fair and impartial consideration of all
6 the evidence, you can candidly and honestly say that you do 7 have an abiding belief of the defendant's guilt, such a belief 8 as a prudent person would not hesitate to act upon in important 9 matters in the personal affairs of his or her own life, then 10 you have no reasonable doubt and, under such circumstances, it 11 is your duty to convict.

12 On the other hand, if, after a fair and impartial 13 consideration of all the evidence, you can candidly and 14 honestly say that you are not satisfied with the guilt of the 15 defendant, that you do not have an abiding belief of the 16 defendant's guilt, in other words, if you have such a doubt as 17 would reasonably cause a prudent person to hesitate in acting 18 in matters of importance in his or her own affairs, then you 19 have a reasonable doubt, and in that circumstance it is your 20 duty to acquit.

21 Now, there are two types of evidence that you may 22 properly use in deciding whether the defendant is guilty or not 23 guilty of the crimes with which he is charged.

24 One type of evidence is called direct evidence.
25 Direct evidence of a fact in issue is presented when a witness

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 testifies to that fact based on what he or she personally saw, 2 heard, or otherwise observed through the five senses. The 3 second type of evidence is circumstantial evidence.
4 Circumstantial evidence is evidence that tends to prove a 5 disputed fact indirectly by proof of other facts.

6 There is a simple example of circumstantial evidence
7 that is often used in this courthouse. Assume that when you 8 came into the courthouse this morning the sun was shining and 9 it was a nice day outside. Also assume that the courtroom 10 shades were drawn and you could not look outside. Assume 11 further that as you were sitting here, someone walked in with 12 an umbrella that was dripping wet and then a few minutes later 13 somebody else walked in with a raincoat that was also dripping 14 wet.

15 Now, because you could not look outside the courtroom
16 and could not see whether it was raining, you would have no
17 direct evidence of that fact. But on the combination of facts 18 that I have asked you to assume, it would be reasonable and 19 logical for you to conclude that it was raining.

20 That is all there is to circumstantial evidence. You 21 infer on the basis of your reason, experience, and common sense 22 from one established fact the existence or the nonexistence of 23 some other fact.

24 The matter of drawing inferences from facts in 25 evidence is not a matter of guesswork or speculation. An

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 inference is a logical, factual conclusion that you might 2 reasonably draw from other facts that have been proved.

3 Many material facts, such as a person's state of mind,
4 are not easily proved by direct evidence. Usually such facts
5 are established by circumstantial evidence and the reasonable 6 inferences you draw. Circumstantial evidence may be given as 7 much weight as direct evidence. The law makes no distinction 8 between direct and circumstantial evidence. The law simply 9 requires that before convicting a defendant, you must be 10 satisfied of the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, 11 based on all of the evidence in the case.

12 Now, some of the exhibits admitted into evidence 13 include redactions of certain information. Redacted means that 14 part of the document or audio recording was taken out. There 15 is nothing unusual or improper about such redactions. You are 16 to concern yourself only with the part of the item that has 17 been admitted into evidence. You should not consider any 18 possible reason why the other part of it has been deleted.

19 Some of the exhibits that were admitted into evidence 20 were in the form of charts or summaries. I decided to admit 21 these charts and summaries in addition to the underlying 22 documents that they represent in order to save time and avoid 23 unnecessary inconvenience. But it is up to you to decide 24 whether the summary exhibits fairly and correctly reflect the 25 underlying testimony and documents they purport to summarize.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 To the extent that the summary exhibits conform to your 2 understanding of the underlying evidence, you may accept them.
3 To the extent that they do not, you should set them aside and 4 rely on the underlying evidence instead.

5 Audio and video recordings have been admitted into 6 evidence. You were provided with transcripts as an aid, but it
7 is the recordings that are the evidence. Whether you approve 8 or disapprove of the recording or interception of those 9 conversations may not enter into your deliberations. I 10 instruct you that these recordings were made in a lawful manner 11 and that no one's rights were violated and that the 12 government's use of this evidence was entirely lawful and it 13 was properly admitted into evidence at this trial. You must 14 therefore, regardless of any personal opinions, give this 15 evidence full consideration along with all the other evidence 16 in the case in determining whether the government has proved 17 beyond a reasonable doubt the guilt of the defendant.

18 If you wish to hear any of the tapes again or see any 19 of the transcripts of those recordings, they will be made 20 available to you during your deliberations.

21 In this case you have heard evidence in the form of 22 stipulations. A stipulation of testimony is an agreement among 23 the parties that, if called, a witness would have given certain 24 testimony. You must accept as true the fact that the witness 25 would have given the testimony. However, it is for you to

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 determine the effect or weight to be given that testimony. You
2 also heard evidence in the form of stipulations that contain 3 facts that were agreed to be true. In such cases, you must 4 accept those facts as true, but it is also for you to determine 5 the effect or weight to give those agreed-upon facts.

6 If certain testimony or evidence was received for a
7 limited purpose, you must follow the limiting instruction I 8 have given and use the evidence only for the purpose I have 9 indicated.

10 You, as jurors, must decide this case based solely on 11 the evidence presented here within the four walls of the 12 courtroom. As I told you at the beginning of this case, you 13 must not conduct any independent research about this case, the 14 matters in this case, and the parties involved in the case. In 15 other words, you should not consult dictionaries or reference 16 materials, such as the Internet, websites, blogs, social media 17 outlets or look any other electronic tools to obtain 18 information about this case or to help you decide the case.
19 Please do not try to find out information from any source 20 outside the confines of this courtroom.

21 You must not talk to anyone about this case or use 22 these tools to communicate electronically with anyone about the 23 case. This includes your family and friends. You may not 24 communicate with anyone about the case on your cell phones, 25 through e-mail, instant messaging, text messaging, through any

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 blog or websites, through any Internet chat room, or by way of 2 any other social networking platforms, including Facebook,
3 Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, Snapchat, and YouTube. If you 4 become aware that any other juror is violating this 5 instruction, you should immediately bring it to my attention
6 through my courtroom deputy, Mr. Fishman, but please do not 7 make it known to any other jurors.

8 I will repeat the instruction that I have given you 9 throughout the trial that you are to avoid all media coverage 10 of this case. Your verdict must be based solely on the 11 evidence presented in this courtroom in accordance with my 12 instructions. You must completely disregard any report that 13 you have read in the press, seen on television, heard on the 14 radio, or seen on the Internet. Indeed, it would be unfair to 15 consider such report, since they are not evidence, and the 16 parties have no opportunity of contradicting their accuracy or 17 otherwise explaining them away. In short, it would be a 18 violation of your oath as jurors to allow yourselves to be 19 influenced in any manner by such publicity.

20 You have heard testimony about evidence seized in 21 connection with certain searches conducted by law enforcement
22 officers. Evidence obtained from these searches was properly 23 admitted in this case and may be properly considered by you.
24 Such searches were entirely appropriate law enforcement 25 actions, and no one's rights were violated.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 Whether you approve or disapprove of how the evidence
2 was obtained should not enter in your deliberations, because I 3 instruct you that the government's use of the evidence is 4 entirely lawful.

5 Your verdict must be based solely upon the evidence 6 developed at trial or the lack of evidence.

7 It would improper for you to consider, in reaching 8 your decision as to whether the government has sustained its 9 burden of proof, any personal feelings you may have about the 10 defendant's race, religion, national origin, sex, or age. As I 11 have explained to you, all persons are entitled to the 12 presumption of innocence, and the government has the burden of 13 proof.

14 It would be equally improper for you to allow any 15 feelings you might have about the nature of the crimes charged 16 to interfere with your decision-making process.

17 To repeat, your verdict must be based exclusively upon 18 the evidence or the lack of evidence in the case.

19 I also caution you that, under your oath as jurors, 20 you cannot allow to enter in your deliberations any 21 consideration of the punishment that may be imposed upon the 22 defendant if he is convicted. The duty of imposing sentence in 23 the event of conviction rests entirely with the Court, and the 24 issue of punishment may not affect your deliberations as to 25 whether the government has proven the defendant's guilt beyond

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 a reasonable doubt.

2 Under your oath as jurors, you are not to be swayed by 3 sympathy. You are to be guided solely by the evidence in this 4 case and the crucial question you must ask yourselves as you 5 sift through the evidence is, has the government proven the 6 guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt?

7 It is for you alone to decide whether the government
8 has proven the defendant is guilty of the crimes charged, 9 solely on the basis of the evidence and subject to the law as I 10 charge you. It must be clear to you that once you let fear or 11 prejudice or bias or sympathy interfere with your thinking, 12 there is a risk that you will not arrive at a true and just 13 verdict.

14 If you have a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's 15 guilt, you should not hesitate for any reason to find a verdict 16 of acquittal. But, on the other hand, if you should find that 17 the government has met its burden of proving the defendant's 18 guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, you should not hesitate, 19 because of sympathy or any other reason, to render a verdict of 20 guilty.

21 Now, the defendant, Lawrence Ray, is formally charged 22 in an indictment. An indictment is not evidence. As I
23 instructed you at the outset of the case, the indictment is a 24 charge or accusation. It merely describes the charges made 25 against a defendant. An indictment is a formal method of

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 bringing a case into court for trial and determination by a
2 jury. It creates no presumption that a crime was committed, 3 and no inference of any kind may be drawn from an indictment.
4 You may not consider an indictment as any evidence of a 5 defendant's guilt. The fact that a defendant is the subject of 6 this indictment and is on trial here may not be used against 7 him in any way whatsoever.

8 Before you begin your deliberations, you will be 9 provided with a copy of the indictment. I will not read the 10 entire indictment to you at this time. Rather, I will first 11 summarize the offenses charged in the indictment and then 12 explain in detail the elements of each of the offenses.

13 The indictment contains 15 counts or charges. Each 14 count charges a separate offense or crime. Each count must 15 therefore be considered separately by you, and you must return 16 a separate verdict on each count.

17 Count One charges that: From at least in or about 18 2010, up to and including in or about 2020, Mr. Ray conspired, 19 or agreed with others, to conduct and participate, directly and 20 indirectly, in the conduct of the affairs of an enterprise 21 through a pattern of racketeering activity, which pattern of 22 racketeering activity included multiple acts involving 23 extortion, sex trafficking, forced labor, forced labor 24 trafficking, the use of interstate commerce to promote unlawful 25 activity, money laundering, witness tampering, and obstruction

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 of justice, in violation of Title 18, United States Code,
2 Section 1962(d).

3 Count Two charges that: From at least in or about
4 2011, up to and including in or about 2019, Mr. Ray conspired 5 with others to commit extortion by using force and threats of 6 force to collect money from persons for supposed wrongdoing, in 7 violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1951.

8 Count Three charges that: From at least in or about 9 2011, up to and including in or about 2019, Mr. Ray and others 10 committed extortion by using force and threats of force to 11 collect money from Claudia Drury, for supposed wrongdoing, in 12 violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1951 and 2.

13 Count Four charges that: From at least in or about 14 2011, up to and including in or about 2019, Mr. Ray committed 15 sex trafficking of Claudia Drury by force, threats of force, or 16 coercion, or any combination of such means, in violation of 17 Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1951 and 2.

18 Count Five charges that: From at least in or about 19 2011, up to and including in or about 2019, Mr. Ray conspired 20 with others to commit sex trafficking of Claudia Drury by 21 force, threats of force or coercion, or any combination of such 22 means, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 23 1594.

24 Count Six charges that: From at least in or about May 25 2013, to at least in or about December 2013, Mr. Ray obtained

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 forced labor from multiple persons, in violation of Title 18,
2 United States Code, Sections 1589 and 2.

3 Count Seven charges that: From at least in or about 4 May 2013, to at least in or about December 2013, Mr. Ray 5 trafficked multiple persons for the purpose of obtaining their 6 forced labor, in violation of Title 18, United States Code,
7 Sections 1590 and 2.

8 Count Eight charges that: From at least in or about 9 May 2013, to at least in or about December 2013, Mr. Ray and 10 others conspired to obtain forced labor from multiple persons, 11 in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1594.

12 Count Nine charges that: From at least in or about 13 2014, to at least in or about 2019, Mr. Ray used facilities of 14 interstate commerce and traveled in interstate commerce to 15 promote, manage, and carry on a criminal business engaged in 16 sex trafficking and prostitution, in violation of Title 18,
17 United States Code, Sections 1952 and 2.

18 Count Ten charges that: From at least in or about 19 2011, to at least in or about 2019, Mr. Ray and others 20 laundered the proceeds of extortion and sex trafficking, in 21 violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1956 and 2.

22 Counts Eleven through Fourteen charge that Mr. Ray 23 committed tax evasion in 201, 2017, 2018, and 2019, in 24 violation of Title 26, United States Code, Section 7201.

25 Count Fifteen charges that: From on or about October

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 16, 2018, at a hotel in Manhattan, Mr. Ray committed an assault 2 with a dangerous weapon, at least in part to gain entrance to 3 and maintain any previous position in an enterprise engaged in 4 racketeering activity, in violation of Title 18, United States
5 Code, Section 1959(a)(3).

6 The indictment alleges that certain conduct occurred 7 on or about various dates or during various time periods. It 8 is not necessary, however, for the government to prove that any 9 conduct occurred exactly when the indictment alleges. As long 10 as the conduct occurred around any dates or within any time 11 periods the indictment alleges it occurred, that is sufficient.

12 You must return a separate verdict of guilty or not 13 guilty for each count charged. Whether you find the defendant 14 guilty or not guilty as to one offense should not affect your 15 verdict as to any other offense. You must analyze and evaluate 16 the evidence separately as to each count.

17 Now, I am going to give you the general definitions 18 for knowingly, intentionally, and unlawfully, conspiracy, and 19 aiding and abetting, terms that you will hear throughout this 20 instruction.

21 Before I instruct you on each of the counts 22 specifically, I will define some terms and concepts that will 23 come up repeatedly in these instructions. Specifically, I will 24 be discussing the concepts of both conspiring to commit various 25 crimes and aiding and abetting various crimes, so it makes

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 sense to explain these concepts at the outset. Similarly, we 2 will discuss whether certain actions are taken knowingly,
3 intentionally or unlawfully, so I will also define these terms
4 before we discuss the counts. You can take these explanations 5 and definitions and apply them as I instruct you on each of the 6 counts.

7 One note. As you will learn, although the defendant 8 is charged with federal crimes in a federal court, some of the 9 counts incorporate some state penal laws as well. I will 10 discuss them in more detail later.

11 For now, you should be aware that Count One, which 12 concerns racketeering activity, incorporates some state penal 13 laws as well. They are called racketeering acts, and I will 14 discuss them in more detail later. However, I raise this 15 because there are slight differences between the definitions of 16 conspiracy in state law and federal law. I will provide you 17 with both. Please apply federal conspiracy law when 18 considering violations of federal law and state conspiracy law 19 when considering violations of state law for certain 20 racketeering acts alleged in Count One.

21 Throughout these instructions I will use the terms
22 unlawfully, knowingly, intentionally, and willfully.

23 Unlawfully simply means contrary to law. A defendant 24 does not need to have known that he was breaking any particular 25 law, but he must have been aware of the generally unlawful

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 nature of his acts.

2 A person acts knowingly when he acts intentionally and 3 voluntarily, and not because of ignorance, mistake, accident, 4 or carelessness. Whether a defendant acted knowingly may be 5 proved by his conduct and by all the facts and circumstances 6 surrounding the case.

7 A person acts intentionally when he acts deliberately 8 and purposefully. That is, Mr. Ray's acts must have been the 9 product of his conscious, objective decision rather than the 10 product of a mistake or accident.

11 A person acts willfully when he acts intentionally and 12 purposely with the intent to do something that the law forbids; 13 that is, with the bad purpose to disobey or disregard the law.
14 It is not necessary that the person knew he was violating a 15 particular law; it is enough if he was aware that what he was 16 doing was in general unlawful. For the tax evasion counts, 17 willfully means something slightly different. I will instruct 18 you on that later.

19 Knowledge is a matter of inference from the proven
20 facts. Science has not yet devised a manner of looking into a 21 person's mind and knowing what that person is thinking. You 22 must consider the evidence and lack of evidence in making a 23 determination as to Mr. Ray's state of mind.

24 Before I move on to the counts of the indictment, I 25 want to instruct you on the concept of aiding and abetting.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 In connection with Counts One, Three, Four, Six, 2 Seven, Nine, and Ten, Mr. Ray is charged with committing 3 certain criminal acts and also with aiding and abetting the 4 commission of those acts. Aiding and abetting is its own 5 theory of criminal liability. In effect, it's a theory of 6 liability that permits a defendant to be convicted of a 7 specific crime if the defendant, while not himself committing 8 the crime, assisted another person or persons in committing the 9 crime.

10 Thus, Mr. Ray may be guilty of a substantive offense
11 if he aid and abets, which means essentially that he assists 12 another person in committing the offense. The principle that 13 an aider and abettor of a crime is also liable applies both 14 under federal law, where it is contained in a statute called 15 Title 18, United States Code, Section 2, and under New York 16 State law. The standards under federal and state law for 17 aiding and abetting liability are the same.

18 Under the federal aiding and abetting statute, whoever 19 aids, abets, counsels, commands, induces, or procures the 20 commission of an offense is punishable as a principal. You 21 should give these words their ordinary meaning. A person aids 22 or abets a crime if he knowingly does some act for the purpose 23 of aiding or encouraging the commission of that crime, with the 24 intention of causing the crime charged to be committed. To 25 counsel means to give advice or recommend. To induce means to

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 lead or move by persuasion or influence as to some answer or 2 state of mind. To procure means to bring about by unscrupulous 3 or indirect means. To cause means to bring something about, to 4 effect something.

5 As you can see, the first requirement is that another 6 person has committed the crime charged. Obviously, no one can 7 be convicted of aiding and abetting the criminal acts of 8 another if no crime was committed by the other person. But if 9 you do find that a crime was committed by another person, then 10 you must consider whether Mr. Ray aided or abetted the 11 commission of the crime.

12 I emphasize, however, that to aid and abet another to 13 commit a crime, it is necessary that Mr. Ray willfully and 14 knowingly associated himself in some way with the crime, and 15 that he willfully and knowingly sought by some act to help make 16 the crime succeed. Participation in a crime is willful if 17 action is taken voluntarily and intentionally or, in the case
18 of a failure to act, with the specific intent to fail to do 19 something the law requires to be done, that is to say, with a 20 bad purpose either to disobey or disregard the law.

21 An aider and abettor must have some interest in the 22 criminal venture and must take some action to assist or 23 encourage the commission of the crime. The mere presence of a 24 person where a crime is being committed, even coupled with 25 knowledge by that person that a crime is being committed, or

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 the mere acquiescence by a person in the criminal conduct of 2 others, even with guilty knowledge, is not sufficient to 3 establish aiding and abetting.

4 To determine whether Mr. Ray aided and abetted the 5 commission of the crime with which he is charged, ask yourself
6 these questions: First, did he participate in the crime 7 charged as something he wished to bring about? Second, did he 8 associate himself with the criminal venture knowingly and 9 willfully? Third, did he seek by his actions to make the 10 criminal venture succeed?

11 If he did, then Mr. Ray is an aider and bettor and 12 therefore guilty of the offense. If he did not, then Mr. Ray 13 is not an aider and abettor and is not guilty as an aider and 14 abettor.

15 The law of conspiracy applies to Count One, the charge
16 of conspiracy to violate the RICO statute, and to Counts Two, 17 Five, and Eight, the charges of conspiracy to commit extortion, 18 sex trafficking, and forced labor.

19 A conspiracy is a kind of criminal partnership, an 20 agreement of two or more persons to join together to accomplish 21 some unlawful purpose.

22 Conspiracy simply means agreement, and the crime of 23 conspiracy to violate a federal law is an independent offense, 24 separate and distinct from the actual violation of any specific 25 federal laws. Such actual violations are called substantive

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 crimes. You may find a defendant guilty of the crime of 2 conspiracy even if you find that the substantive crimes which 3 were the objects of the conspiracy were never actually 4 committed.

5 To find Mr. Ray guilty of participating in a 6 conspiracy, you must find the government has proven beyond a 7 reasonable doubt the following two elements:

8 First, that two or more persons entered the unlawful 9 agreement charged in the conspiracy count that you are 10 considering.

11 Second, that Mr. Ray unlawfully, intentionally, and 12 knowingly became a member of the conspiracy, that is, he 13 knowingly joined in the conspiracy and intentionally 14 participated in it.

15 To prove the existence of a conspiracy, the government
16 is not required to show that two or more people sat around a 17 table and entered into a solemn pact, orally or in writing, 18 stating that they have formed a conspiracy to violate the law 19 and spelling out all of the details. Indeed, it would be 20 extraordinary if there were such a formal document or specific 21 agreement.

22 Common sense tells you that when people agree to enter 23 into a criminal conspiracy, much is left to unexpressed
24 understanding. It is rare that a conspiracy can be proven by 25 direct evidence of an explicit agreement. Conspirators do not

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 usually reduce their agreements to writing, nor do they 2 publicly broadcast their plans. By its very nature, a 3 conspiracy is almost always secret in its origin and execution.

4 It is enough if two or more persons in some way or 5 manner, through any contrivance, impliedly or tacitly, come to 6 a common understanding to violate the law. Express language or 7 specific words are not required to indicate assent or 8 attachment to a conspiracy. Nor is it required that you find 9 that any particular number of alleged coconspirators joined in 10 the conspiracy in order to find that a conspiracy existed. You 11 need only find that two or more people entered into an unlawful 12 agreement in order to find that a conspiracy existed.

13 In determining whether there has been an unlawful 14 agreement, you should consider the proven acts and conduct of 15 the alleged coconspirators that were taken to carry out the 16 apparent criminal purpose. The old adage, actions speak louder 17 than words, is applicable here. Often the only evidence that 18 is available is that of disconnected acts that, when taken 19 together in connection with one another, so a conspiracy or an 20 agreement to secure a particular result, such as 21 satisfactorily -- let me start again. Often the only evidence 22 that is available is that of disconnected acts that, when taken 23 together in connection with one another, show a conspiracy or 24 an agreement to secure a particular result just as 25 satisfactorily and conclusively as more direct proof.

M45MRAY4

Charge

1 In deciding whether the conspiracy charged in the 2 indictment existed, you may consider the evidence of the acts, 3 conduct, and statements of Mr. Ray along with the evidence of 4 the acts, conduct, and statements of those you determine the 5 government has proven were coconspirators of Mr. Ray, and the 6 reasonable inferences to be drawn from that evidence. When 7 people enter into a conspiracy to accomplish an unlawful end, 8 they become agents or partners of one another in carrying out
9 the conspiracy. Accordingly, the reasonably foreseeable acts 10 or statements of any member of the conspiracy committed in 11 furtherance of the common purpose of the conspiracy are deemed, 12 under the law, to be the acts and statements all members of the 13 conspiracy, and all members of the conspiracy are responsible 14 for such acts or statements. This rule applies even though 15 such acts or statements were not made or committed in Mr. Ray's 16 presence or were made or committed without his knowledge.

M451RAY5

1 THE COURT: Before you may consider the acts or 2 statements of a co-conspirator in deciding the guilt of 3 Mr. Ray, however, you must first determine that the acts were 4 committed or statements were made during the existence of, and 5 in furtherance of, the alleged unlawful scheme. If the acts 6 were done or the statements were made by someone whom you do 7 not find to have been a member of the conspiracy, or if they 8 were not in furtherance of the charged conspiracy, they may not 9 be considered by you in deciding whether Mr. Ray is guilty of 10 conspiracy.

11 Proof concerning the accomplishment of the object of a 12 conspiracy may be persuasive evidence that the conspiracy 13 itself existed, but it is not necessary, as I have said, that 14 the conspiracy actually succeeded for you to conclude that it 15 existed. In deciding whether the conspiracy charged existed, 16 you may consider all the evidence of the acts, conducts, and 17 statements of the alleged co-conspirators and the reasonable 18 inferences to be drawn from that evidence.

19 It is sufficient to establish the existence of the 20 conspiracy if, after considering all of the relevant evidence, 21 you find beyond a reasonable doubt that the minds of at least 22 two alleged conspirators met in an understanding way, and that 23 they agreed, as I have explained, to work together to 24 accomplish an object or objective of the conspiracy.

25 It is not necessary for the government to show that an

M451RAY5

1 alleged co-conspirator was fully informed as to all the details 2 of the conspiracy for you to infer knowledge on that person's 3 part. To have guilty knowledge, a person need not know the 4 full extent of the conspiracy, or all of the activities of all
5 of its participants. It is not necessary for a person to know 6 every other member of the conspiracy. In fact, a person may 7 know only one other member of the conspiracy and still be a 8 co-conspirator. Nor is it necessary for a person to receive 9 any monetary benefit from his or her participation in the 10 conspiracy or to have a financial stake in the outcome. It is 11 enough if that person participated as a conspirator unlawfully, 12 intentionally, and knowingly, as I have defined those terms.

13 The duration and extent of a person's participation 14 also has no bearing on the issue of that person's guilt. An 15 alleged co-conspirator need not have joined the conspiracy at 16 the outset but may have joined it for any purpose at any time 17 in its progress and will still be held responsible for all that 18 was done before he or she joined and all that was done during 19 the conspiracy's existence while he or she was a member. Each 20 member of a conspiracy may perform separate and distinct acts 21 and may perform them at different times. Some conspirators 22 play major roles, others play minor roles. An equal role is 23 not what the law requires. Even a single act may be sufficient 24 to draw a person within the ambit of the conspiracy.

25 I want to caution you, however, that the mere

M451RAY5

1 association by one person with another does not make that 2 person a member of the conspiracy, even when coupled with 3 knowledge that a conspiracy is taking place. Mere presence at 4 the scene of a crime, even coupled with knowledge that a crime 5 is taking place, is not sufficient to support a conviction. In 6 other words, knowledge without participation is not sufficient.
7 What is necessary is that a defendant has participated in the 8 conspiracy with knowledge of its unlawful purposes and with 9 intent to aid in the accomplishment of its unlawful objectives.

10 The defendant, with an understanding of the unlawful 11 character of the conspiracy, must have intentionally engaged, 12 advised, or assisted in the conspiracy for the purpose of 13 furthering an illegal undertaking. The defendant thereby 14 becomes a knowing and willing participant in the unlawful 15 agreement—that is to say, he becomes a conspirator.

16 A conspiracy, once formed, is presumed to continue 17 until either its objective is accomplished or there is some 18 affirmative act of termination by its members. So, too, once a 19 person is found to be a member of a conspiracy, that person is 20 presumed to continue being a member in the venture until the 21 venture is terminated, unless it is shown by some affirmative 22 proof that the person withdrew and disassociated himself from 23 it.

24 Now I have one more short instruction before I take 25 our lunch break. It has to do with the state law of

M451RAY5

1 conspiracy, and it's a short instruction, but it's an important
2 one.

3 As I told you earlier, we will also discuss some state
4 penal laws. The state law of conspiracy in New York differs 5 from the federal law of conspiracy.

6 In particular, in order for the government to prove 7 beyond a reasonable doubt that a person conspired to commit a 8 crime under New York State law, the government must show the 9 following:

10 First, that the individual agreed with one or more 11 other persons to engage in or cause the performance of the 12 crime;

13 Second, that the individual did so with the intent 14 that such crime be performed; and

15 Third, that the individual, or one of the people with 16 whom he agreed to conspire or cause the performance of the 17 conduct committed an overt act in furtherance of the 18 conspiracy.

19 The term "intent" under New York conspiracy law has 20 its own special meaning. "Intent" means conscious objective or 21 purpose. That is, a person acts with intent that crime be 22 committed when his conscious objective or purpose is that the 23 crime should occur. Under New York law, the government must 24 also prove that one of the conspirators committed an overt act 25 in furtherance of the conspiracy. The agreement to engage in

M451RAY5

1 or cause the performance of a crime is not itself an overt act.
2 The overt act must be an independent act that tends to carry 3 out the conspiracy. The overt act can be, but need not be, the 4 commission of the crime that was the object of the conspiracy.

5 Note that under state law, unlike the federal law that 6 I have described to you, an overt act is an element of 7 conspiracy. Accordingly, when considering an intended 8 racketeering act that is alleged to be a violation of state
9 conspiracy laws, consider whether Mr. Ray agreed that he or a 10 co-conspirator would commit an overt act in furtherance of that 11 racketeering act and that an overt act in furtherance of the 12 racketeering act took place. However, when considering either 13 an intended racketeering act that is alleged to be a violation 14 of federal conspiracy laws—or considering the conspiracies 15 charged in Counts One, Two, Five, and Eight—you need not find 16 an overt act.

17 Members of the jury, that concludes some of my general
18 instructions. We're going to take a lunch break now and then 19 we'll return for instructions with respect to racketeering, the 20 substantive crimes, and some remaining instructions.

21 It's now 1:10. What I'd like to do is take a break 22 until 1:45. That will ensure that I get through my 23 instructions before we break for the day. If any of the jurors 24 has a problem with that short a lunch break, just let my deputy 25 know and we'll take a little bit of a longer lunch break, but

M451RAY5

1 I'd like the lunch break to be that short because I also want 2 to give you some stretch breaks during the remainder of my 3 instruction.

4 THE DEPUTY CLERK: All rise.

5 (Jury not present)

6 THE COURT: Be seated.

7 Anything further from the government before we take 8 our lunch break?

9 MS. SASSOON: No. Thank you, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: From the defense?

11 MS. LENOX: No. Thank you.

12 THE COURT: All right. Everybody should try to get 13 here, please, by 1:40, because if the jury is ready, I'm 14 bringing them in even if counsel is not at their table.

15 (Luncheon recess)

1 AFTERNOON SESSION

2 1:45 p.m.

3 (In open court; jury present)

4 THE COURT: Be seated.

5 I will now start with some general instructions
6 regarding the charge of racketeering conspiracy.

7 Count One alleges that Mr. Ray conspired to violate 8 Section 1962(c) of Title 18 of the United States Code, commonly 9 known as the RICO statute, which stands for "Racketeering 10 Influence and Corrupt Organizations." This means that the 11 defendant has been charged with conspiracy to conduct or 12 participate in the affairs of an enterprise through a pattern 13 of racketeering activity. "Racketeering," as used in this 14 statute, is a purely technical term that is defined 15 specifically for this statute. The word "racketeering" has 16 certain implications in our society. Use of that term in that 17 statute and in this courtroom should not be regarded as having 18 anything to do with your determination of whether the guilt of 19 this defendant has been proven. The term is only a word used 20 by Congress to describe the statute. You should put out of 21 your mind whatever meaning the term may have for you in 22 ordinary English, and the term should not influence your 23 determination of whether the government has proven Mr. Ray 24 guilty beyond a reasonable doubt on Count One or any other 25 count. All that matters is whether the government has proved

M451RAY5

1 beyond a reasonable doubt each of the elements that make up a
2 violation of this statute, as I'm going to define them for you.

3 The statute that the indictment charges that Mr. Ray
4 conspired to violate provides, and I quote:

5 "It shall be unlawful for any person employed by or 6 associated with any enterprise engaged in, or the activities of 7 which affect, interstate or foreign commerce, to conduct or 8 participate, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of such 9 enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering
10 activity."

11 Mr. Ray is charged in Count One with participating in 12 a conspiracy to violate this substantive RICO statute, in 13 violation of Title 18 of the United States Code, 14 Section 1962(d), which states: "It shall be unlawful for any 15 person to conspire to violate any of the provisions of the RICO 16 laws."

17 Count One charges that Mr. Ray participated in a 18 conspiracy whose object was to conduct and participate in the 19 conduct of the racketeering enterprise through a pattern of 20 racketeering activity. Count One defines the enterprise as a 21 criminal organization whose members and associates engaged in, 22 among other things, acts involving extortion, sex trafficking, 23 forced labor, force labor trafficking, the use of interstate 24 commerce to promote unlawful activity, money laundering, 25 witness tampering, and obstruction of justice, in and around

1 the Southern District of New York and elsewhere.

2 In order to prove that Mr. Ray is guilty of the 3 racketeering conspiracy charged in Count One, the government
4 must establish beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following
5 elements of the offense:

6 First, that there was an agreement among two or more 7 persons to participate in an enterprise that would affect 8 interstate commerce through a pattern of racketeering activity;

9 Second, that Mr. Ray knowingly and wilfully became a 10 member of that agreement; and 11 Third, that Mr. Ray or another member of the 12 conspiracy agreed to commit two racketeering acts, as I will 13 define that term for you.

14 The first element the government must establish beyond 15 a reasonable doubt is that there was a conspiracy among two or 16 more persons to participate in an enterprise that would affect 17 interstate commerce through a pattern of racketeering activity.

18 As I previously instructed, a "conspiracy" is an 19 agreement among two or more persons to achieve an unlawful 20 object. To show a conspiratorial agreement, the government is 21 not required to prove that two or more persons entered into a 22 solemn pact, but only that two or more persons explicitly or 23 implicitly came to an understanding to achieve the specified 24 unlawful object, whether or not they were successful.

25 In this case, the alleged unlawful object is the

M451RAY5

1 formation of an enterprise whose activities would affect 2 interstate commerce through a pattern of racketeering activity.
3 Let me define these terms for you.

4 For the purposes of this case, an "enterprise" is a 5 group of people who have associated together for a common 6 purpose of engaging in a course of conduct over a period of 7 time. This group of people, in addition to having a common 8 purpose, must have an ongoing organization, either formal or 9 informal, and it must have a core of personnel who function as 10 a continuing unit. This group of people does not have to be a 11 legally recognized entity, such as a partnership or 12 corporation. This group may be organized for a legitimate and 13 lawful purpose, or it may be organized for an unlawful purpose.

14 The definition of "interstate commerce" is the 15 movement of goods, services, money, and individuals between 16 states, or between states and the District of Columbia or a US 17 territory.

18 Although the government must prove that the enterprise 19 did or would affect interstate commerce, the effect need not be 20 substantial. A minimal effect is enough. It's sufficient, for 21 example, that in the course of the racketeering activities, 22 members of the enterprise traveled interstate, or used 23 telephone facilities interstate. Interstate commerce includes 24 the movement of goods, services, money, and individuals between 25 states. The commerce affected or potentially affected need not

M451RAY5

1 be lawful commerce. Thus, if you find that the alleged 2 racketeering enterprise engaged in, for example, sex 3 trafficking that affected interstate commerce, you may find 4 that the government satisfied this element, even if the primary 5 activities of the enterprise all occurred within a single 6 state.

7 The government is not required to prove that Mr. Ray
8 knew that interstate commerce was or would be affected. All 9 that is necessary is that you find beyond a reasonable doubt 10 that the activities of the enterprise affected or would affect 11 interstate commerce in some minimal way.

12 Finally, to prove that the acts constituted a pattern 13 of racketeering activity, the government must prove that the 14 acts of racketeering are related to each other and that they 15 amount to or pose a threat of continued criminal activity. It 16 is not sufficient for the government to prove only that two of 17 the racketeering acts I will describe were committed. A series 18 of disconnected acts does not constitute a pattern, and a 19 series of disconnected crimes does not constitute a pattern of 20 racketeering activity, nor do they amount to or pose a threat 21 of continued racketeering activity. To prove that the acts of 22 racketeering are related, the government must prove that the 23 acts had the same or similar purposes, results, participants, 24 victims, or methods of commission, or that they are otherwise 25 interrelated by distinguishing characteristics and are not

M451RAY5

1 isolated events. To prove that the racketeering acts amount to 2 or pose a threat of continued racketeering activity, the 3 government must establish either that there were a series of 4 related predicate acts that extended over a substantial period 5 of time or that there is a threat of continued activity, for 6 example, because the acts are part of a long-term association 7 that exists for criminal purposes, or that they are a regular 8 way of conducting the affairs of the enterprise.

9 The second element that the government must prove 10 beyond a reasonable doubt with respect to Count One is that at 11 some point defendant knowingly and wilfully became a member of 12 the conspiracy charged in the indictment.

13 If you are satisfied that the conspiracy charged in 14 the indictment existed, you must next ask yourselves who the 15 members of that conspiracy were. In deciding whether Mr. Ray 16 was, in fact, a member of the conspiracy, you should consider 17 whether Mr. Ray knowingly and wilfully joined the conspiracy.
18 Did he participate in it with knowledge of its unlawful purpose 19 and with the specific intention of furthering its objectives as 20 an associate or worker?

21 In that regard, it has been said that in order for a 22 defendant to be deemed a participant in a conspiracy, he must 23 have had a stake in the venture or its outcome. You are 24 instructed that, while proof of a financial interest in the 25 outcome of a scheme is not essential, if you find that Mr. Ray

M451RAY5

1 had such an interest, that is a fact that you may properly
2 consider in determining whether or not Mr. Ray was a member of 3 the conspiracy charged in the indictment.

4 As I mentioned a moment ago, before Mr. Ray can be 5 found to have been a conspirator, you must first find that he 6 knowingly joined in the unlawful agreement or plan. The key 7 question, therefore, is whether Mr. Ray joined the conspiracy 8 with an awareness of the basic aims and purposes of the 9 unlawful agreement.

10 It is important to note that Mr. Ray's participation 11 in the conspiracy must be established by independent evidence 12 of his own acts or statements, as well as those of the other 13 alleged conspirators, and the reasonable inferences that may be 14 drawn from them.

15 A person's knowledge is a matter of inference from the 16 facts proved. In that connection, I instruct you that to 17 become a member of the conspiracy, that person need not have 18 known the identities of each and every other member, nor need 19 he have been apprised of all of their activities. Moreover, 20 that person need not have been fully informed as to all of the 21 details, or the scope, of the conspiracy in order to justify an 22 inference of knowledge on his part.

23 I want to caution you that mere knowledge or 24 acquiescence, without participation, in the unlawful plan is 25 not sufficient. Moreover, the fact that the acts of a person,

M451RAY5

1 without knowledge, merely happen to further the purposes or 2 objectives of the conspiracy, does not make that person a 3 member. More is required under the law. What is necessary is 4 that the person must have participated with knowledge of at 5 least some of the purposes or objectives of the conspiracy and 6 with the intention of aiding in the accomplishment of those 7 unlawful ends.

8 In sum, Mr. Ray, with an understanding of the unlawful 9 character of the conspiracy, must have intentionally engaged, 10 advised, or assisted in it for the purpose of furthering the 11 illegal undertaking. If you find that the government has 12 proven beyond a reasonable doubt that he has done so, then he 13 thereby becomes a knowing and willing participant in the 14 unlawful agreement—that is to say, a conspirator.

15 The third element the government must prove beyond a 16 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or another member of the 17 conspiracy agreed to commit two racketeering acts.

18 The focus of this element is on Mr. Ray's agreement to 19 participate in the objectives of the enterprise to engage in a 20 pattern of racketeering activity and not on Mr. Ray's agreement 21 to commit the individual criminal acts. For a racketeering
22 activity, the government must prove that Mr. Ray participated 23 in some manner in the overall objectives of the conspiracy, and 24 that the conspiracy involved, or would have involved, the 25 commission of two racketeering acts. The government is not

M451RAY5

1 required to prove either that Mr. Ray agreed to commit two 2 racketeering acts or that he actually committed two such acts, 3 although you may conclude that he agreed to participate in the 4 conduct of the enterprise from proof that he agreed to commit 5 or actually committed such acts.

6 For the purposes of this count, the indictment alleges 7 nine types of racketeering acts, which I will instruct you on 8 shortly. Again, the government must prove that two 9 racketeering acts were, or were intended to be, committed as 10 part of the conspiracy, although it need not prove that Mr. Ray 11 committed or agreed to commit any of these acts, as long as the 12 government proves that he knew about and agreed to facilitate 13 in some manner the overall objective of the conspiracy.

14 I will now explain the law governing the nine types of 15 racketeering acts that the government has alleged. In order to 16 convict Mr. Ray of the racketeering conspiracy offense, your 17 verdict must be unanimous as to which type or types of 18 predicate racketeering activity Mr. Ray agreed, explicitly or 19 implicitly, would be committed, either by himself or a 20 co-conspirator. For example, at least two acts of the 21 following types: extortion, under either federal or state law; 22 sex trafficking; forced labor; forced labor trafficking; the 23 use of interstate commerce to promote unlawful activity; money
24 laundering; witness tampering; obstruction of justice. If you 25 find that the conspiracy did not exist, or that it did not

M451RAY5

1 affect interstate commerce, or that Mr. Ray was not a member of 2 the conspiracy or enterprise, you should not consider whether 3 the government has established any of the racketeering acts.

4 Continuing on with Count One, I'm now going to explain 5 to you the specific types of racketeering acts that are alleged 6 in the indictment. I'm going to go through them one by one.

7 As to the racketeering activity alleged here, Count
8 One alleges that the following categories of acts and offenses 9 were committed, or were intended to be committed, as part of 10 the conspiracy:

11 Acts involving extortion and conspiracy to commit
12 extortion in violation of federal law, specifically the Hobbs
13 Act, Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1951 and 2;

14 Acts involving extortion, conspiracy to commit
15 extortion, and attempted extortion, in violation of New York 16 State Penal Law Sections 155.05(2), 155.40(2), 110.00, and 17 20.00;

18 Acts involving sex trafficking by force or coercion in 19 violation of federal law, specifically Title 18, United States
20 Code, Sections 1591 and 2;

21 Acts involving forced labor in violation of federal 22 law, specifically Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1589
23 and 2;

24 Acts involving forced labor trafficking in violation
25 of federal law, specifically Title 18, United States Code,

M451RAY5

1 Sections 1590 and 2;

2 Acts involving the use of interstate commerce to 3 promote unlawful activity, in violation of federal law,
4 specifically Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1952 and 2;

5 Money laundering, in violation of federal law,
6 specifically, Title 18 United States Code, Sections 1956 and 2;

7 Acts involving witness tampering, in violation of 8 federal law, specifically Title 18, United States Code, 9 Sections 1512 and 2; and

10 Acts involving the obstruction of justice in violation
11 of federal law, specifically Title 18, United States Code, 12 Sections 1503 and 2.

13 In a moment, I will instruct you on the substantive 14 law of each of these offenses. Before I do, let me remind you 15 that the government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that 16 Mr. Ray agreed that either he or a co-conspirator would commit 17 two acts in violation of these statutes within 10 years of each 18 other as part of the charged RICO conspiracy. As I have said, 19 the government need not prove that Mr. Ray himself committed or 20 agreed to personally commit any of these offenses.

21 You will also note that for some of the charged 22 categories of predicate offenses, the indictment charges a 23 violation of more than one statute. I instruct you that, in 24 order to find that a given predicate offense was an object of 25 the charged RICO conspiracy, you need not find that the object

M451RAY5

1 of the conspiracy involved violations of all the listed 2 statutes; rather, you need only find that the object of the 3 conspiracy involved the violation of at least one of the 4 specified statutes, but you must be unanimous as to which one 5 or ones.

6 You'll also note as to some of these offenses, I'm 7 going to use the term "aiding and abetting," which I have 8 already defined for you.

9 The indictment alleges that one of the categories of 10 criminal violations that was committed or was intended to be 11 committed as part of the RICO conspiracy charged in Count 12 One—that is, one of the predicate acts—was violations of the 13 Hobbs Act, Title 18, United States Code, Section 1951. The 14 Hobbs Act makes it illegal to interfere with commerce through 15 extortion. Section 1951 provides, in relevant part:

16 "Whoever in any way or degree obstructs, delays, or 17 affects commerce or the movement of an article or commodity in 18 commerce, by . . . extortion or attempts or conspires so to do, 19 or commits or threatens physical violence to any person or 20 property in furtherance of a plan or purpose to do anything in 21 violation of this section [commits a crime]."

22 In order to meet its burden of proving that Mr. Ray or 23 a co-conspirator committed extortion, the government must 24 establish beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following 25 elements:

M451RAY5

1 First, that the individual—that is, Mr. Ray, or a 2 co-conspirator—wrongfully obtained the property of another;

3 Second, that the individual obtained this property
4 with the victim's consent, but that this consent was compelled 5 by the wrongful use or threat of force, violence, or fear; and 6 Third, that as a result of the individual's actions, 7 interstate commerce, or an item moving in interstate commerce,

8 was delayed, obstructed, or affected in any way or degree.

9 Now let me explain these elements in more detail.

10 The first element that the government must prove
11 beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a co-conspirator
12 wrongfully obtained or took the personal property of another, 13 or from the presence of another. The term "property" includes 14 money and other tangible and intangible things of value that 15 are capable of being transferred from one person to another.

16 The second element the government must prove beyond a 17 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a co-conspirator wrongfully 18 took this property by actual or threatened force, violence, or 19 fear of injury or economic harm, whether immediately or in the 20 future.

21 It is not necessary that force, violence, and fear all 22 were used or threatened. It is enough if any of them were used 23 or threatened.

24 Now let me turn for a moment to the concept of threat.
25 Threats need not be direct. They may be veiled threats made by

M451RAY5

1 suggestion, implication, or inference, though such inference on 2 the part of the person extorted must be reasonable. You may 3 also consider whether the implicit threat of violence permeated
4 the relationship. Whether an implied or veiled reference 5 amounts to a threat is a matter for you to decide under all the 6 circumstances.

7 In considering whether force, violence, or fear was 8 used or threatened, you should give those words their common 9 and ordinary meaning and understand them as you normally would 10 in conversation. The threatened violence does not have to be 11 directed at the person whose property was taken. The use of a 12 threat of force or violence might be aimed at a third person, 13 or at causing economic, rather than physical harm. A threat
14 may be made verbally or by a physical gesture, or, as I 15 explained earlier, a threat may be veiled or implied. Whether 16 a statement or physical gesture actually was a threat depends 17 on all of the circumstances.

18 Fear exists if at least one victim experiences 19 anxiety, concern, or worry over expected personal harm, or 20 loss, or financial security. The existence of fear must be 21 determined by the facts that existed at the time property was 22 taken. Your decision whether fear or injury has been used or 23 threatened involves a decision about people's state of mind at 24 the time the property is taken. It is obviously impossible to 25 ascertain or prove directly what a person actually felt. You

M451RAY5

1 cannot look into a person's mind to see what his state of mind
2 actually was, but a careful consideration of the circumstances 3 and the evidence should enable you to decide whether fear 4 reasonably would have been the person's state of mind.

5 Fear of physical or economic injury or personal harm 6 may be found to be reasonable if, considering the demand for 7 money, the person who would have made the demand, and the 8 nature of the conduct, a reasonable person would get the 9 message clearly. There need not be an explicit demand for 10 money; the demand may have been implicit in the perpetrator's 11 conduct or other statements.

12 Looking at the situation and the actions of people 13 involved may help you determine what their state of mind was.
14 You have also heard the testimony of some witnesses describing 15 their state of mind—that is, how they felt—in giving up the 16 property. You can consider this kind of testimony in deciding 17 whether the property was obtained or sought through the use of 18 fear.

19 It is not necessary that the fear be a consequence of 20 a direct threat. It is sufficient that the surrounding 21 circumstances render the person's fear reasonable. You must 22 find that a reasonable person would have been fearful in the 23 circumstances. If you find that the defendant, or the alleged 24 enterprise, cultivated a reputation for violence and 25 intimidation, you may consider that reputation in assessing

M451RAY5

1 whether payments were induced by the exploitation of existing 2 fear without an explicit or implicit threat.

3 As part of this element, the government must also 4 prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or a 5 co-conspirator wrongfully took this property by actual or 6 threatened force, violence, or fear of injury or economic harm, 7 whether immediately or in the future.

8 Here, the defense has asserted that Mr. Ray believed 9 that he was entitled to the property at issue. If you decide 10 that the actual or threatened use of force or violence or the 11 fear of injury was used to obtain the property, then that is 12 inherently wrongful, and you need not consider Mr. Ray's claim 13 of right to the property. In short, the law recognizes that 14 you cannot use violence or threats of violence against someone 15 to collect a debt, even if you believe that person owes it to 16 you.

17 If, however, you determine that the government has not 18 proven beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray obtained property 19 through the actual or threatened use of force or violence, you 20 are to consider whether he obtained the property through other 21 wrongful threats, like threats of reputational or financial 22 harm. A defendant cannot be found to have acted wrongfully on 23 the basis that he obtained property by fear of economic or 24 reputational harm if the defendant had a good faith and 25 plausible claim of entitlement to the property demanded and if

M451RAY5

1 there is a nexus between the threat and the claim of right. In 2 that circumstance, you may not convict Mr. Ray unless the 3 government proves beyond a reasonable doubt either (1) that 4 Mr. Ray lacked a good faith claim of entitlement to the 5 property demanded; or (2) that Mr. Ray lacked a plausible claim 6 of entitlement to the property demanded, or (3) there was no
7 nexus between the threat and the claim of right.

8 In determining whether the government has proved 9 beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant lacked a good 10 faith claim of entitlement, you should consider, among other 11 things, the amount of property demanded and the basis for the 12 claim of entitlement. In determining whether the government 13 has proved beyond a reasonable doubt that there is a nexus 14 between the threat and the claim of right, you should consider 15 what relation, if any, the threat has to the claimed 16 entitlement. For example, threatened disclosures of sexual 17 indiscretions that have no nexus with any plausible claim of 18 right are inherently wrongful. By contrast, a threat to 19 complain to a consumer protection agency about a claim to which 20 the threatener has a plausible claim of right is not wrongful, 21 where the disclosures themselves (and not just the threats) 22 have the potential to cause payment of the money demanded, and 23 where the person actually and plausibly believes he is owed the 24 money demanded.

25 As to the third element, I have already instructed you

M451RAY5

1 on the definition of interstate commerce. I further instruct 2 you that money is obtained in a manner that affects interstate 3 commerce if the money is the proceeds of an illegal business 4 that operated across state lines.

5 The second category of predicate acts the indictment
6 alleges was committed or was intended to be committed as part 7 of the RICO conspiracy was extortion, and aiding and abetting
8 the same, in violation of New York State law.

9 In order for the offense of state law extortion to be 10 considered as a racketeering act, the government must prove 11 that Mr. Ray or a co-conspirator agreed to or committed each 12 element of second degree grand larceny under New York State 13 Penal Law Section 155.40(2), beyond a reasonable doubt.

14 Under New York Penal Law Section 155.40(2), a person 15 is guilty of grand larceny in the second degree when that 16 person steals property and when the property, regardless of its 17 nature and value, is obtained by extortion committed by 18 instilling in the victim a fear that the actor or another will:

19 Cause physical injury to some person in the future; or 20 Cause damage to property.

21 The term "steals property" used in this definition has 22 its own special meaning in our law. I will now give you the 23 meaning of that term.

24 A person steals property and commits larceny when, 25 with the intent to deprive another of property or to

M451RAY5

1 appropriate the same to himself or herself or to a third
2 person, such person wrongfully takes, obtains, or withholds
3 such property from an owner of the property.

4 The following terms used in that definition have a
5 special meaning:

6 "Property" means any money, personal property, or 7 thing of value.

8 "Owner" means a person having a right to possession of 9 the property superior to that of the person who takes it.

10 "Intent" means conscious objective or purpose. Thus, 11 a person acts with intent to deprive another of property or to 12 appropriate property to himself or herself or to a third party 13 when such person's conscious objective or purpose is:

14 1. To withhold the property or cause it to be 15 withheld permanently, or

16 2. To exercise control over the property permanently.

17 A person wrongfully takes, obtains, or withholds
18 property from an owner when that person obtains such property, 19 regardless of its nature or value, by extortion.

20 A person obtains property by extortion when that 21 person compels or induces another person to deliver such 22 property to himself or herself or to a third person by means of 23 instilling in that person a fear that, if the property is not 24 so delivered, the actor or another will:

25 Cause physical injury to some person in the future;

M451RAY5

1 Cause damage to property.

2 A violation of New York Penal Law Section 155.40(2)
3 thus requires evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, of the 4 following two elements:

5 1. A person wrongfully obtained property from its 6 owner by extortion; and

7 2. The person did so with the intent to deprive 8 another of the property or to appropriate the property to 9 himself or to a third person.

10 I'll now instruct you with respect to the predicate
11 act of sex trafficking by force or coercion.

12 The third category of predicate acts the indictment
13 alleges was committed or was intended to be committed as part 14 of the RICO conspiracy was the crime of sex trafficking by 15 force, threats of force, or coercion, or any combination of 16 such means, and aiding and abetting the same. This crime is 17 set forth in Title 18, United States Code, Section 1591.

18 Section 1591 provides, in pertinent part:

19 "Whoever knowingly . . . in or affecting interstate 20 . . . commerce, . . . recruits, entices, harbors, transports, 21 provides, obtains, advertises, maintains, patronizes, or 22 solicits by any means a person; or: benefits, financially or by 23 receiving anything of value, from participation in a venture 24 which has engaged in [such] an act . . ., knowing, or, except 25 where the act constituting brackets [such] . . . violation

M451RAY5

1 . . . is advertising, in reckless disregard of the fact, that 2 means of force, threats of force . . . coercion . . ., or any 3 combination of such means will be used to cause the person to 4 engage in a commercial sex act [is guilty of a federal crime]."

5 The crime of sex trafficking by force, threats of 6 force, or coercion, or any combination of such means has the 7 following three elements:

8 First, a person knowingly recruited, enticed,
9 harbored, transported, provided, obtained, advertised,
10 maintained, patronized, or solicited the victim;

11 Or

12 The person knowingly benefited, financially or by 13 receiving anything of value, from participating in a venture 14 that recruited, enticed, harbored, transported, provided, 15 obtained, advertised, maintained, patronized, or solicited the 16 victim;

17 Second, the person knew or recklessly disregarded the 18 fact that force, threats of force, or coercion, or any 19 combination of such means, would be used to cause the victim to 20 engage in a commercial sex act; and

21 Third, the person's acts were in or affecting 22 interstate or foreign commerce.

23 The first element of the crime of sex trafficking is 24 that a person either (1) knowingly recruited, enticed, 25 harbored, transported, provided, obtained, advertised,

M451RAY5

1 maintained, patronized, or solicited the victim; or (2)
2 knowingly benefited, financially or by receiving anything of 3 value, from participating in an enterprise that recruited, 4 enticed, harbored, transported, provided, obtained, maintained,
5 advertised, patronized, or solicited the victim.

6 Therefore, there are two different ways for the 7 government to satisfy the first element. The first way is by 8 proving that the defendant or a co-conspirator knowingly 9 engaged in one of the prohibited trafficking acts. This is by 10 recruiting, enticing, harboring, transporting, providing, 11 obtaining, advertising, maintaining, patronizing, or soliciting
12 a person. The second way is by proving that the defendant or a 13 co-conspirator knowingly took part in a venture that engaged in 14 one of those trafficking activities and benefited, financially 15 or by receiving a thing of value, from that venture. The 16 government does not have to prove that the defendant or a 17 co-conspirator violated the statute both ways.

18 With respect to your consideration of whether the 19 defendant or a co-conspirator knowingly recruited, enticed,
20 harbored, transported, provided, obtained, advertised,
21 maintained, patronized, or solicited a person, I instruct you 22 to use the ordinary, everyday definitions of those terms.
23 "Recruit" means to seek to enroll. "Entice" means to attract, 24 induce, or lure using hope or desire. "Harbor" means to give 25 or afford shelter to, such as in a house or other place.

M451RAY5

1 "Transport" means to take or convey from one place to another.

2 "Provide" means to furnish, supply, or make available.

3 "Obtain" means to gain possession of or acquire. "Advertise"

4 means to publicize. "Patronize" means to visit or obtain

5 services in exchange for money. "Solicit" means to seek out.

6 "Maintain" means to keep in an existing state or support. I

7 instruct you, however, that you may not consider conduct that

8 occurred before May 29, 2015, when determining whether Mr. Ray

9 or a co-conspirator "advertised," "solicited" or "patronized"

10 another person.

11 The second, or alternative, way to prove the first 12 element of sex trafficking is for the government to show that

13 there was a venture that engaged in recruiting, enticing,

14 harboring, transporting, providing, obtaining, advertising,

15 maintaining, patronizing, or soliciting a person; that the 16 defendant or a co-conspirator knowingly participated in some 17 way in that venture; and that the defendant or a co-conspirator

18 knowingly benefited, financially or by receiving anything of 19 value, from that venture. Again, you may not consider conduct

20 that occurred before May 29, 2015, when determining whether

21 Mr. Ray or a co-conspirator benefited from a venture that 22 engaged in "advertising," "soliciting," or "patronizing"

23 another person.

24 In considering whether the defendant or a

25 co-conspirator participated in such a venture, I instruct you

M451RAY5

1 that a venture is defined as "any group of two or more 2 individuals associated in fact, whether or not as a legal 3 entity." You may find that the defendant or a co-conspirator
4 participated in a venture prohibited by the sex trafficking law
5 if the defendant or a co-conspirator took part in that venture
6 in any way. The defendant or a co-conspirator may be, but need 7 not be, responsible for forming that venture. Likewise, the 8 person need not be the organizer or main participants in the 9 venture, and need not have participated throughout the length
10 of the venture. It is enough if the defendant or a 11 co-conspirator took some part in the venture for any period of 12 time while the venture was still ongoing, even if the parts 13 they played were minor, and even if they were not related to 14 the actual recruiting, enticing, harboring, transporting, 15 providing, obtaining, advertising, maintaining, patronizing, or 16 soliciting of a person for commercial sex.

17 To benefit, financially or by receiving anything of 18 value, from a venture, the defendant or a co-conspirator must 19 receive some form of profit, benefit, value, or advantage, no 20 matter how minor or intangible, from the venture.

21 If the defendant or a co-conspirator himself or 22 herself recruited, enticed, harbored, transported, provided, 23 obtained, maintained, advertised, patronized, or solicited a 24 person, you need not consider whether or not that person 25 benefited from doing so.

M451RAY5

1 The government must prove that Mr. Ray or a
2 co-conspirator acted knowingly in either the prohibited
3 trafficking activity or joining in a venture that engaged in a 4 prohibited trafficking activity. I have already instructed you
5 regarding what it means to act knowingly. You should apply 6 that instruction here.

7 In deciding whether or not the first element of the 8 sex trafficking statute has been satisfied, you need not all 9 agree that the government has proven the element the first way
10 or the second way. Stated differently, you need not all agree 11 the defendant or a co-conspirator actually recruited, enticed,
12 harbored, transported, provided, obtained, advertised,
13 maintained, patronized, or solicited a person, or also all 14 agree that the defendant or a co-conspirator participated in a 15 venture that did one of those things and benefited thereby.
16 You need only all agree that the government has proven beyond a 17 reasonable doubt that the defendant or a co-conspirator did one 18 or the other of those two alternatives that I described for 19 you.

20 The second element of sex trafficking requires the 21 government to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the 22 defendant or a co-conspirator knew, or recklessly disregarded, 23 that force, threats of force, or coercion, or any combination 24 of such means, would be used to cause the victim to engage in a 25 commercial sex act.

M451RAY5

1 This element speaks to the state of mind of the 2 defendant or a co-conspirator while engaging in any of the 3 actions I described in connection with the first element. Like 4 the first element, this second element can be proven in two 5 different ways.

6 One way to prove the second element is to demonstrate 7 that the defendant or a co-conspirator engaged in any of the 8 actions I described in connection with the first element 9 knowing that force, threats of force, or coercion, or any 10 combination of such means, would be used to cause the victim to 11 engage in a commercial sex act. Here, I instruct you to apply 12 the definition of "knowing" that I have previously provided to 13 you.

14 In the alternative, this second element can be proven 15 for all of the actions I described in connection with the first 16 element, except for advertising, if it is demonstrated that the 17 defendant or a co-conspirator acted in reckless disregard of 18 the fact that force, threats of force, fraud, or coercion, or 19 any combination of such means, would be used to cause the 20 victim to engage in a commercial sex act.

21 "Reckless disregard" means that the defendant or a 22 co-conspirator acted with reckless indifference to facts that, 23 if considered and weighed in a reasonable manner, indicate the 24 highest probability that force, threats of force, or coercion, 25 or any combination of such means, would be used to cause the

1 victim to engage in a commercial sex act. In order to prove 2 beyond a reasonable doubt that a defendant or a co-conspirator
3 "recklessly disregarded" this fact, the government must prove 4 that such person deliberately closed his or her eyes to what 5 would otherwise have been obvious to him or her. No one can 6 avoid responsibility for a crime by deliberately ignoring what 7 is obvious. A finding beyond a reasonable doubt of the intent 8 of the defendant or a co-conspirator to avoid knowledge or 9 enlightenment would permit the jury to find that this element 10 has been satisfied. Stated another way, a person's reckless 11 disregard of a particular fact may be shown from a deliberate 12 or intentional ignorance or deliberate or intentional blindness 13 to the existence of that fact.

14 With respect to advertising, as I noted, if you find 15 that Mr. Ray himself advertised a person for a commercial sex
16 act or joined a venture doing the same, you must find Mr. Ray 17 acted with knowledge that force, threats of force, or coercion, 18 or any combination of such means, would be used to cause the 19 victim to engage in a commercial sex act.

20 For any of the other actions I described in connection 21 with the first element of substantive sex trafficking—that is, 22 a defendant who recruited, enticed, harbored, transported,
23 provided, maintained, patronized, or solicited the victim—you 24 need not find that the defendant or co-conspirator acted 25 knowingly and instead may find that the person acted in

M451RAY5

1 reckless disregard of the fact that force, threats of force, or 2 coercion, or any combination of such means, would be used to 3 cause the victim to engage in a commercial sex act.

4 To help you in determining whether Mr. Ray or a 5 co-conspirator acted with knowledge, or in reckless disregard 6 of, the fact that force, threats of force, or coercion, or any 7 combination of such means, would be used to cause the victim to 8 engage in a commercial sex act, I need to instruct you on the 9 meanings of "force," and "coercion," as well as on the meaning 10 of "commercial sex act."

11 I will start with the term "commercial sex act." That 12 term means any sex act on account of which anything of value is 13 given to or received by any person. The term "sex act" should 14 be given its plain meaning, which is ordinarily understood to 15 be an act performed with another for sexual gratification.

16 The term "force" means any form of power, violence, or 17 physical pressure directed against another person.

18 The term "coercion" has three meanings. It means any 19 threat of serious harm to or physical restraint against any 20 person; or any scheme, plan, or pattern intended to cause a 21 person to believe that failure to perform an act would result 22 in serious harm to or physical restraint against any person; or 23 any abuse or threatened abuse of law or the legal process.

24 The term "serious harm" includes threats of any harm, 25 whether physical or nonphysical, including psychological,

M451RAY5

1 financial, or reputational harm, that is sufficiently serious,
2 under all the surrounding circumstances, to compel a reasonable 3 person of the same background and in the same situation as the 4 trafficked person, to perform or continue performing commercial 5 sex acts in order to avoid incurring that harm. The repeated 6 physical, verbal, and emotional abuse of a person by the 7 defendant or a co-conspirator can rise to the level of serious 8 harm.

9 Abuse or threatened abuse of law or legal process,
10 means the use or threatened use of a law or legal process, 11 whether administrative, civil, or criminal, in any manner or 12 for any purpose for which the law was not designed, in order to 13 exert pressure on another person to cause that person to take 14 some action or refrain from taking some action. Abuse or 15 threatened abuse of law or legal process includes threats to 16 send a person to jail or to deport a person that are 17 sufficient, under all the surrounding circumstances, to compel 18 or coerce a person to perform a commercial sex act that the 19 person would not have otherwise been willing to perform.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 THE COURT: If you find that any of these prohibited 2 means was used, or any combination of these means, you must 3 then determine whether such force was sufficient to cause the 4 victim to engage in a commercial sex act against the victim's 5 will. In making that determination, you may consider the 6 cumulative effect of the conduct of the defendant or a 7 coconspirator on the victim.

8 You may also consider the special vulnerabilities, if 9 any, of the victim. By this I mean that you may consider any 10 aspect of the victim's age, background, station in life, 11 physical or mental condition, experience or education, or any 12 inequalities between the victim and the defendant.

13 Simply put, you may ask whether the victim was 14 vulnerable in some way such that the use of force, threats of 15 force, or coercion, or any combination of such means, even if 16 not sufficient to compel another person to engage in a 17 commercial sex act, would have been enough to compel a 18 reasonable person in the same circumstances and with the same 19 background as the victim to engage in a commercial sex act.

20 To prove sex trafficking, the government does not need 21 to link any specific commercial sex act to any particular 22 threat made, or any particular action taken, on the part of 23 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator. If the use of force, threats of 24 force, or coercion, or any combination of such means, was 25 sufficient to give rise to a climate of fear that would compel

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 a reasonable person in the victim's situation to comply with 2 the demands of Mr. Ray or a coconspirator, in light of the 3 totality of the conduct of Mr. Ray or a coconspirator, the 4 surrounding circumstances and any vulnerabilities of the 5 individual, then you likewise may find that the second element 6 has been met.

7 The government also need not prove physical restraint 8 in order to establish the offense of sex trafficking. The 9 government can establish this element if it proves beyond a 10 reasonable doubt that the defendant or a coconspirator placed 11 the person in fear of leaving or created circumstances such 12 that the person did not reasonably believe that he or she could 13 leave.

14 Further, whether a person is paid or is able to keep 15 some of their earnings is not determinative of the question
16 whether that person has been compelled to engage in sex 17 trafficking. In other words, if a person is compelled to 18 engage in a commercial sex act, through force, threats of 19 force, or coercion, or any combination of such means, such 20 service is involuntary, even if the person is paid or 21 compensated for the work.

22 Finally, the victim does not need to have been 23 subjected to force, threats of force, or coercion, or any 24 combination of such means, for the entirety of the period in 25 which the victim engaged in commercial sex acts. If there is

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 just one instance that establishes the use of force, threats of 2 force or coercion, or any combination of such means, to cause 3 the victim to perform a commercial sex act, that is sufficient.
4 Therefore, the fact that a person may have initially acquiesced
5 or agreed to perform a commercial sex act, or voluntarily
6 engaged in commercial sex acts apart from the defendant or a 7 coconspirator, does not preclude a finding that the person was 8 later compelled to engage in a commercial sex act through the 9 use of force, threats of force, or coercion, or any combination 10 of such means.

11 For example, if a victim willingly engaged in a 12 commercial sex act, either with the defendant or otherwise, 13 then later wanted to cease engaging in such acts, but was 14 compelled to continue to perform such acts through force, 15 threats of force, or coercion, or any combination of such 16 means, then you may find that the victim's later acts were 17 compelled by force, threats of force, or coercion, or any 18 combination of such means.

19 To satisfy the third and final element of the crime of 20 sex trafficking, the government must prove beyond a reasonable 21 doubt that the sex trafficking activities were in interstate 22 commerce or affected interstate commerce in any way, however 23 minimal. The government need not prove both that the 24 activities were in interstate commerce and affected interstate 25 commerce. I previously defined the interstate commerce

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 element, and you should use that instruction here.

2 The fourth category of predicate acts that the 3 government alleges was committed or was intended to be 4 committed as part of the RICO conspiracy was obtaining or 5 providing forced labor by various unlawful means, in violation 6 of Section 1589 of Title 18 of the United States Code, and 7 aiding and abetting the same. That section provides in part:

8 Whoever knowingly provides or obtains the labor or 9 services of a person by any one of, or by any combination of, 10 the following means: (I) by means of force, threats of force, 11 physical restraint, or threats of physical restraint to that 12 person or another person; (II) by means of serious harm or 13 threats of serious harm to that person or another person; (III) 14 by means of the abuse or threatened abuse of law or legal 15 process; or (IV) by means of any scheme, plan, or pattern 16 intended to cause the person to believe that if that person did 17 not perform such labor or services, that person or another 18 person would suffer serious harm or physical restraint, shall 19 be guilty of a crime.

20 In order for the offense of forced labor to be 21 considered as a racketeering act, the government must prove 22 that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator agreed to commit or committed 23 each of the following elements of forced labor beyond a 24 reasonable doubt:

25 First, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator obtained or

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 provided the labor or services of another;

2 Second, that such person did so through one of the 3 following prohibited means: (1) through force, physical 4 restraint, or the threat of either against a person or another 5 person; (2) through serious harm or threat of serious harm to 6 the person or another person; (3) through abuse or threatened 7 abuse of the legal process; or (4) through the use of a scheme, 8 plan, pattern intended to cause the person to believe that the 9 nonperformance of such labor or services could result in 10 serious harm to or physical restraint against that person or 11 another person.

12 Third, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator, whichever 13 the case may be, acted knowingly.

14 I have already instructed you generally as to the 15 meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law, and you
16 should apply those instructions here.

17 I will now explain each of these three elements in 18 greater detail.

19 The first element of the offense that the government
20 must prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a 21 coconspirator obtained or provided the labor or services of 22 another person.

23 To obtain means to gain or acquire. You should give 24 labor and services their ordinary meanings. Labor means the 25 expenditure of physical or mental effort, especially when

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 fatiguing, difficult, or compulsory. Services is defined as 2 the performance of work commanded or paid for by another.

3 The government does not have to prove that a victim 4 performed work for the defendant or a coconspirator in the 5 economic sense, although that would satisfy this element. All 6 the government must prove is that a victim provided labor or 7 services as I have just defined them.

8 As to the second element, if you find that Mr. Ray or 9 a coconspirator obtained the labor or services of the 10 individual, then you must determine whether Mr. Ray or the 11 coconspirator did so through one of the four prohibited means; 12 that is, through (1) force, physical restraint or threats to 13 either -- to the person or to another person; (2) serious harm
14 or threats of serious harm to the person or another person; (3) 15 abuse or threatened abuse of the legal process; or (4) the use 16 of a scheme, plan or pattern intended to cause the person to 17 believe that serious harm would result if the person did not 18 perform the labor or services required of that person.

19 I will now define for you some of the terms you will 20 be considering in determining whether this second element of 21 the forced labor predicate has been satisfied.

22 Physical restraint means being confined by being tied, 23 bound, or locked up.

24 A threat is a serious statement expressing an 25 intention to inflict harm, at once or in the future, as

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 distinguished from idle or careless talk, exaggeration, or 2 something said in a joking manner. For a statement to be a 3 threat, the statement must have been made under such 4 circumstances that a reasonable person who heard or read the 5 statement would understand it as a serious expression of an 6 intent to cause harm. In addition, Mr. Ray or the 7 coconspirator must have made the statement intending it to be a 8 threat, or with knowledge that the statement would be viewed as 9 a threat.

10 The term serious harm includes both physical and 11 nonphysical types of harm, including psychological, financial, 12 or reputational harm. A threat of serious harm includes any 13 threat that is initial under all of the surrounding 14 circumstances to compel a reasonable person of the same 15 background and in the same circumstances to perform or to 16 continue performing labor or services in order to avoid 17 incurring that harm.

18 In determining whether Mr. Ray or a coconspirator made 19 a threat of serious harm that could reasonably be believed, you 20 should consider the individual's particular station in life, 21 physical or mental condition, age, education, training, 22 experience, and intelligence. A threat of serious harm must be 23 sufficient in kind or degree to completely overcome the will of 24 an ordinary person having the same general station in life as 25 that of the individual, causing a reasonable belief that there

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 was no reasonable choice except to provide labor and services
2 to Mr. Ray or the coconspirator.

3 The term abuse or threatened abuse of law or legal 4 process has the meaning I have previously instructed you on.
5 It includes threats to send a person to jail or to deport a 6 person that are sufficient, under all the surrounding 7 circumstances, to compel or coerce a person to perform labor or 8 services that the person would not have otherwise been billing 9 to perform.

10 You should give the words scheme, plan, and pattern 11 their ordinary meanings. A scheme is a plan or program of 12 action. A plan is a method for achieving an end or detailed 13 formulation of a program of actions. A pattern is a mode of 14 behavior or series of acts that are recognizably consistent.

15 If you find that the individual was threatened with 16 serious harm, the government does not have to prove physical 17 restraint in order to establish the offense of forced labor.
18 The fact that the individual might have had an opportunity to 19 escape is irrelevant if Mr. Ray or a coconspirator placed the 20 individual in such fear or circumstances that the individual 21 reasonably believed that he or she could not leave. A victim 22 who has been placed in such fear or circumstances is under no 23 affirmative duty to try to escape.

24 Finally, in considering whether the service performed 25 by someone was involuntary, I am instructing you that it is not

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 a defense to the crimes of forced labor that the person might 2 have initially agreed, voluntarily, to render the service or 3 perform the work. If a person willingly begins work, but later 4 wants to cease engaging in such acts, and then is forced to 5 remain and perform the work against their will by threats of 6 serious harm or physical restraint, or by scheme, plan, or 7 pattern intended to cause them to believe that nonperformance 8 will result in serious harm or physical restraint to them or 9 another person, then their service becomes involuntary.

10 Also, whether a person is paid a salary or wage is not 11 determinative of the question whether that person has been held 12 in forced labor. In other words, if a person is compelled to 13 labor against their will by any one of the means prohibited by 14 the forced labor statute, such service is involuntary, even if 15 she is not paid or compensated for the work.

16 The third element I have already described to you 17 requires that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator acted knowingly. I've 18 already instructed you as to the meaning of knowingly, and you 19 should apply that definition here.

20 The fifth category of predicate acts the government
21 alleges was committed or was intended to be committed as part 22 of the RICO conspiracy is forced labor trafficking, in 23 violation of Section 1590 of Title 18 of the United States
24 Code, and aiding and abetting the same.

25 The relevant portion of that statute provides:

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 "whoever knowingly recruits, harbors, transports, provides, or 2 obtains by any means, any person for labor or services in 3 violation of this statute shall be guilty of a crime.

4 In order for forced labor trafficking to be considered
5 as a racketeering act, the government must prove that Mr. Ray 6 or a coconspirator agreed to or committed each of the following 7 elements of forced labor trafficking beyond a reasonable doubt:

8 First, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator recruited, 9 harbored, transported, provided, or obtained an individual;

10 Second, that such person did so for the purpose of 11 providing or obtaining the labor or services of an individual 12 in violation of the forced labor statute, Section 1589. That 13 is, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator, whichever the case may 14 be, trafficked an individual as I have just described, with the 15 purpose of providing or obtaining her labor or services by 16 means of serious harm, or threats of serious harm, to that 17 individual or another person, by means of the abuse or 18 threatened abuse of law or legal process, or by means of any 19 scheme, plan, or pattern intended to cause an individual to 20 believe that, if the individual did not perform such labor or 21 services, the individual or another person would suffer serious 22 harm or physical restraint; and

23 Third, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator, whichever
24 the case may be, acted knowingly. I have previously instructed 25 you on the definition of knowingly, and you should apply that

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 definition to the third element here.

2 With respect to the first element, the word harbor
3 means simply to provide shelter to that person. To obtain 4 someone means to acquire, control, or possess that person, even 5 if only for a short period of time.

6 With respect to the second element, the government 7 must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or the 8 coconspirator recruited, harbored, transported, provided, or 9 obtained an individual for the purpose of providing or 10 obtaining that individual's forced labor. That is, labor or 11 services provided or obtained by one of the prohibited means I 12 described a moment ago.

13 The crime prohibited by Section 1590 is trafficking a 14 person for this unlawful purpose. To establish this element, 15 the government does not need to prove that Mr. Ray or 16 "coconspirator actually obtained or attempted to obtain the 17 individual's forced labor, only that Mr. Ray trafficked the 18 individual for the purpose of providing it or obtaining it.

19 I have already defined the terms labor, services, 20 threat, serious harm, and scheme, plan, or pattern, recruit, 21 transport, and provide, and abuse of legal process. You should 22 apply those definitions here.

23 If you find that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator trafficked 24 an individual for the unlawful purpose I have described, the 25 fact that the individual may have had an opportunity to escape

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 is irrelevant if Mr. Ray or the coconspirator placed an 2 individual in such fear or circumstances that the victim 3 reasonably believed that he or she could not leave.

4 The sixth category of predicate acts that the 5 indictment alleges was committed or was intended to be 6 committed as part of the RICO conspiracy was the use of 7 interstate facilities to promote unlawful activity and aiding 8 and abetting the same.

9 The relevant statute for this charge, which is also 10 known as the Travel Act, is Title 18, United States Code, 11 Section 1952(a)(3), which provides that "whoever travels in 12 interstate commerce or foreign commerce or uses the mail or any 13 facility in interstate or foreign commerce, with intent to 14 otherwise promote, manage, establish, carry on, or facilitate 15 the promotion, management, establishment or carrying on of any 16 unlawful activity and thereafter performs or attempts to 17 perform an act to promote, manage, establish, carry on, or 18 facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, or 19 carrying on of any unlawful activity, is guilty of a federal 20 crime."

21 To prove a violation of the Travel Act, the government
22 must establish beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following
23 elements of the offense:

24 First, that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator used or caused 25 someone else to use an interstate facility; second, that this

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 use of an interstate facility was done with the intent to 2 promote, manage, establish, or carry on an unlawful activity;
3 and

4 Third, that after this use of an interstate facility, 5 such person performed or attempted to perform an act in 6 furtherance of this same unlawful activity.

7 I have already instructed you generally as to the 8 meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law. You should 9 apply those instructions here.

10 The first element that the government must prove
11 beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator
12 used or caused someone else to use an interstate facility.

13 An interstate facility is any vehicle or instrument 14 that crosses state lines in the course of commerce. For 15 example, a freight carrier that carries items from one state to 16 another is an interstate facility. Any use of the Internet or 17 mails constitutes the use of an interstate facility, regardless 18 of whether the mailed item crossed a state line. Making a 19 telephone call from one state to another is also the use of an 20 interstate facility.

21 To meet its burden of proof on the first element, it 22 is not necessary for the government to prove that Mr. Ray 23 himself, or one or more coconspirators themselves, used an 24 interstate facility. The Travel Act also applies to a person 25 who causes another person to use an interstate facility.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 Therefore, if the government has proved beyond a reasonable 2 doubt that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator caused another person to 3 use an interstate facility, then you may find that the 4 government has proven the first element of the offense.

5 The government does not have to prove that Mr. Ray or 6 a coconspirator knew that the use of an interstate facility 7 would occur. It is sufficient that defendant's unlawful 8 activity caused the use. Further, it does not matter whether 9 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator knew he was using interstate 10 facilities or intended to use interstate facilities or agreed 11 that another would use interstate facilities. All the 12 government must prove with respect to the first element is that 13 Mr. Ray did in fact use interstate facilities or that a 14 coconspirator did.

15 The second element that the government must prove 16 beyond a reasonable doubt is that the use of an interstate 17 facility was done with the intent to promote, manage, 18 establish, or carry on an unlawful activity.

19 It is not enough for the government to prove only that 20 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator used an interstate facility. The 21 government must also prove beyond a reasonable doubt that 22 Mr. Roy or a coconspirator used or would use the interstate 23 facility for the purpose of facilitating the unlawful activity.

24 The government does not have to prove that the 25 furtherance of the unlawful activity was the sole purpose in

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 using an interstate facility. It is sufficient if the 2 government proves that one of the reasons for using an 3 interstate facility was to further the unlawful activity.
4 Thus, if you find that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator used or would 5 use interstate facilities with the intent to facilitate the 6 unlawful activity, and you also find that such person undertook 7 this same use of interstate facilities from other reasons that 8 have nothing to do with the unlawful activity, you may still 9 find that the government has met its burden on the second 10 element of the offense.

11 You may determine Mr. Ray's or a coconspirator's 12 purpose of using interstate facilities, and thus their intent, 13 from the evidence that has been placed before you, including 14 the statements of Mr. Ray or a coconspirator, and such person's 15 conduct before and after the use of the facilities.

16 As I have instructed you, the government must prove 17 that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator intended the use of interstate 18 facilities to facilitate or further the unlawful activity. The 19 government does not, however, have to prove that use of 20 interstate facilities was essential to the unlawful activity or 21 fundamental to the unlawful scheme, or that the unlawful 22 activity could not have been accomplished without the use of 23 interstate facilities.

24 So long as the government proves that Mr. Ray or a 25 coconspirator used or would use interstate facilities with the

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 necessary unlawful intent, the government may rely on any use 2 of interstate facilities by such person that made the unlawful 3 activity easier to accomplish. The government must prove that 4 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator used an interstate facility with the 5 intent to facilitate an activity that such person knew was 6 real. The government does not have to prove that Mr. Ray or a 7 coconspirator knew that the use of facilities was illegal.
8 However, the government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt 9 that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator knew that the activity intended 10 to be facilitated was illegal.

11 With respect to that charge of using an interstate 12 facility to facilitate prostitution, the government must prove 13 beyond a reasonable doubt that the activities Mr. Ray or a 14 coconspirator intended to facilitate were in fact unlawful 15 under New York law.

16 In order to prove this, the government must prove 17 beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator
18 performed or attempted to perform an act in furtherance of (I)
19 prostitution in violation of New York Penal Law Section 230;
20 (II) promoting prostitution in the fourth degree, in violation 21 of New York Penal Law, Section 230.20; (III) promoting 22 prostitution in the third degree, in violation of New York 23 Penal Law Section 230.25; or (IV) promoting prostitution in the 24 second degree, in violation of New York Penal Law Section 25 230.30.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 The element of prostitution in violation of New York
2 Penal Law Section 230 is as follows: That an individual 3 engaged or agreed or offered to engage in sexual conduct with 4 another person in return for a fee. The element of promoting 5 prostitution in the fourth degree in violation of New York
6 Penal Law Section 230.20 is as follows: That an individual 7 knowingly advances or profits from prostitution.

8 The element of promoting prostitution in the third 9 degree, in violation of New York Penal Law Section 230.25, is 10 as for that: That an individual knowingly advances or profits 11 from prostitution by managing, supervising, controlling, or 12 owning, either alone or in association with others, a house of 13 prostitution or a prostitution business or enterprise involving 14 prostitution activity by two or more prostitutes.

15 The element of promoting prostitution in the second 16 degree, in violation of New York Law Section 230.30, is as 17 follows: That an individual knowingly advances prostitution by 18 compelling a person by force or intimidation to engage in 19 prostitution or profits from such coercive conduct by another.

20 The following terms used in that definition have a
21 special meaning.

22 Prostitution means the act or practice of engaging, or 23 agreeing or offering to engage, in sexual conduct with another 24 person in return for a fee.

25 A person advances prostitution when, acting other than

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 as a person in prostitution, or as a patron thereof, he or she 2 knowingly causes or aids a person to commit or to engage in 3 prostitution, procures or solicits patrons for prostitution,
4 provides persons or premises for prostitution purposes, 5 operates or assists in the operation of a house of 6 prostitution, or prostitution enterprise or engages in any 7 other conduct designed to institute, aid, or facilitate an act 8 or enterprise of prostitution.

9 A person profits from prostitution when acting other 10 than as a person in prostitution receiving compensation for 11 personally rendering prostitution services. He or she accepts 12 or receives money or other property pursuant to an agreement or 13 understanding with any person whereby he or she participates or 14 is to participate in the proceeds of prostitution activity. A 15 person knowingly advances prostitution when that person is 16 aware that he or she is doing so.

17 The government must also prove that the unlawful 18 activity that the interstate facility was used to facilitate 19 was a business enterprise. That is, the government must prove 20 that the unlawful activity was part of a continuous course of 21 criminal conduct and not simply an isolated criminal incident.
22 If you find that the unlawful activity was an isolated incident 23 and is not part of an ongoing course of criminal conduct, you 24 must find Mr. Ray not guilty.

25 However, to prove that the unlawful activity was a

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 business enterprise, the government does not have to show that 2 the alleged illegal activity was engaged in for any particular 3 length of time. Nor must the government prove that such 4 activity was a primary pursuit or occupation that it actually 5 turned to profit. What the government must prove beyond a 6 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator engaged in 7 a continuous course of criminal conduct for the purpose of 8 profit rather than casual sporadic or isolated criminal 9 activity.

10 The third element that the government must prove 11 beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray's or a 12 coconspirator's use of an interstate facility was filed by such 13 person's performance or attempted performance of an act in 14 furtherance of the unlawful activity. This act need not itself 15 be unlawful. However, this act must come after the use of an 16 interstate facility. Any act that happened before the use of 17 an interstate facility cannot satisfy this element.

18 Members of the jury, let's take a two or three-minute 19 stretch break now, and then I'll have more instructions for 20 you.

21 Let me now instruct you with respect to the predicate 22 activity having to do with money laundering.

23 The seventh category of predicate acts that the 24 indictment alleges was committed or was intended to be 25 committed as part of the RICO conspiracy was money laundering,

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956, and 2 aiding and abetting the same.

3 Money laundering occurs when a person conducts a 4 financial transaction knowing that the transaction was 5 designed, in whole or in part, to conceal or disguise the proceeds 6 of specified unlawful activity. Here, the specified unlawful 7 activity is sex trafficking and extortion.

8 To prove money laundering, the government must 9 establish the following four elements beyond a reasonable 10 doubt:

11 First, that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator conducted or 12 attempted to conduct a financial transaction which must in some 13 way or degree have affected interstate or foreign commerce;

14 Second, that the financial transaction at issue 15 involved the proceeds of specified unlawful activity, which 16 here was sex trafficking and in extortion;

17 Third, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator, whichever
18 the case may be, knew that the financial transaction involved 19 the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity; and 20 Fourth, that such person knew that the transaction was 21 designed, in whole or in part, either to conceal or disguise 22 the nature, location, source, ownership, or control of the 23 proceeds of the unlawful activity.

24 I have already instructed you generally as to the 25 meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law, and you

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 should apply those instructions here.

2 The first element of money laundering is that Mr. Ray 3 or a coconspirator conducted or attempted a financial 4 transaction.

5 The term conducts includes the action of initiating, 6 concluding, or participating in initiating or concluding a
7 transaction.

8 The term financial transaction means: (1) a 9 transaction involving a financial institution which is engaged 10 in, or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign 11 commerce in any way or degree or (2) a transaction which in any 12 way or degree affects interstate or foreign commerce and 13 involves the movement of funds by wire or other means, or 14 involves one or more monetary instruments. I instruct you that 15 an insurance bank constitutes a financial institution.

16 A transaction involving a financial institution
17 includes a deposit, withdrawal, transfer between accounts, 18 exchange of currency, loan, extension of credit, purchase or 19 sale of any stock, bond, certificate or other monetary 20 instrument, use of a safe deposit box, or any other payment, 21 transfer, or delivery by, through, or to a financial 22 institution by whatever means.

23 The term funds includes any currency, money, or other 24 medium of exchange that can be used to pay for goods or 25 services.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 I previously instructed you on the definition of 2 interstate commerce, and you should apply that definition here.
3 Foreign commerce means commerce between the United States and a 4 foreign country. As with determining whether someone is 5 engaged in, or whether his activities affect interstate 6 commerce, when determining whether someone is engaged in, or 7 whether his activities affect foreign commerce, the involvement
8 in foreign commerce can be minimal. Any involvement at all 9 will satisfy this element.

10 You do not have to decide whether the effect on 11 interstate or foreign commerce was harmful or beneficial to a 12 particular business or to commerce in general. The government 13 satisfies its burden of proving an effect on interstate or 14 foreign commerce if it proves beyond a reasonable doubt any 15 effect, whether it was harmful or not. In addition, it is not 16 necessary for the government to show that Mr. Ray or the 17 coconspirator actually intended or anticipated an effect on 18 interstate or foreign commerce by his actions or that commerce 19 was actually affected. All that is necessary is that the 20 natural and probable consequences of the acts such person 21 agreed to take would affect interstate or foreign commerce.

22 The second element of money laundering which the 23 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that the 24 financial transactions thus involve the proceeds of specified 25 unlawful activity.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 Here, the specified unlawful activities are sex
2 trafficking and federal extortion. I instruct you, as a matter
3 of law, that the term specified unlawful activity includes sex 4 trafficking and federal extortion, as I have defined those 5 crimes for you. The term proceeds means any property, or any 6 interest in property, that someone acquires or retains as 7 profits resulting from the commission of the specified unlawful 8 activity. However, it is for you to determine whether the 9 funds were the proceeds of that unlawful activity. I 10 previously advised you about the elements of federal extortion
11 and sex trafficking. You should apply those instructions here.

12 The third element of money laundering which the 13 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray 14 or a coconspirator knew that the financial transactions at 15 issue involved the proceeds of some form, though not 16 necessarily which form, of unlawful activity. Keep in mind, it 17 is not necessary for such person to believe that the proceeds 18 came from sex trafficking or extortion. It is sufficient that 19 such person believed that the proceeds came from some unlawful 20 activity that was a felony.

21 The fourth and final element of money laundering 22 concerns the purpose of the transaction. Specifically, the 23 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or 24 a coconspirator conducted financial transactions with knowledge 25 that the transactions were designed, in whole or in part, to

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 conceal or disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, or 2 control of the proceeds of the specified unlawful activity.

3 As I have previously instructed, to act knowingly 4 means to act intentionally and voluntarily and not because of 5 mistake or accident, mere negligence or other innocent reason.
6 That is, the acts must be the product of Mr. Ray's or the 7 coconspirator's conscious objective.

8 If you find that the evidence establishes beyond a 9 reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator knew the 10 purpose of the particular transaction in issue and that the 11 transaction was either designed to conceal or disguise the true 12 origin of the property in question, then this element is 13 satisfied. However, if you find that such person knew of the 14 transaction but did not know that it was either designed to 15 conceal or disguise the true origin of the property in 16 question, but instead thought that the transaction was intended 17 to further an innocent transaction, you must find that this 18 element has not been satisfied and find Mr. Ray not guilty.

19 For the fourth element to be satisfied, Mr. Ray or the 20 coconspirator need not know which specified unlawful activity 21 he or she was agreeing to help conceal. Such person need only 22 know that a purpose of the financial transaction was concealing 23 the nature, location, source, ownership, or control of the 24 funds.

25 The eighth category of predicate acts the indictment

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 alleges was committed or was intended to be committed as part 2 of the RICO conspiracy was witness tampering, in violation of 3 Title 18, United States Code, Section 1512, and aiding and 4 abetting the same. The relevant statute is 18 U.S.C. Section 5 1512(c)(2). It provides: Whoever obstructs, influences, or 6 impedes any official proceeding, or attempts to do so, shall be 7 guilty of a crime.

8 In order for you to find that a person tampered with a 9 witness in violation of Section 1512, the government must prove 10 beyond a reasonable doubt that: First, that Mr. Ray or a 11 coconspirator obstructed, influenced, or impeded an official 12 proceeding; and second, that such person acted corruptly.

13 The first element that the government must prove 14 beyond a reasonable doubt is that the defendant or a 15 coconspirator obstructed, influenced, or impeded an official
16 proceeding.

17 An official proceeding means a proceeding before a 18 court, judge, or federal agency. The proceeding may be civil 19 or criminal. The law does not require that a criminal 20 proceeding be pending at the time of the person's actions, as 21 long as the proceeding was foreseeable, such that the person 22 knew that his actions were likely to affect the proceeding. In 23 addition, the government does not have to prove that the person 24 knew the nature of the proceeding.

25 The second element the government must prove beyond a

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 reasonable doubt is that the person acted corruptly. To act 2 corruptly means to act with an improper purpose and to engage 3 in conduct knowingly and dishonestly and with the intent to 4 obstruct, impede, or influence the due administration of 5 justice. The government does not have to prove that Mr. Ray or 6 coconspirator directly impeded or attempted to impede directly 7 an efficient proceeding. In addition, the actions need not be 8 successful in impeding or obstructing justice so long as the 9 acts had the natural and probable consequence of interfering 10 with an official proceeding that was foreseeable, even if not 11 pending.

12 I've already instructed you generally as to the 13 meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law, and you
14 should apply those instructions here.

15 The ninth category of predicate acts that the 16 indictment alleges was committed or was intended to be 17 committed as part of the RICO conspiracy is obstruction of 18 justice, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 19 1503, and aiding and abetting the same. The statute provides, 20 in relevant part: Whoever, by threats or force, endeavors to 21 influence, intimidate, or impede any grand or petit juror or 22 officer in or of any court of the United States or by threats 23 or force, influences, obstructs, or impedes, or endeavors to 24 influence, obstruct or impede the due administration of justice 25 shall be guilty of a crime.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 The due administration of justice mentioned in the 2 statute refers to the fair, impartial, uncorrupted, and 3 unimpeded investigation, prosecution, disposition, or trial of 4 any matter, civil or criminal, in the courts of the United 5 States. It includes every step in a matter or proceeding in 6 the federal courts to assure the just consideration and 7 determination of the rights of the parties, whether government 8 or individual.

9 Thus, due administration of justice includes, but is 10 not limited to, a grand jury proceeding or investigation, or a 11 federal, civil, or criminal trial.

12 The sweep of the statute extends to any corrupt 13 endeavor or effort to interfere with a grand juror, juror, or 14 federal judge, magistrate, or other officer in the discharge of 15 his or her duties.

16 The key word in the statute is endeavor. As used in 17 this statute, endeavor means any effort or any act, however 18 contrived, to obstruct, impede or interfere with the trial or 19 grand jury proceeding. It is the endeavor that is the gist of 20 the crime.

21 Success of the endeavor is not an element of the 22 crime. Any effort, whether successful or not, that is made for 23 the purpose of corrupting obstructing or impeding the 24 proceeding is condemned.

25 The word corruptly as used in the statute means simply

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 having the improper motive or purpose of obstructing justice.

2 In order for the offense of construction of justice to 3 be considered as a racketeering act, the government must prove 4 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator agreed to commit or committed each 5 element of obstruction of justice beyond a reasonable doubt.

6 First, that on or about the date set forth in the 7 indictment, there was a proceeding pending before a federal 8 court or grand jury; second, that Mr. Ray or the coconspirator, 9 whichever the case may be, knew of the proceeding; third, that 10 such person used threats or force against the individuals as 11 charged in the indictment; and, fourth, that such person's 12 conduct influenced, obstructed, or impeded or endeavored to 13 influence or obstruct or impede the due administration of 14 justice in the proceeding, as I have defined those terms.

15 I have already instructed you generally as to the 16 meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law, and you
17 should apply that term here.

18 The first element the government must prove beyond a 19 reasonable doubt is that on or about the date set forth in the 20 indictment, there was a proceeding pending before a federal 21 court or grand jury.

22 The second element the government must prove beyond a 23 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator knew that 24 such proceeding was in progress. In order to satisfy this 25 element, you need only determine that Mr. Ray or the

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 coconspirator knew, on or about the date charged, that a 2 proceeding before a federal court or grand jury was in 3 progress.

4 The third element the government must prove beyond a
5 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator used 6 threats or force against a witness.

7 It is not necessary for the government to prove that 8 Mr. Ray or a coconspirator personally injured anyone. It is 9 sufficient to satisfy this element if you find that Mr. Ray 10 knowingly used force or threats.

11 I have already instructed you on the meaning of 12 knowingly, and you should apply that definition here.

13 The fourth element the government must prove beyond a 14 reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray's or a coconspirator's conduct 15 influenced, obstructed, or impeded, or endeavored to influence, 16 or obstruct or impede the due administration of justice in the 17 proceeding.

18 As I have stated previously, the due administration of 19 justice refers to the fair, impartial, uncorrupted, and 20 unimpeded investigation, prosecution, disposition, or trial of 21 any matter in the courts of the United States. It includes 22 every step in a matter or proceeding in the federal courts to 23 assure that just consideration and determination of the rights 24 of the parties, whether government or individual.

25 That concludes the final predicate act alleged.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 Please remember that as to all the kinds of predicate 2 racketeering acts described above, the government must prove
3 beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray or a coconspirator 4 agreed to commit or committed at least two related acts of any 5 of these kinds as part of the continuing conduct of the 6 enterprise. You must unanimous as to which two or more such 7 predicate acts you find they agreed to commit.

8 The government has alleged a special sentencing factor
9 with respect to Count One. If you find Mr. Ray is not guilty 10 of Count One, then you don't need to consider this factor. If 11 you find him guilty of Count One, you must consider whether the 12 government has proven that Mr. Ray is guilty of this special 13 sentencing factor. I have already instructed you on the law 14 governing sex trafficking in connection with the third category 15 of predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in 16 Count One, and you should follow those instructions here. To 17 find Mr. Ray guilty of the special sentencing factor, you must 18 find beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray engaged in sex 19 trafficking of Claudia Drury as part of his agreement to 20 conduct and participate in the enterprise through a pattern of 21 racketeering activity.

22 I will now charge you on the remaining counts of the 23 indictment, each of which charges the defendant with either 24 conspiring to engage in a federal crime or with committing a 25 federal crime.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 With respect to the counts that charge a conspiracy, 2 you must find that the defendant conspired to commit the 3 federal crime as I have instructed you on the law of federal 4 conspiracy. With respect to the counts that charge commission
5 of a federal crime, you must find that the defendant either 6 committed the federal crime or aided and abetted the commission 7 of the federal crime. I have also instructed you generally as 8 to the meaning of aiding and abetting under federal law, and 9 you should apply those instructions here.

10 Count Two of the indictment charges the defendant with 11 conspiracy to commit extortion between 2011 and 2019, by 12 agreeing with others to extort money from individuals.

13 The object of the conspiracy charged in Count Two of 14 the indictment is extortion. I have already instructed you on 15 the law governing federal extortion in connection with the 16 first category of predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy
17 charged in Count One, and you should follow those instructions
18 here. To find Mr. Ray guilty of Count Two, you must find that 19 the government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that 20 Mr. Ray agreed with at least one other person to commit 21 extortion.

22 Count Three of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 23 extorting a person between 2011 and 2019 and aiding and 24 abetting the same. I've already instructed you on the law 25 governing federal extortion in connection with the first

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 category of the predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy
2 charged in Count One, and you should follow those instructions
3 here. To find Mr. Ray guilty of extortion, you must find 4 beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray committed or aided and 5 abetted the commission of each of the elements of federal 6 extortion as to Claudia Drury.

7 Count Four of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with sex 8 trafficking between 2011 and 2019 and aiding and abetting the 9 same.

10 I have already instructed you on the law governing sex
11 trafficking in connection with the third category of predicate
12 acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in Count One, and 13 you should follow those instructions here. To find Mr. Ray 14 guilty of the crime of sex trafficking charged in Count Four, 15 you must find beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray committed 16 or aided and abetted the commission of each of the elements of 17 sex trafficking.

18 Count Five of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 19 conspiracy to commit sex trafficking between 2011 and 2019 by 20 agreeing with others to sex-traffic a person.

21 To find Mr. Ray guilty of Count Five, you must find 22 that the government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that:
23 (1) from in or about 2011, up to and including in or about 24 2019, there was an agreement or understanding among two or more 25 persons to sex-traffic a person, and (2) that Mr. Ray

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 unlawfully, intentionally, and knowingly became a member of the 2 conspiracy, that is, he knowingly joined in the conspiracy and 3 intentionally participated in it. I've already instructed you 4 regarding finding the existence of a conspiracy, and you should 5 apply those instructions here.

6 I've also already instructed you on the law governing 7 sex trafficking, and you should follow those instructions here.

8 In determining whether Mr. Ray intentionally 9 participated in that conspiracy, with knowledge of its unlawful 10 purpose and with the intent to further its unlawful objectives, 11 you must ask whether the government has proven beyond a 12 reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray knowingly and intentionally 13 entered into the conspiracy with criminal intent; that is, with 14 the purpose to violate the law and that he agreed to take part 15 in the conspiracy, to promote and cooperate in its unlawful 16 objectives.

17 Count Six of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 18 obtaining forced labor between in or about May 2013 and in or 19 about December of 2013, and aiding and abetting the same.

20 I have already instructed you on the law governing 21 forced labor in connection with the fourth category of 22 predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in Count
23 One. You should follow those instructions here. To find 24 Mr. Ray guilty of forced labor charged in Count Six, you must 25 find beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray committed or aided

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 and abetted the commission of each of the elements of forced 2 labor.

3 Count Seven of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 4 forced labor trafficking between in or about May 2013 and in or 5 about December 2013, and aiding and abetting the same.

6 I have already instructed you on the law governing 7 forced labor trafficking in connection with the fifth category
8 of predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in 9 Count One, and you should follow those instructions here. To 10 find Mr. Ray guilty of forced labor trafficking, you must find 11 beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray committed or aided and 12 abetted the commission of each of the elements of forced labor 13 trafficking.

14 Count Eight of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 15 conspiring to obtain forced labor between in or about May 2013 16 and in or about December 2013, by agreeing with others to 17 obtain forced labor from individuals.

18 To find Mr. Ray guilty of Count Eight, you must find 19 that the government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that 20 between in or about May 2013, and in or about December 2013,
21 there was an agreement or understanding among two or more
22 persons to obtain forced labor from individuals; (2) that Ray 23 unlawfully, intentionally, and knowingly became a member of the 24 conspiracy, that is, he knowingly joined in the conspiracy and 25 intentionally participated in it.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 I've already instructed you regarding finding the 2 existence of a conspiracy, and you should apply those 3 instructions here. I have also already instructed you on the 4 law governing forced labor in connection with the fifth 5 category of predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy
6 charged in Count One, and you should apply those instructions 7 here.

8 You must also determine whether Mr. Ray intentionally 9 participated in the conspiracy with knowledge of its unlawful 10 purposes, and with the intent to further its unlawful 11 objectives. In connection with this, you must consider whether 12 the government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr.
13 Ray knowingly and intentionally entered into the conspiracy 14 with criminal intent, that is, with a purpose to violate the 15 law, and that he agreed to take part in the conspiracy to 16 promote and cooperate -- promote its unlawful objectives.

17 Count Nine of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with 18 using interstate facilities to promote unlawful activity, in 19 violation of the Travel Act, which we have already discussed.

20 Specifically, Count Nine charges that: Between in or 21 about 2014 and in or about 2019, Mr. Ray used interstate 22 facilities to carry on criminal business engaged in sex 23 trafficking, in violation of federal law and prostitution, in 24 violation of New York Penal Law, Sections 230, 230.02, 230.25, 25 230.30.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 I've already instructed you on the law governing the 2 Travel Act and sex trafficking in connection with the predicate
3 acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in Count One, and 4 you should follow those instructions here.

5 To find Mr. Ray guilty of the crime of using 6 interstate facilities to promote unlawful activity, you must 7 find that the government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt 8 that Mr. Ray committed or aided and abetted or attempted to 9 commit, as I have described above, the commission of each of 10 the elements of using interstate facilities to promote unlawful 11 activity.

12 The defendant has also been charged with using an 13 interstate facility to facilitate a criminal business engaged 14 in prostitution and promoting prostitution, in violation of New 15 York law. The government must prove to you beyond a reasonable 16 doubt that the activities Mr. Ray intended to facilitate were 17 in fact unlawful under New York's penal law, as I described 18 above.

19 Count Nine alternatively charges Mr. Ray with 20 attempting to use an interstate facility to promote an unlawful 21 activity.

22 In order to find Mr. Ray guilty of Count Nine under an 23 attempt theory, the government must prove beyond a reasonable 24 doubt that: (1) Mr. Ray intended to commit the crime charged, 25 as I have described that crime to you and (2) Mr. Ray willfully

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 took some action that was a substantial step in an effort to 2 bring about or accomplish the crime.

3 Mere intention to commit a specific crime does not 4 amount to an attempt. In order to convict Mr. Ray of an 5 attempt, you must find beyond a reasonable doubt that he 6 intended to commit the crime charged, and he took some action 7 which was a substantial step towards the commission of that 8 crime.

9 In determining whether Mr. Ray's actions amounted to a 10 substantial step toward the commission of the crime, you must 11 distinguish between mere preparation on the one hand and the 12 actual doing of the criminal deed on the other. Mere 13 preparation, without more, is not an attempt. On the other 14 hand, some preparations, when taken together, may amount to an 15 attempt. The act of a person who intends to commit a crime 16 will constitute an attempt when the acts themselves indicate an 17 intent to willfully commit the crime, and the acts are a 18 substantial step in the course of conduct planned to culminate 19 in the commission of the crime.

20 There is no requirement that the attempt be successful 21 or that Mr. Ray actually have carried out the crime he was 22 trying to commit.

23 If you find beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray 24 attempted to commit the crimes charged in Count Nine, then he 25 is guilty with respect to that count.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 Count Ten of the indictment charges Mr. Ray with money 2 laundering between in or about 2011 and in or about 2019 and 3 aiding and abetting the same.

4 Specifically, the indictment alleges Mr. Ray conducted 5 and attempted to conduct financial transactions involving the 6 proceeds of extortion and sex trafficking, knowing that the 7 transactions were designed, in whole or in part, to conceal and 8 disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, and control 9 of the proceeds of sex trafficking and extortion, and to avoid 10 a transaction reporting requirement under state and federal 11 law.

12 I have already instructed you on the law governing 13 money laundering in connection with the seventh category of 14 predicate acts of the racketeering conspiracy charged in Count
15 One, and you should follow those instructions here. To find 16 Mr. Ray guilty of money laundering, you must find that the 17 government has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray 18 committed or aided and abetted the commission of money 19 laundering.

20 Counts Eleven through Fourteen of the indictment
21 charge that Mr. Ray committed tax evasion for the calendar
22 years 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019, in violation of Section 7201
23 of Title 26 of the United States Code.

24 That section provides as follows in relevant part:
25 Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade or

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 defeat any tax imposed by this title or the payment thereof
2 shall be guilty of a crime.

3 Count Eleven charges tax evasion for the calendar year 4 2016 with respect to income received in calendar year 2016 and 5 Mr. Ray's failure to make an income tax return on or before 6 April 15, 2017.

7 Count Twelve charges the same with respect to income 8 received in calendar year 2017, and Mr. Ray's failure to make 9 an income tax return on or before April 15, 2018.

10 Count Thirteen charges the same with respect to income 11 received in calendar year 2018 and Mr. Ray's failure to make an 12 income tax return on or before April 15, 2019.

13 Count Fourteen charges the same with respect to income
14 received in calendar year 2019 and Mr. Ray's failure to make an 15 income tax return on or before July 15, 2020.

16 Each of these counts, Eleven through Fourteen, involve 17 tax crimes. It is a criminal offense for a taxpayer to evade 18 taxes, to file a false return, or to file no return under 19 certain circumstances.

20 A preliminary word about what this case is not about.
21 It has nothing to do with the actual collection of any taxes
22 that may be due to the government. This is a criminal case.
23 We are not concerned with civil liability. Rather, the issue 24 here is whether the government has proved beyond a reasonable 25 doubt that the defendant committed the tax crimes charged in

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 the indictment.

2 To sustain its burden of proof with respect to the 3 charges of tax evasion in Counts Eleven through Fourteen of the 4 time, the government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt the 5 following three elements:

6 First, that a substantial amount of income tax was due 7 and owing from the defendant for each year in question;

8 Second, that Mr. Ray committed an affirmative act 9 constituting an evasion or attempted evasion of assessment of 10 the tax, as described in the indictment; and 11 Third, that in evading or attempting to evade the 12 assessment of taxes due and owing for the year in question, 13 Mr. Ray acted knowingly and willfully.

14 As I mentioned earlier, willfully means something 15 slightly different in the tax evasion context, and I will 16 instruct you on that shortly.

17 The indictment charges four separate tax evasion
18 counts. Each count, and therefore each calendar year, 2016, 19 2017, 2018, and 2019, must be considered separately.

20 The first element of the offense that the government
21 must prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray had a 22 substantial tax due and owing for the year in question.

23 For each of these counts, Eleven through Fourteen, the 24 indictment alleges that Mr. Ray failed to file a timely federal 25 income tax return. This element is satisfied as to Counts

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 Eleven through Fourteen if you find that Mr. Ray failed to file
2 a timely federal income tax return for the year in question, 3 despite owing a substantial amount of federal income tax for 4 that year. I instruct you that the law requires the filing of 5 a timely return, and a tax return filed months or years late 6 does not constitute a timely filing.

7 Again, each count and, thus, each year must be 8 considered separately.

9 The government does not have to prove the exact amount 10 of taxes that Mr. Ray owed or evaded for these years, nor need 11 the computations be exact in an accounting sense. All it has 12 to do is prove that there is a substantial amount of tax due.

13 In addition, the government does not have to prove 14 that Mr. Ray attempted to evade or defeat payment of all of the 15 taxes owed for those years. Instead, the government need only 16 prove that the amount owed for each of the tax years was 17 substantial and that Mr. Ray attempted to evade or defeat all 18 or a substantial part of the taxes owed.

19 Whether the amount of tax due is substantial is an 20 issue for you to decide. Substantiality is not measured in 21 terms of gross or net income or by any particular percentage of 22 the tax shown to be due and payable. All of the attendant 23 circumstances must taken into consideration. A few thousand 24 dollars of evaded tax may or may not, in a given case, be 25 considered substantial, depending on the circumstances.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 To prove that a substantial tax was due, the 2 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt two things:
3 (1) that Mr. Ray received unreported or incorrectly reported 4 income and (2) that there was a substantial tax due, or 5 substantial additional tax due, as a result of the receipt of 6 that unreported or incorrectly reported income.

7 An unlawful gain, as well as a lawful one, constitutes 8 taxable income when the recipient derives readily realizable 9 economic value from it.

10 In considering your decision on whether Mr. Ray owed 11 substantial federal income taxes in the year you are 12 considering, you should consider, along with all the other 13 evidence, the testimony and exhibits introduced during the 14 trial concerning the computation of Mr. Ray's tax liabilities.

15 If you find, based on all the evidence, that the 16 government has established beyond a reasonable doubt that 17 Mr. Ray received unreported income and, as a result of that 18 income, there was a substantial amount of tax due and owing, 19 then the first element is satisfied with respect to the year 20 you are considering.

21 The second element of the tax evasion offense the 22 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray 23 committed an affirmative act constituting an evasion, or an 24 attempted evasion of the assessment of the tax, as described in 25 the indictment.

M45MRAY6

Charge

1 The phrase attempt to evade or defeat an income tax 2 involves two things: First, the formation of an intent to 3 evade or defeat a tax or the payment thereof; and, second,
4 willfully performing some act to accomplish the intent to evade 5 or defeat that tax.

6 Counts Eleven through Fourteen allege that Mr. Ray 7 knew and believed that in each of the years 2016, 2017, 2018, 8 and 2019, he had substantial taxable income upon which there 9 was a substantial amount of tax due, and he treated in some way 10 to evade a substantial portion of the tax due and owing for 11 each of those years.

12 Therefore, to prove these counts the government must 13 prove beyond a reasonable doubt that, for each year charged, 14 Mr. Ray intended to evade or defeat a substantial portion of 15 the tax due, and willfully committed some act designed to 16 misrepresent or conceal his income from the IRS.

M451RAY7

1 THE COURT: Now, the mere failure to do what the law
2 requires is not an affirmative act. Thus, failing to file
3 income tax returns and failing to pay income taxes, standing 4 alone, are not sufficient by themselves to make out the 5 affirmative act of attempting to evade or defeat taxes. The 6 defendant must do something more to be guilty of tax evasion.

7 There are many different ways in which a tax may be 8 evaded or an attempt made to evade it. The statute, 9 Section 7201 of the United States Code, provides that the 10 attempt can be "in any manner." A general rule is that any 11 conduct, the likely effect of which would be to mislead or 12 conceal for tax evasion purposes, is sufficient to establish an 13 affirmative act of attempting to evade or defeat income taxes.
14 The only requirement is that Mr. Ray must take some affirmative 15 action with that purpose in mind.

16 The defendant's conduct must be conduct that is likely 17 to misrepresent or conceal income from the IRS. Even an 18 otherwise lawful act can constitute an attempt to evade and 19 defeat if that act is performed by the defendant with the 20 intent to evade or defeat income tax.

21 Conduct that constitutes or is sufficient to establish 22 an affirmative attempt to evade a tax includes, but is not 23 limited to:

24 The making of false statements to the IRS;

25 Using third-party or entity bank accounts;

M451RAY7

1 Transferring income, money, or property in an attempt 2 to conceal ownership;

3 Causing debts to be paid through and in the name of 4 others;

5 Dealing extensively in cash;

6 Or any other conduct, the likely effect of which would 7 be to mislead or to conceal, including directing other 8 individuals to do any of the things that I've just mentioned.

9 In this case, the government alleges that the 10 defendant committed multiple affirmative acts of evasion. With 11 respect to the calendar years 2016 through 2019, the government 12 alleges that the defendant committed affirmative acts of 13 evasion by, among other things, routing his income through bank 14 accounts held by others, called nominees, and using the nominee 15 accounts to pay for personal expenses including to purchase 16 domain name registrations. The government must prove that 17 Mr. Ray committed some affirmative act during each tax year 18 charged constituting an attempt to evade. It need not prove 19 each act alleged in the indictment. The proof of one 20 affirmative act is enough. So, with regard to Counts Eleven 21 through Fourteen, the government must prove that Mr. Ray took 22 some affirmative step with respect to each of the years 2016, 23 2017, 2018, and 2019, with the intention of misrepresenting or 24 concealing income from the IRS. But you, the jury, must be 25 unanimous; in other words, for each tax year charged, you must

M451RAY7

1 all agree that Mr. Ray committed at least one affirmative act
2 that constituted the attempt to evade.

3 The third element that the government must prove 4 beyond a reasonable doubt is that Mr. Ray acted knowingly and 5 wilfully.

6 To show Mr. Ray acted knowingly, the government must 7 prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray knew that he owed 8 substantially more federal income tax for the year you are 9 considering than was declared on his income tax returns for 10 that year, or if no return was timely filed, that he knew he 11 owed a substantial amount of tax for the year. Whether or not 12 Mr. Ray had this knowledge is a question of fact to be 13 determined by you on the basis of all the evidence. An act is 14 done knowingly only if it is done purposely and deliberately 15 and not because of mistake, accident, negligence, or other 16 innocent reason.

17 The government must also prove beyond a reasonable 18 doubt that Mr. Ray acted wilfully. A willful act in this 19 context is defined as a voluntary and intentional violation of 20 a known legal duty. Thus, the government must prove beyond a 21 reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray was aware of this legal duty and 22 possessed the specific intent to defeat or evade the assessment 23 of taxes that Mr. Ray knew it was his duty to pay.

24 Mere negligence, even gross negligence, is not 25 sufficient to constitute willfulness. If Mr. Ray actually

M451RAY7

1 believed in good faith that he did not owe the taxes the 2 government claims he does, he cannot be guilty of criminal 3 intent to evade taxes. In other words, a defendant does not 4 act wilfully if he believes in good faith that his actions
5 comply with the law. Therefore, if you find that Mr. Ray 6 honestly and genuinely believed that he owed no additional 7 taxes for the years in question, even if that belief was 8 unreasonable or irrational, then you should find him not 9 guilty. However, you may consider whether Mr. Ray's belief was 10 actually reasonable in deciding whether he held that belief in 11 good faith.

12 The defendant does not have a burden to establish his 13 good faith. It is the government's burden to prove that 14 Mr. Ray did not have a good faith misunderstanding of the law.

15 There are certain inferences that the law allows you 16 to make in deciding the issue of willfulness in a tax evasion
17 case. The law does not require you to draw these inferences.
18 They are permissive, they are not mandatory, but you may draw 19 them if you wish. I instruct you that these inferences relate 20 only to the element of willfulness and not to any other element 21 that I have discussed with you.

22 During the trial, you heard evidence that the 23 defendant filed income tax returns for certain years prior to 24 2016. If you find that the defendant filed returns for those 25 years, you may infer that the defendant knew the law required

M451RAY7

1 him to make and file returns, and you may consider that as you
2 decide whether he wilfully failed to do so for the years
3 charged in the indictment.

4 The government has also offered evidence that Mr. Ray 5 failed to timely file income tax returns for four consecutive 6 years—2016 through 2019. Such a pattern of behavior, as 7 distinguished from a single occurrence, may be considered by 8 you in determining the defendant's willfulness.

9 A defendant's attitude towards the IRS, or the 10 reporting and payment of taxes generally, may be considered by 11 you in determining the defendant's willfulness.

12 If you find willfulness in one year, you may consider 13 that as evidence of willfulness in subsequent or prior years.

14 You've heard evidence that the defendant received 15 general information from a lawyer that monies received in 16 settlement of a claim for personal injury are not taxable even 17 if they were received from illegal activities. I will have 18 more to say about that issue in a moment. For now, I instruct 19 you that the fact that the defendant received that information 20 does not excuse his specific conduct if you find from all of 21 the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant
22 nonetheless acted wilfully and knowingly. There is no advice 23 of counsel defense in this case. However, with respect to 24 conduct occurring after the date he received the information, 25 you are permitted to consider evidence of what Mr. Ray was told

M451RAY7

1 by the lawyer, along with all the other evidence in the case, 2 to determine whether the defendant acted wilfully and with 3 knowledge. You may not consider this evidence with respect to 4 any other charges or for any other purpose.

5 In deciding about the defendant's state of mind, you 6 should consider all the evidence that in your common sense and 7 experience bears on this question. You will want to consider 8 all of the words, acts, and conduct of the defendant in 9 deciding what he thought and what he intended. You may also 10 consider the general educational background and expertise of 11 the defendant, but only as it relates to the defendant's 12 ability to form the required willfulness.

13 To assist you in determining whether the defendant is 14 guilty or not guilty on Counts Eleven through Fourteen, I am 15 now going to instruct you concerning certain federal income tax 16 filing obligations.

17 The law of the United States requires, and required 18 during the relevant time frame, that a citizen or other person 19 who lives or works in the United States to file a tax return, 20 on or before April 15, if his or her gross income exceeded a 21 threshold amount. In 2020, for tax returns for the 2019 tax 22 year, that deadline was extended to July 15. The Internal 23 Revenue Code includes all income and all benefits received from 24 whatever source derived, including from illegal sources, as 25 gross income unless expressly excluded by some other provision

M451RAY7

1 of the Internal Revenue Code.

2 The value of property acquired by gift or as a loan is 3 not considered gross income for tax purposes under the Internal 4 Revenue Code. Money paid by one person to or for the benefit 5 of another is a gift if it is paid out of a detached and 6 disinterested generosity, affection, respect, admiration, 7 charity, or a like impulse.

8 The Internal Revenue Code also excludes from gross 9 income the amount of any damages (other than punitive damages)
10 received (whether by suit or agreement and whether as lump sums 11 or as periodic payments) on account of personal physical 12 injuries or physical sickness and damages for emotional 13 distress attributable to a physical injury or physical 14 sickness, with certain exceptions. Emotional distress itself 15 is not considered a physical injury or physical sickness.

16 "Damages" means an amount that is received through 17 prosecution of a legal suit or action, or through a settlement
18 agreement entered into in lieu of prosecution. This exclusion 19 applies to damages that are paid pursuant to a written binding 20 agreement, court decree, or mediation award entered into or 21 issued after September 13, 1995, and received after January 23, 22 2012.

23 An agreement is a manifestation of mutual assent on 24 the part of two or more persons. A settlement agreement is for 25 damages "on account of personal physical injuries or physical

M451RAY7

1 sickness" as long as it is to compensate for damages actually 2 incurred on account of personal physical injuries or personal 3 physical sickness and is to settle a tort or tort-like claim 4 even if the legal claim is not viable or if the claim's 5 validity is doubtful because of some uncertainty about the 6 facts or the law. The claim need not have been asserted and 7 the settling party need not have released the nonsettling 8 party. It is sufficient that the settling party have agreed to 9 forbear, for any period of time, from asserting the claim.
10 However, I also instruct you that if the claim is not even 11 doubtful, or colorable, or plausible, in that there is no
12 reason for an honest belief that it has some foundation in law 13 or in equity, then a claim to settle it is not a valid 14 settlement agreement even if it is for damages actually 15 incurred. Thus, if the person has a good-faith belief that the 16 legal claim is valid—even if it is in fact not—the forbearance
17 is what is called consideration and is sufficient to support 18 the existence of an agreement; if he does not, there is no
19 consideration and no binding agreement.

20 It is the theory of the defense that the defendant
21 believed he was the victim of a conspiracy. The defendant 22 asserts that he believed that he and others had been poisoned 23 and otherwise harmed as part of this conspiracy and he 24 attempted to learn the extent of this poisoning and other harm.
25 Mr. Ray asserts that he collected recordings and other writings

M451RAY7

1 for the purpose of turning these materials over to law
2 enforcement to investigate the poisoning. It is the theory of 3 the defense that Mr. Ray believed he was permitted to accept 4 this repayment, even if the money he was paid was the proceeds 5 of prostitution, and did not need to report these funds as 6 taxable income. With respect to the tax evasion counts, I 7 instruct you that if you find that the government has not 8 proven beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant acted 9 wilfully, in violation of a known legal duty and with the 10 specific intent to defeat or evade the assessment of taxes that 11 the defendant knew it was his duty to pay, then you must find 12 the defendant not guilty of the crime of tax evasion charged in 13 Counts Eleven through Fourteen of the indictment.

14 Count Fifteen charges Mr. Ray with assault with a 15 dangerous weapon in aid of the racketeering enterprise charged 16 in Count One. Mr. Ray is charged with violating Section 1959 17 of Title 18 of the United States Code. That section reads as 18 follows:

19 "Whoever, as consideration for receipt of, or as 20 consideration for a promise or agreement to pay, anything of 21 pecuniary value from an enterprise engaged in racketeering 22 activity, or for the purpose of gaining entrance to or 23 maintaining or increasing position in an enterprise engaged in 24 racketeering activity, murders, kidnaps, maims, assaults with a 25 dangerous weapon, commits assault resulting in serious bodily

M451RAY7

1 injury upon, or threatens to commit a crime of violence against 2 any individual in violation of the laws of any state or the 3 United States, or attempts or conspires to do so."

4 To find Mr. Ray guilty of Count Fifteen, the 5 government must establish beyond a reasonable doubt each of the 6 following elements:

7 First, that the enterprise charged in Count One 8 existed and that it engaged in or its activities affected 9 interstate commerce;

10 Second, that the enterprise was engaged in 11 racketeering activity;

12 Third, that Mr. Ray had (or was seeking) a position in 13 the enterprise;

14 Fourth, that Mr. Ray committed assault with a 15 dangerous weapon; and

16 Fifth, that Mr. Ray's general purpose in committing 17 this offense was to gain entrance to the enterprise or maintain 18 or increase his position in the enterprise.

19 I have already defined for you in connection with 20 Count One the concepts of the enterprise, racketeering 21 activity, and interstate commerce, and you should apply those 22 instructions here.

23 To establish the third element, the government must 24 establish beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Ray had (or was 25 seeking) a position in the enterprise. To establish this

M451RAY7

1 element, the government must prove that Mr. Ray was actively 2 engaged in promoting the illegal activities of the enterprise.
3 It is not enough to prove that Mr. Ray was doing business with 4 the enterprise; the government must prove that he actually was 5 a member of the enterprise.

6 The fourth element the government must prove beyond a
7 reasonable doubt with respect to Count Fifteen is Mr. Ray
8 committed assault with a dangerous weapon. Let me now instruct 9 you on the elements of an assault with a dangerous weapon.

10 Assault with a dangerous weapon may be committed in 11 two ways.

12 Under New York State law, a person is guilty of 13 assault with a dangerous instrument if the government proves 14 beyond a reasonable doubt:

15 First, that Mr. Ray caused physical injury to another 16 person by means of a dangerous instrument; and 17 Second, that he did so with the intent to cause 18 serious physical injury.

19 Assault with a dangerous weapon may also be committed 20 by committing menacing. Under New York State law, a person is 21 guilty of committing menacing if the government proves beyond a
22 reasonable doubt:

23 First, that Mr. Ray placed or attempted to place
24 another person in reasonable fear of physical injury, serious 25 physical injury, or death by displaying a dangerous instrument;

M451RAY7

1 and

2 Second, that Mr. Ray did so intentionally.

3 Count Fifteen charges.

4 Under New York State law, a person intends to cause 5 physical injury to another person when his conscious objective 6 is to cause physical injury to another person. "Physical 7 injury" means impairment of a person's physical condition or 8 substantial pain.

9 A "dangerous instrument" is any instrument, article, 10 or substance that, under the circumstances in which it is used, 11 attempted to be used, or threatened to be used, is readily 12 capable of causing death or other serious physical injury, 13 although death or other serious physical injury need not, in 14 fact, be caused. Almost any object which, as used or attempted 15 to be used, may endanger life or inflict great bodily harm can 16 be a dangerous instrument.

17 The fifth element the government must prove beyond a 18 reasonable doubt with respect to Count Fifteen is that 19 Mr. Ray's general purpose in committing the assault was to gain 20 entrance to the charged enterprise, or to maintain or increase 21 his position within that enterprise.

22 Your focus on this element is on the general purpose 23 of Mr. Ray. The government does not need to prove that gaining 24 entrance to or maintaining or increasing his position in the 25 enterprise was that person's sole or principal motive so long

M451RAY7

1 as one of those purposes was a substantial motivating factor in 2 his decision to participate in the underlying crime or crimes.
3 In determining whether the defendant's purpose in committing 4 the assault was to maintain or increase his position in the 5 enterprise, you should give the words "maintain" and "increase"
6 their ordinary meanings. You should consider all of the facts
7 and circumstances in making that determination. For example, 8 this element is satisfied if you find that the person committed 9 the underlying crime because he knew it was expected of him by 10 reason of his membership in or association with the enterprise, 11 because it would maintain or enhance his position or prestige 12 in the enterprise, or, with respect to a high-ranking member of 13 the enterprise, if he committed or sanctioned the act of 14 violence to protect the enterprise's operations or to advance
15 its objectives. This element could also be satisfied if you 16 find that the person committed the underlying crime to enhance 17 his reputation or wealth within the enterprise, or to avoid 18 losing power within the enterprise. This list of examples is 19 not exhaustive.

20 That completes my description for substantive 21 offenses.

22 In addition to the elements that I have just described 23 to you, you must decide whether any act in furtherance of each 24 of the crimes charged occurred within the Southern District of 25 New York. The Southern District of New York includes, among

M451RAY7

1 other places, Manhattan and Bronxville.

2 I should note that on this issue—and this issue
3 alone—the government need not prove venue beyond a reasonable
4 doubt, but only by a mere preponderance of the evidence. A 5 preponderance of the evidence means that the government must 6 prove that it is more likely than not that any act in 7 furtherance of the conspiracy occurred in the Southern District
8 of New York. Thus, the government has satisfied its venue 9 obligations if you conclude that it is more likely than not 10 that any act in furtherance of the crime with which Mr. Ray is 11 charged occurred within this district.

12 If you find that the government has failed to prove 13 this venue requirement with respect to a particular charge, 14 then you must acquit Mr. Ray of that charge.

15 I'm now going to briefly discuss evaluating the 16 credibility of witnesses.

17 You have had the opportunity to observe the witnesses.
18 It is now your job and will be your job to decide how 19 believable or credible each witness was in his or her 20 testimony. You are the sole judges of the credibility of each 21 witness, and of the importance of his or her testimony. How do 22 you judge the credibility of witnesses? There is no magic 23 formula.

24 You should carefully scrutinize all of the testimony
25 of each witness, the circumstances under which each witness

M451RAY7

1 testified, the impression the witness made when testifying, the 2 relationship of the witness to the controversy and the parties, 3 the witness's bias or impartiality, the reasonableness of the 4 witness's statement, the strength or weakness of the witness's 5 recollection viewed in light of all of the other testimony and 6 evidence, and any other matter in evidence that may help you to 7 decide the truth and the importance of each witness's 8 testimony.

9 In other words, what you must try to do, in deciding 10 credibility, is to size a witness up in light of his or her 11 demeanor, the explanations given, and all of the other evidence 12 in the case. You should use your common sense, your good 13 judgment, and your everyday experiences in life to make up 14 credibility determinations.

15 In passing upon the credibility of a witness, you may 16 also take into account any inconsistencies or contradictions as 17 to material matters in his or her testimony.

18 If you find that any witness has wilfully testified 19 falsely as to any material fact, you have the right to reject 20 the testimony of that witness in its entirety. On the other 21 hand, even if you find that a witness has testified falsely 22 about one matter, you may reject as false that portion of his 23 or her testimony and accept as true any other portion of the 24 testimony which commends itself to your belief or which you may 25 find corroborated by other evidence in this case. A witness

M451RAY7

1 may be inaccurate, contradictory, or even untruthful in some 2 aspects, and yet may be truthful and entirely credible in other 3 aspects of his or her testimony.

4 The ultimate question for you to decide in passing 5 upon credibility is did the witness tell the truth before you.
6 It is for you to say whether his or her testimony at trial is 7 truthful in whole or in part.

8 In deciding whether to believe a witness, you should 9 specifically note any evidence of hostility or affection that 10 the witness may have towards one of the parties. Likewise, you 11 should consider evidence of any other interest or motive that 12 the witness may have in cooperating with a particular party.
13 You should also take into account any evidence of any benefit 14 that a witness may receive from the outcome of the case.

15 It is your duty to consider whether the witness has 16 permitted any such bias or interest to color his or her 17 testimony. In short, if you find that a witness is biased, you 18 should view his or her testimony with caution, weigh it with 19 care, and subject it to close and searching scrutiny.

20 Of course, the mere fact that a witness is interested 21 in the outcome of the case does not mean he or she has not told 22 you the truth. It is for you to decide from your observations 23 and applying your common sense and experience and all the other 24 considerations mentioned whether the possible interest of any 25 witness has intentionally or otherwise colored or distorted his

M451RAY7

1 or her testimony. You are not required to disbelieve an 2 interested witness; you may accept as much of his or her 3 testimony as you deem reliable, and reject as much as you deem 4 unworthy of acceptance.

5 You have heard evidence that, at some earlier time, 6 witnesses have said or done something that counsel argues is 7 inconsistent with their trial testimony.

8 Evidence of a prior inconsistent statement was placed 9 before you not because it is itself evidence of the guilt or 10 innocence of the defendant, but only for the purpose of helping 11 you decide whether to believe the trial testimony of a witness 12 who may have contradicted a prior statement. If you find that 13 the witness made an earlier statement that conflicts with the 14 witness's trial testimony, you may consider that fact in 15 deciding how much of the witness's trial testimony, if any, to 16 believe.

17 In making this determination, you may consider whether 18 the witness purposely made a false statement or whether it was 19 an innocent mistake, whether the inconsistency concerns an 20 important fact, or whether it had to do with a small detail; 21 whether the witness had an explanation for the inconsistency,
22 and whether that explanation appealed to your common sense.

23 It is exclusively your duty, based upon all the 24 evidence and your own good judgment, to determine whether the 25 prior statement was inconsistent, and if so how much, if any,

M451RAY7

1 weight to give to the inconsistent statement in determining 2 whether to believe all, or part of, the witness's testimony.

3 You have heard evidence during the trial that 4 witnesses had discussed the facts of the case and their 5 testimony with the lawyers before the witnesses appeared in 6 court. Although you may consider that fact when you are 7 evaluating a witness's credibility, I should tell you that 8 there is nothing either unusual or improper about a witness 9 meeting with lawyers before testifying, so that the witness can 10 be made aware of the subjects that he or she will be questioned 11 about, focus on those subjects, and have the opportunity to 12 review relevant exhibits before being questioned about them.
13 In fact, it would be unusual for a lawyer to call a witness 14 without such consultation. Again, the weight you give to the 15 fact or the nature of the witness's preparation for his or her 16 testimony and what inferences you draw from such preparation 17 are matters completely within your discretion.

18 You have heard the testimony of several law
19 enforcement officials. The fact that a witness may be employed 20 as a law enforcement official does not mean that his or her 21 testimony is necessarily deserving of more or less 22 consideration or greater or lesser weight than that of an 23 ordinary witness.

24 It is your decision, after reviewing all the evidence, 25 whether to accept the testimony of the law enforcement witness

M451RAY7

1 and to give to that testimony whatever weight, if any, you find 2 it deserves.

3 You have heard the testimony of a witness who 4 testified under a grant of immunity from this Court, called 5 formal immunity. The testimony of such a witness may not be 6 used against such witnesses in any criminal case except in a 7 prosecution for perjury, giving a false statement, or otherwise
8 failing to comply with the immunity order of this Court. You 9 are instructed that the government is entitled to call as a 10 witness a person who has been granted immunity by order of this 11 Court. You should examine the testimony of such a witness as 12 you would any other witness, to determine whether or not it is 13 colored in any way to further the witness's own interests. If 14 you believe the testimony to be true, you may give it any 15 weight you believe it deserves.

16 The fact that one party called more witnesses and 17 introduced more evidence than the other does not mean that you 18 should necessarily find the facts in favor of the side offering 19 the most witnesses. By the same token, you do not have to 20 accept the testimony of any witness who has not been 21 contradicted or impeached, if you find the witness not to be 22 credible. You also have to decide which witnesses to believe 23 and which facts are true. To do this, you must look at all the 24 evidence, drawing upon your own common sense and personal 25 experience. I have just discussed the criteria for evaluating

M451RAY7

1 credibility. Keep in mind that the burden of proof is always 2 on the government and the defendant is not required to call any 3 witnesses or offer any evidence, since he is presumed to be 4 innocent.

5 Now Mr. Ray did not testify in this case. Under our 6 Constitution, a defendant has no obligation to testify or to 7 present any evidence, because it is the government's burden to 8 prove Mr. Ray guilty beyond a reasonable doubt. That burden 9 remains with the government throughout the entire trial and 10 never shifts to Mr. Ray. A defendant is never required to 11 prove that he is innocent.

12 You may not speculate as to why Mr. Ray did not 13 testify. There are many reasons why a defendant may decide not 14 to testify. You may not attach any significance to the fact 15 that Mr. Ray did not testify. No adverse inference against him 16 may be drawn by you because he did not take the witness stand.
17 You may not consider this against Mr. Ray in any way in your 18 deliberations in the jury room.

19 I have just a little bit more to do.

20 Certain witnesses were offered as experts and 21 permitted to express their opinions about matters that are in 22 issue. A witness may be permitted to testify to an opinion on 23 those matters about which he or she has special knowledge, 24 skill, experience, and training. Such testimony is presented 25 to you on the theory that someone who is experienced and

M451RAY7

1 knowledgeable in the field can assist you in understanding the 2 evidence or in reaching an independent decision on the facts.

3 In weighing this opinion testimony, you may consider 4 the witness's qualifications, his or her opinions, the reasons 5 for testifying, as well as all of the other considerations that 6 ordinarily apply when you are deciding whether or not to 7 believe a witness's testimony. You may give the opinion 8 testimony whatever weight, if any, you find it deserves in 9 light of all the evidence in this case. You should not,
10 however, accept the testimony of an expert merely because I 11 allowed the witness to testify as an expert. Nor should you 12 substitute it for your own reason, judgment, and common sense.
13 The determination of the facts in this case rests solely with 14 you.

15 You have heard the names of several people during the 16 course of the trial who did not appear here to testify and one
17 or more of the attorneys may have referred to their absence. I 18 instruct you that each party had an equal opportunity, or lack 19 of opportunity, to call any of these witnesses. However, the 20 government bears the burden of proof. Mr. Ray does not bear 21 the burden of proof. Therefore, you should not draw any 22 inference or reach any conclusions as to what these persons 23 would have testified to had they been called. Their absence 24 should not affect your judgment in any way.

25 You should, however, remember my instruction that the

M451RAY7

1 law does not impose on a defendant in a criminal case the 2 burden or duty of calling any witnesses or producing any 3 evidence.

4 You also may not draw any inference, favorable or 5 unfavorable, towards the government or towards Mr. Ray, from 6 the fact that certain persons were not named as a defendant in 7 the indictment here. In addition, you are not allowed to 8 speculate as to the reasons why other people are not on trial
9 before you now. The fact that these persons are not on trial 10 here must play no part in your deliberations.

11 Your function now is to weigh the evidence in this 12 case and to determine if the government has sustained its 13 burden of proof with respect to each count of the indictment.

14 You must base your verdict solely on the evidence, and 15 these instructions as to the law, and you are obliged under 16 your oath as jurors to follow the law as I have instructed you, 17 whether you agree or disagree with the particular law in 18 question.

19 The verdict must represent the considered judgment of 20 each juror. In order to return a verdict, it is necessary that 21 each juror agree to it. Your verdict must be unanimous.

22 Let me also remind you that you took an oath to decide 23 this case impartially, fairly, without prejudice or sympathy, 24 and without fear, solely based on the evidence in the case and 25 the applicable law.

M451RAY7

1 You have been chosen to try issues of fact and reach a 2 verdict on the basis of the evidence or lack of evidence. Both 3 sides are entitled to a fair trial. You are to make a fair and 4 impartial decision so that you come to a just verdict.

5 Let me give you a few instructions about your 6 deliberations before I meet with the lawyers for a moment.

7 First of all, all of the exhibits will be given to you
8 near the start of your deliberations. That includes the audio 9 and video recordings and the computer spreadsheets that have 10 been admitted into evidence, all of which have been loaded onto 11 a flash drive, or more than one flash drive.

12 If you prefer to listen to or view any evidence here 13 in the courtroom, you can request that. If you want any of the 14 testimony read back to you, you may also request that. If you 15 want testimony read back to you, please try to be as specific 16 as you possibly can in requesting portions of the testimony, 17 because the court reporter will have to look through the 18 transcript, and the parties will have to agree on what portions 19 of the testimony may be called for in response to your request, 20 and if they disagree, I must resolve those disagreements.

21 Your requests for exhibits or testimony—in fact any 22 communications with the Court—should be made to me in writing, 23 signed by your foreperson, and given to one of the Marshals.
24 In any event, do not tell me or anyone else how the jury stands 25 on any issue until after a unanimous verdict is reached.

M451RAY7

1 If any one of you took notes during the course of the 2 trial, you should not show your notes to, or discuss your notes
3 with, any other jurors during your deliberations. Any notes
4 you have taken are to be used solely to assist you. The fact 5 that a particular juror has taken notes entitles that juror's 6 views to no greater weight than those of any other juror.
7 Finally, your notes are not to substitute for your recollection
8 of the evidence in the case. If, during your deliberations, 9 you have any doubt as to any of the testimony, you may—as I 10 just told you—request that the official trial transcript that 11 has been made of these proceedings be read back to you.

12 You will soon retire to decide the case. Your 13 function is to weigh the evidence in this case and to determine 14 the guilt or lack of guilt of the defendant with respect to 15 each count charged in the indictment. You must base your 16 verdict solely on the evidence and these instructions as to the 17 law, and you are obliged on your oath as jurors to follow the 18 law as I instruct you, whether you agree or disagree with the 19 particular law in question.

20 It is your duty as jurors to consult with one another 21 and to deliberate with a view to reaching an agreement. Each 22 of you must decide the case for himself or herself, but you 23 should do so only after a consideration of the case with your 24 fellow jurors, and you should not hesitate to change an opinion 25 when convinced that it is erroneous. Discuss and weigh your

M451RAY7

1 respective opinions dispassionately, without regard to 2 sympathy, without regard to prejudice or favor for either 3 party, and follow my instructions on the law.

4 When you are deliberating, all 12 jurors must be 5 present in the jury room. If a juror is absent, you must stop 6 deliberations.

7 Again, your verdict must be unanimous, but you are not 8 bound to surrender your honest convictions concerning the 9 effect or weight of the evidence for the mere purpose of 10 returning a verdict or solely because of the opinion of other 11 jurors. Each of you must make your own decision about the 12 proper outcome of this case based on your consideration of the 13 evidence and your discussions with your fellow jurors. No 14 juror should surrender his or her conscientious beliefs solely 15 for the purpose of returning a unanimous verdict.

16 Remember, at all times, you are not partisans. You 17 are judges—judges of the facts. Your sole interest is to seek 18 the truth from the evidence in the case.

19 If you are divided, do not report how the vote stands.
20 If you reach a verdict, do not report what it is until you are 21 asked in open court.

22 I have prepared a verdict form for you to use in 23 guiding your deliberation and recording your decision. Please 24 use that form to report your verdict.

25 The first thing you should do when you retire to

M451RAY7

1 deliberate is to take a vote to select one of you to sit as 2 your foreperson, and then send out a note indicating whom you 3 have chosen.

4 The foreperson doesn't have any more power or 5 authority than any other juror, and his or her vote or opinion 6 doesn't count for any more than any other juror's vote or 7 opinion. The foreperson is merely your spokesperson to the 8 Court. He or she will send out any notes, and when the jury 9 has reached a verdict, he or she will notify the marshal that 10 the jury has reached a verdict, and you will come into open 11 court and give the verdict.

12 After you have reached a verdict, your foreperson will 13 fill in and date the form that has been given to you. All 14 jurors must sign the form reflecting each juror's agreement 15 with the verdict. The foreperson should then advise the 16 marshal outside your door that you are ready to return to the 17 courtroom.

18 I will stress that each of you must be in agreement 19 with the verdict which is announced in court. Once your 20 verdict is announced by your foreperson in open court and 21 officially recorded, it cannot ordinarily be revoked.

22 In conclusion, ladies and gentlemen, I am sure that if 23 you listen to the views of your fellow jurors and if you apply 24 your own common sense, you will reach a fair verdict here.

25 Let me now meet with counsel.

M451RAY7

(At the sidebar)

THE COURT: Any objections from the government?

MS. KEENAN: Judge, I just noticed that at this point you said "reckless" instead of "deliberate." It's page 47. I think you might have intended to say "reckless" and maybe it's mistyped here.

THE COURT: Let me look at that. We're looking at page 47 of the charge.

MS. KEENAN: Seems like my page 47 is different from your page 47.

It's discussing element two.

THE COURT: Yes, I see it. And I said "reckless."

MS. KEENAN: "Reckless," yes.

THE COURT: So we can correct that in terms of -- well, let me see what the defense says. Do you have a position with respect to --

MS. KEENAN: I think it should be "deliberate."

THE COURT: It should be "deliberate," and I said "reckless."

MR. KELLY: And I'm not seeing what everyone is pointing out, so can we --

MS. GLASHAUSSER: I noted it as well.

MR. KELLY: Okay. Then no objection, right?

MS. GLASHAUSSER: Just correcting it in writing when it goes back? Yes, that's fine.

M451RAY7

1 MS. KEENAN: And then, your Honor, on the next page, I 2 think you said -- if the instructions are going back, it says 3 fraud.

4 THE COURT: I agree with that. I did not read fraud.

5 MR. KELLY: Correct.

6 THE COURT: There were a couple of typos that I
7 caught. So we'll send you a blackline version of what will go 8 to the jury. Mr. Kelly, anything? Your objections are 9 preserved.

10 MS. SASSOON: I have one more thing.

11 THE COURT: Sorry.

12 MS. SASSOON: This is right before the special 13 sentencing factor. In my version it's 72. So it's right 14 before we get to Count Two and right before the special 15 sentencing factor. So we didn't raise this objection before, 16 but it currently says, "You must be unanimous as to which two 17 or more such predicate acts you find they agreed to commit." I 18 think that potentially suggests that if there's a juror who 19 thinks there are more than two, they would have to be unanimous 20 about that. So we would suggest in the written version that 21 goes back to the jury it say something like, "At a minimum, you 22 must be unanimous as to two of the predicate acts you find they 23 agreed to commit."

24 THE COURT: Any objection to that?

25 MS. LENOX: I don't think it's confusing as written,

M451RAY7

1 but --

2 THE COURT: Let me think about it in terms of what 3 goes back.

4 MR. KELLY: Is that all? Does the government have any 5 more?

6 MS. SASSOON: No.

7 MR. KELLY: I would just note, I wanted to be clear as 8 to why the Court read the theory of the defense only within the 9 tax counts and then moved on to the VCAR accounts.

10 THE COURT: Because it only applies to the tax counts.

11 MR. KELLY: Obviously we object to that. I just 12 wanted to note that on the record.

13 MS. GLASHAUSSER: We I think also understood, the way 14 it was written, our version of the charge, that it was going to 15 be read right before venue.

16 MR. KELLY: Right. After VCAR, before venue.

17 MS. GLASHAUSSER: As written here, after venue.

18 THE COURT: I don't know what significance that may 19 have, if this is reviewed up above, but just so the record is 20 clear, what we passed out to the government and the defendant 21 made it clear up top where this would be read and made the 22 language clear. If you have an objection, your objection is 23 preserved.

24 MS. SASSOON: Is there any defense contention that 25 this was relevant to the VCAR, the one charge that came after?

M451RAY7

1 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Our contention is that our theory of 2 the defense was relevant to all the charges and should have 3 been read after the charges, which is where the place holder 4 was in the charge, and I guess what we would ask is that it be 5 placed there in the written version that's going back to the 6 jury.

7 THE COURT: I already ruled; and the second, I don't 8 think it is relevant to the other charges, but this was the 9 subject of the charging conference. So you've got your 10 objection. I'm not going to move its placement.

11 MS. GLASHAUSSER: I understand, but just so the record 12 is clear, the charging conference, we understood it was going 13 to be placed after the other charges. But logistically, in the 14 charge itself, the placeholder for the theory of the defense 15 was after the charges.

16 THE COURT: I will put it on the docket, but the 17 charge that I handed out said, up top, this was to be placed 18 before VCAR.

19 Okay. So what I'm going to do is I'm going to excuse 20 the alternates and tell the members of the jury they can retire 21 and then they can decide what they're going to do.

22 (In open court)

23 THE COURT: You may all be seated.

24 So, that concludes my charge. Before the jurors 25 retire into the jury room, I must excuse our alternate, who is

M451RAY7

1 Juror No. 13, with the thanks of the Court. Juror No. 13, you
2 have been very attentive and very patient. I'm sorry that 3 you're going to miss the experience of deliberating with the 4 jury, but the law provides for a jury of 12 persons in this 5 case. So before the rest of the jury retires into the jury 6 room, if you have any clothing or objects there, you are asked 7 to pick them up and to withdraw before any deliberations begin.
8 So you may, Juror No. 13, leave now.

9 Please do not discuss the case with anyone or research 10 the case over the next few days, Juror No. 13. It is 11 possible -- and I have had this occur in a trial -- that 12 unexpected developments, such as a juror's serious illness, may 13 require the substitution of a deliberating juror by an 14 alternate. And so it's vital that you not speak to anyone 15 about the case or research the case until you have been 16 notified that the jury's deliberations are over and the jury 17 has been excused. And if you would like to be advised of the 18 outcome of the trial, please make sure that Mr. Fishman has a 19 phone number at which you can be reached.

20 (Alternate excused)

21 THE COURT: And now, members of the jury, you may now 22 retire to begin your deliberations. The Marshal will be sworn 23 before you retire, by my deputy.

24 (Marshal sworn)

25 THE COURT: Members of the jury, you may now retire.

M451RAY7

1 Everybody, please stand for the jury.

2 THE DEPUTY CLERK: All rise.

3 (At 4:16 p.m., the jury retired to deliberate)

4 THE COURT: Be seated.

5 I will note for the record that during my charge, 6 there have been the fewest people in this courtroom than the 7 courtroom has seen in the last four weeks, and I take no 8 offense at that.

9 I think we've got an approved verdict form, so we'll 10 get that to the jurors. And overnight we will get you a 11 blackline of the jury charge with some of the typos that we 12 caught. I would ask the parties to let us know by email 13 whether they've got any objections to the typos that we've 14 caught or any of those changes, and we can put those objections 15 on the docket.

16 You should all make sure that you're close to the 17 courthouse tomorrow morning.

18 Is there anything else from the government that we 19 should discuss?

20 MS. SASSOON: I just want to confirm that we're 21 sticking with the 9 a.m. schedule?

22 THE COURT: Yes.

23 MS. SASSOON: And can you provide your deputy our 24 cellphone numbers in the event of juror notes?

25 THE COURT: Can you do what?

M451RAY7

1 MS. SASSOON: In the event of juror notes, would the 2 Court like to communicate with us by cell or by email?

3 THE COURT: I mean, what's the quickest way to reach 4 you all?

5 MS. SASSOON: Cellphone.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Then just make sure that 7 Mr. Fishman has your cellphones.

8 Is that the same, Ms. Lenox, for the defense?

9 MS. LENOX: Yes. I'm sorry. My voice is going.

10 THE COURT: I understand. Mine too.

11 Ms. Glashausser, is that okay for cellphones?

12 MS. GLASHAUSSER: Yes, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Just make sure that Mr. Fishman has your 14 cellphone. He's left, so just email the cellphone numbers.

15 Is there anything else, Ms. Glashausser or Mr. Kelly?
16 I've not called on you, Ms. Lenox.

17 MS. GLASHAUSSER: No, your Honor.

18 MS. SASSOON: I'm a little confused as to the 19 procedure now. Is the jury dismissed or are they selecting a 20 foreperson?

21 THE COURT: I think they're selecting a foreperson and 22 they're going to figure out when they're done deliberating for 23 the day, right? It's going to be up to them. Okay.

24 (Recess pending verdict, 4:19 p.m.)

25 (Adjourned to April 6, 2022, 9:00 a.m.)
